Questions to be answered are selected for their general interest and helpfulness.

Taxing Problem

Q. An accountant who was to do our income tax for last year has disappeared with many of the relevant papers and my husband, who always took care of these matters, died several months ago. The tax collectors have sent me notices to file, and I don't know what to do next. C.F., Inglewood.

A. Robert Lawrence, director of the Long Beach Internal Revenue Office, said you can call him or contact your nearest IRS office for help. "If you explain the situation, we can find some way to work out a tax return," he said. A spokesman for the state Franchise Tax Board suggested you do the same with them. "Come to our office, and we can help reconstruct your income and file a return," he said. The main FTB office is at 3325 Wilshire Blvd., Los Angeles, and the head IRS office is at 300 N. Los Angeles St., Los Angeles.

Milk Price

Q. My wife and I buy our milk at the commissary store on the Naval Base. Recently, we received a notice from the commissary saying that milk suppliers have been forced to raise prices of all liquid milk products to all state and federal government activities because of a new state law. The price increase amounts to 11 cents per half gallon. Who is responsible for introducing this appalling law, and why was it passed? L.H., Long Beach.

A. The law, called the Milk Pooling Act, was authored by Assemblyman Joseph A. Gonsalves, D-Norwalk. Gonsalves told ACTION LINE he feels the bill insures that farmers will receive fair prices for their milk and the end result will be lower milk prices for all consumers. "It used to be that milk distributors would cut milk prices way down in order to compete for military contracts. They in turn paid the dairy farmer what the military paid them. The distributors lost no money, because they make their profit in milk processing. Under the new law which went into effect this month, distributors must pay dairy farmers a set price for the milk. However, the law does not stop distributors from selling the milk to the military for a reduced price nor does it stop the military from selling milk at a reduced price if it wants to," he explained.

Health Fee

Q. Can you tell me what the city health license fee is used for and why it was increased this year? I tried to get an answer from the Long Beach City Health Department and was referred to the county. What goes on? Mrs. J.C., Long Beach.

A. The health license is actually a county fee, said Dr. I.D. Litwack, director of the Long Beach City Health Department. The fee is collected to cover the cost of inspecting such places as food markets, restaurants and multiple dwellings. Authority for the county to collect the fee is granted under Section 510 of the California Health and Safety Code. Long Beach, unlike most cities in the county, has its own health department which conducts the inspections and is reimbursed for expenses by Los Angeles County. The fee scale is based on a county government survey each year on how much the inspections cost. Some years, the fees go down. This year, they went up.

Lift Lines

Q. I am very average looking, 53, happily married and have worked in a factory for many years. It's not much of a background for a face-lift, but that is what I would like more than anything. How can I find a reputable plastic surgeon? E.J., Lakewood.

A. The Long Beach Medical Association, 804 Pine Ave., 432-3971, will give you the names of reputable plastic surgeons in the area. You might ask for the name of one who has been certified by the American Board of Plastic Surgery, which means the doctor has had five years of postgraduate work with at least two in plastic surgery. ACTION LINE talked with a local plastic surgeon who said a face-lift is a major surgical procedure for correcting sagging facial tissues or jowls. The tissues are raised in an upward and lateral direction. "The surgery lasts many hours, and after it, the patient must stay out of circulation about two or three weeks to allow for proper healing. A face-lift will turn back the clock, but it will not stop the aging process. The patient will just grow older with her improvement," he said. He added that the surgery would cost a minimum of $1,000 and added that that sum would be hospitalization costs. He warned that the alternative minor procedure of having a partial face-lift for the removal of tucks and wrinkles must usually be done over and over again.

Double Amputee

Q. I have a friend who recently had both her legs amputated above the knee. She is 54 and having some adjustment problems. Can you help me find a woman who is also a double amputee who might talk with her, or is there some club she could join? G.H., Long Beach.

A. With the help of the Long Beach Chapter of the Indoor Sports Club, ACTION LINE located Irene Jensen, a former Long Beach resident now living in Santa Monica. Mrs. Jensen said she would be happy to talk or write to your friend. She lost both her legs but now does her own shopping, housekeeping and cooking. ACTION LINE will send you her address. Your friend might also like to join the Fraternity of the Wooden Leg, a penpal organization for amputees. For information, write the organization's founder, Augusta Weaver, 600 S. ABOARD USS HORNET — The crew of Apollo 11 cruised toward their first touch of U.S. soil Friday while scientists at Houston began examining the treasure they brought back from the moon.

The Hornet churned northeastward toward an 11 a.m. PST arrival today in Hawaii after the physician who shares the space-men's isolation in a silver quarantine van said an ear ailment which had bothered Neil A. Armstrong had cleared up.

THE ASTRONAUTS are "in great shape," said Dr. William Carpenter. "I can't find a single thing different from their pre-flight condition."

Speaking to newsmen at a briefing conducted through a glass window of the van, Dr. Carpenter said Armstrong, Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. and Michael Collins each had eight to nine hours' sleep their first night on the carrier and awakened "very relaxed."

During the afternoon they exercised on a bicycle machine.

The doctor said Armstrong's ear ailment, which was thought caused by the accumulation of fluid following the stress of re-entry, had cleared up over night.

None of the astronauts appeared at the van's window during the doctor's briefing.

WHILE the Hornet cruised through tropical waters, space scientists in Houston began examining rocks from the moon.

A white sealed box of rocks and core samples from the moon arrived at the Lunar Receiving Laboratory at the Manned Spacecraft Center in Houston at midday Friday and scientists began the long, meticulous examination that they hope will answer centuries-old questions about Earth and moon. This box and its contents weighed 33.35 pounds.

A second box of rocks, containing a larger amount of moon material, arrived at the moon laboratory early in the evening.

Both of the boxes are headed for a quarantine as strict as that for the Apollo 11 astronauts.

THE BOXES are going behind what is, in effect, a double biological barrier. They will be opened in vacuum cabinets which them-

A 2-year-old Anaheim boy was fatally injured Friday when his grandmother backed over him with her auto in the driveway of his home, according to police.

The victim, Raymond Eric Harris, son of Mr. and Mrs. R.L. Harris of 3110 W. Monroe Ave., died at 7:55 p.m. at West Anaheim Community Hospital two hours after the accident occurred.

The grandmother, Irma Mae Winns, 63, of 5535 Montair Ave., Lakewood, told traffic investigators that she was not aware of the boy's presence until she "felt a bump" as she backed out into the street.

MANILA, the Philippines — President Nixon said Friday that he might order a reduction of military operations in South Vietnam if that would help the negotiations to end the war.

Nixon implied that his military commanders preferred to continue to apply the program of "maximum military pressure" on the enemy to search out and destroy his concentrations of men and supplies. But the President said that he had to consider the situation in a wider diplomatic context.

Discussing the war with reporters on the island of Guam before flying here on his tour through south Asia, the President guardedly acknowledged that he was now reviewing battlefield tactics in Vietnam. He left the impression that he was weighing a change of tactics either to draw North Vietnam into more active negotiations or to reciprocate the enemy's withdrawal from major engagements over the past month.

HIS MILITARY commanders are more expert tacticians than he is, Nixon said, and he naturally defers to their judgment on the conduct of a war.

But now that his administration is engaged in negotiations, the President added, military tactics have become a part of the bargaining process. He and his aides are therefore re-evaluating military objectives and tactics, he said, mindful of the fact that diplomatic positions are developing on a parallel track.

Nixon said he would announce the changes if any are made.

Nixon stood in the same auditorium on Nimitz Hall in Guam where President Nguyen Van Thieu and Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky drew new promises of support from President Lyndon B. Johnson two years ago. But the new President's emphasis was on turning a new leaf in Southeast Asia, learning from past mistakes and ending the war before too long, although no one could say how long.

He spoke for the record but asked that his words not be quoted.

Senator

By ROBERT D. McFADDEN
N.Y. Times Service

NEW YORK — Tens of thousands of Massachusetts residents rushed to their telephones Friday night to express what appeared to be heavy support for Sen. Edward M. Kennedy in his appeal for a vote of confidence.

The deluge of calls began after the senator announced he was contemplating resigning from the Senate and invited his constituents to assist him in making the decision.

CHECKS WITH the state's major newspapers and radio and television stations, which were swamped with calls and telegrams, showed that most — and in some cases an overwhelming majority — were in favor of Kennedy's remaining in office.

Many callers, however, said they were unconvinced by the senator's nationally televised account of the car accident on Chappaquiddick Island last Friday night in which a 28-year-old Washington secretary, Mary Jo Kopechne, was killed.

In his statement Friday, the 37-year-old senator, who comes up for re-election next year, said, "I would understand full well why some might think it right for me to resign. For me this will be a difficult decision to make."

The senator added: "And so I ask you tonight, people of Massachusetts; to think this through with me. In facing this decision, I seek your advice and opinion. In prayers..."

THE TELEVIEWED statement, made just 10 hours after the senator had pleaded guilty to a charge of leaving the scene of the fatal accident, drew immediate and heavy response across the state.

Thousands of calls jammed the switchboard of the Boston newspapers — The Globe, The Record American, and The Herald Traveler — and the state's major radio and television stations.

The newspapers, which generally tend to be friendly toward the Kennedy family, reported that the

'No Intoxication, Immoral Conduct'

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (AP)—Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, last of the politically fabled brothers, said Friday night he is considering resigning from the Senate, and asked the advice of the people of Massachusetts in making his decision.

In the bleak aftermath of a fatal automobile accident, Kennedy told of a night of confusion and panic and grief — a night when he said he wondered "whether some awful curse did actually hang over all the Kennedys."

He denied that he was driving under the influence of alcohol when his automobile plunged from a narrow, Chappaquiddick Island bridge on July 18, killing Mary Jo Kopechne, a secretary.

Nor, said Kennedy, was there any truth to the rumor of immoral conduct involving him and the girl, once a secretary to his late brother, Robert F. Kennedy.

While Kennedy's anguished account answered some questions, it raised some more.

The senator, 37, pleaded guilty earlier in the day to leaving the scene of the accident in which Miss Kopechne drowned.

The accident was not reported to police for more than nine hours.

KENNEDY WAS GIVEN a suspended sentence of two months in jail, and placed on probation for one year.

In his televised and broadcast report, Kennedy said he had told two other men about the accident shortly after it happened. He said his cousin, Joseph Gargan, and Paul Markham, an attorney, joined him in diving into a tidal pond in a futile effort to find Miss Kopechne.

Kennedy said the accident, "the innuendo, the whispers," and his plea of guilty, "raise the question in my mind of whether my standing among the people of my state has been so impaired that I should resign my seat in the United States Senate."

He said if the people of Massachusetts at any time lack confidence in the character or ability of their senator, he should not continue in office.

"... I would understand full well why some might think it right for me to resign," Kennedy said.

Then, the crucial passage of his speech:

"And so I ask you tonight, the people of Massachusetts..."

MRS. KOPECHNE BACKS TED

BERKELEY HEIGHTS, N.J. (AP) — The mother of Mary Jo Kopechne, the pretty secretary killed in an auto crash in which Sen. Edward M. Kennedy was driving, said Friday she hopes Kennedy does not resign from the Senate. "I am satisfied with the senator's statement — and do hope he decides to stay in the Senate," Mrs. Joseph Kopechne said in a halting voice.

Earlier Mrs. Kopechne said she would ask for an autopsy if that was the only way to stop the "snide remarks" and "vicious mail" about her daughter.

settle, to think this through with me in facing this decision. I seek your advice and opinion in making it. I seek your prayers. For this is a decision that I will have finally to make on my own."

Kennedy's appeal for an expression of public opinion seemed at once to be drawing a vote of confidence.

A QUICK SAMPLING of newspapers and broadcast stations in Massachusetts indicated that a majority of the people who spoke immediately want Kennedy to remain in office. Reaction was said to be flooding in, with strong opinions on both sides.

Their judgment, and Kennedy's, will resound far beyond the borders of the state he has represented for seven years in the Senate.

For Kennedy was widely regarded as the likely Democratic presidential nominee in 1972. Now his political future holds only a huge question mark.

Kennedy's speech and tactic recalled those of President Nixon on Sept. 23, 1952, after the disclosure that a group of businessmen had raised funds to help finance his political travels as a senator. Nixon, then the Republican nominee for vice president, responded with his "Checkers" speech, asking the public to register its judgment as to whether he should remain on the GOP ticket. He did.

"Checkers" was the Nixon family dog—like the political fund, Nixon said, a gift he did not feel he should give up.

Kennedy began with a denial of impropriety in his relationship with Miss Kopechne. He told again, as in his initial account of the accident to police, of leaving a party on Chappaquiddick Island. Miss Kopechne was one of a group of former campaign secretaries at the party.

U.S. Troops Knock Out Red Machine Gun Site

Combined News Services

SAIGON — American gunners, firing artillery into the northern half of the DMZ for the first time since May 8, Friday knocked out a North Vietnamese machine gun and set off a huge secondary explosion. Around Saigon U.S. troops reported killing or finding the bodies of 54 Communist soldiers. American casualties were one wounded in the five actions centered in provinces around the capital. The U.S. command said the army artillery barrage pounded North Vietnamese positions 200 yards north of the Ben Hai River after an American observation plane was fired at. They said the shells knocked out the machine gun position which was shooting at the plane and caused a fiery explosion, indicating that an ammunition dump had been hit.

OAS to Discuss El Salvador, Honduras

TEGUCIGALPA — Honduras served notice Friday it will discuss nothing but the withdrawal of El Salvador's forces from Honduran soil at the meeting of hemisphere foreign ministers in Washington. The meeting, called by the Organization of American States, is scheduled for today. El Salvador's forces have taken some Honduran territory as the result of a conflict earlier this month. The OAS meeting is to discuss possible sanctions against El Salvador because it ignored an OAS order that it withdraw the troops.

Laos Accuses Reds of Slaughter

VIENTIANE — The Laotian government accused North Vietnam Friday of slaughtering more than 200 unarmed civilians fleeing the battle of Muong Soui last month. The action of North Vietnamese troops was "a war crime in flagrant disregard of international law and the recognized conventions of warfare," the government said in a note of protest to the Soviet Union and Great Britain. The note to the two signatories of the 1962 Geneva convention charged that two North Vietnamese battalions shot down civilians as they fled from the June 21 attack on the Laotian government outpost at Muong Soui.

Israeli Jets Blast Egyptian Artillery

ANMAN — Israeli warplanes blasted artillery positions Friday in Egypt and Jordan. Israel said all planes returned safely but Egypt claimed its anti-aircraft guns downed three jets. The air strike against Egypt — the fourth in six days — came after Egyptian artillery bombarded Israeli ground positions for three hours on the east bank of the Suez Canal and in the Sinai Desert.

Quake Causes Panic in Macao

HONG KONG, Saturday — A medium intensity earthquake shook Hong Kong and Macao for more than a minute this morning, creating panic in Macao and cracking plaster and knocking pictures off walls in parts of Hong Kong. The Royal Observatory in Hong Kong said the quake's center was probably somewhere in Communist China. There were no reports of major damage or casualties in Hong Kong or in Macao, but hundreds of people fled screaming into the streets of Macao, and telephone switchboards were jammed with calls from frightened residents in Hong Kong.

643 Catholic Priests in Brazil 'Quit'

SAO PAULO — Six hundred and forty-three Roman Catholic priests in Brazil have abandoned the priesthood since 1961, the 10th General Assembly of the National Conference of Brazilian Bishops was told Friday. The number was represented a 378 per cent increase in the past eight years in the number of priests who have abandoned their vows, the report to the assembly said.

Okinawans Protest Nerve Gas Storage

NABA — A group of Okinawan students stormed into the U.S. administration building grounds Friday and pulled down an American flag in a protest against nerve gas storage on the island. Police were caught off guard when the 74 students gathered in front of the building from a protest rally staged on the campus of the Ryukyu University. U.S. officials called riot police and the protesters were taken to police headquarters where they were detained by police on suspicion of trespassing.

Armed Forces to Feel Effect of Spending Cut

WASHINGTON — The new White House-ordered slash in defense spending may speed reduction in the size of U.S. military forces, Pentagon sources indicated Friday. They also suggested a continued slowdown in Vietnam fighting could help the Nixon administration cut spending for ammunition, B-52 bomber missions and other war-related purposes.

President Nixon has directed federal agencies to come up with further spending reductions totaling $3.5 billion, and Budget Bureau officials forecast the Pentagon will absorb more than half the amount. New U.S. withdrawals from Vietnam probably will be translated into total force levels well below the 3.45 million men projected in the budget now before Congress. The first troop pullouts from Vietnam, now under way, will result in a 15,000-man drop in over-all Army strength and save about $150 million a year.

Surtax Defeat Possible, Says Mansfield

WASHINGTON — Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield for the first time raised the possibility Friday of outright defeat of President Nixon's efforts to extend the 10-per-cent income-tax surcharge. Previously, Mansfield had insisted only that the surtax be accompanied by tax reform. But now, he said in a Senate speech, "enthusiasm for year's extension of the surtax in any circumstances is repeatedly diminishing" because it has not curbed inflation. Failure of the Senate to pass the surtax would result in a 10-per-cent tax cut for every taxpayer plus tax refunds next spring.

Opponents of ABM Seek Vote Delay

WASHINGTON — Opponents of the Safeguard antiballistic missile system sought Friday to delay voting so they can present secret data they indicate show the ABM's radars could be knocked out by radiation from a nuclear attack. Sens. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., and J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., joined in urging no votes until after next week. Their move sparked some sharp exchanges between the Arkansas Democrat and Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., the chairman respectively of the Foreign Relations and Armed Services Committees. (Related Story, Page A-4.)

Pope Told of Birth Control Stepup in U.S.

WASHINGTON — The Nixon administration gave Pope Paul VI advance notice of its decision to step up sharply the nation's birth control programs, according to Sen. Hugh Scott, assistant Senate Republican leader. "I can assure you they told the Pope before they did it," Scott told a meeting of summer congressional interns. "They didn't get the Pope's approval," the Pennsylvania senator added, but just informed him a plan was forthcoming to make more birth control services available to more women.

Ghetto Residents Pay More for Food

WASHINGTON — The Federal Trade Commission reported Friday there is further evidence that inner-city ghetto residents pay more for food and get poorer service than suburban shoppers. But commission staff investigators said they did not find, in studies of pricing policies of grocery stores in Washington, D.C., and San Francisco, that food chains deliberately set out to exploit low-income customers. "This study confirms previous government findings that the distribution system performs less satisfactorily in low income areas of our inner cities than in suburban areas," the report said. "Many food stores serving low income, inner city areas, are small, less efficient, and have higher prices."

Cemetery Refuses Plot to Widow of Negro

BIRMINGHAM — The wife of an Alabama Negro soldier killed in Vietnam filed suit in U.S. District Court Friday seeking to force an all-white cemetery to sell her a burial plot for her husband. Mrs. Margaret Faye Terry said her husband, Army PFC. Bill Henry Terry Jr., who was killed July 3, 1969, while on a search and destroy mission in Vietnam, had wished to be buried in Elmwood Cemetery in Birmingham. She said the cemetery refused to sell her a plot.

Camel Driver 'Forgotten Man'

Combined News Services

Bashir Ahmed, the Karachi camel driver who visited the U.S. eight years ago as then Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson's personal guest, complained Friday that America has quit supporting him.

When Ahmed was in the U.S. the government gave him a pickup truck and shipped it back to Pakistan for his use. Since the camel driver did not know how to drive the truck, the American Embassy rented it from him for $176 a month.

Ahmed said Friday that the embassy returned the truck five months ago and stopped paying the rent. He said a Pakistani employee at the embassy told him that "Johnson is finished and so are you."

The camel driver said he now barely makes a living.

He complained that he has been forgotten by the Americans who had promised during his visit to remain his lifelong friends.

Ahmed said he had written several letters to Johnson but has received no reply.

Asked whether he planned to see President Nixon when he visits Pakistan next week, Ahmed replied, "What for?"

"It is easier for the Americans to reach the moon than for a forgotten camel driver to get to Lahore these days," Ahmed said.

SKIPPERETTE

Sharon Sites Adams, a 39-year-old housewife, sailed into San Diego Harbor to a horn-tooting, fireboat-spraying welcome Friday after crossing the Pacific Ocean in a 31-foot boat.

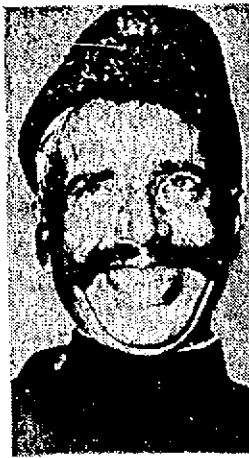

Several hundred spectators looked on as the red-haired skipperette, first woman ever to make the crossing alone, had an emotional reunion with her sailing instructor-husband and friends.

DR. LAND QUILTS

Dr. Francis L. Land resigned as chief of medical care at Temple University Hospital in Philadelphia where Mrs. Rachel Ziko, 68, is recovering from major surgery. The relatives said she is considered Queen of the Serbian gypsy tribe in the U.S.

RODGERS SICK

Richard Rodgers the composer whose four decades of hit Broadway shows include "South Pacific," "Oklahoma" and "The Sound of Music," was described Friday as "very sick" at Lenox Hill Hospital in New York City. A hospital spokesman said Rodgers suffered a slight heart attack last weekend while at the hospital for a checkup.

FRIMLS SPLIT

Rudolf Friml Jr., son of the world famous composer, was divorced Friday ending a 35-year marriage. Mrs. Ruth Helen Friml, 54, told Los Angeles Superior Court commissioner that her husband periodically left home. Friml, 59, a music representative at Universal Studios, testified his wife used vile language. The Frimls were married in Hempstead, N.Y., in 1934 and have three grown daughters.

SURGEON FIRST

A Venezuelan reporter asked Dr. Christian N. Barnard, the visiting South African heart transplant pioneer, Friday if he considered himself a playboy. Barnard replied: "I think I am a good surgeon. One cannot be a good surgeon and at the same time a good playboy."

WEDDING BELLS

Bob Edmondson, trombonist with Herb Alpert's Tijuana Brass, will marry secretary Lisa Echols today. The wedding will be at the Brentwood home of the bride's parents. Miss Echols is the secretary of television producer Jack Haley Jr.

ACTOR ACCUSED

Arleue Demareo Bras-selle, wife of actor Keefe Bras-selle, has brought a $187,165 suit against her husband, charging he took valuable property belonging to her, principally jewelry, and has refused to return it. The suit was disclosed Friday in a Manhattan court when lawyers for the actor asked the court to set aside Mrs. Bras-selle's request for an oral examination of the actor because he is on a national tour.

KKK TRIAL

The murder trial of Samuel H. Bowers, former Ku Klux Klan Imperial wizard accused of ordering the death of a Negro leader, ended in a mistrial Friday night after the jury became hopelessly deadlocked — just as three previous juries had done in earlier attempts to convict Bowers. The jury, made up of eight whites and four Negroes, deliberated for nearly five hours before advising Circuit Judge Stanton Hall it could not reach a verdict. Hall immediately declared a mistrial and set bond hearing for Bowers today. Bowers was tried in connection with the 1966 "nightrider" firebomb slaying of Vernon Dahmer, who was leading a campaign to register Negro voters in Hattiesburg, Miss.

Hosmer Urges Extended Navy A-Power Use

By BUCK LANIER
Military Editor

"It is high time to tear away the smothering blanket of cost effective hokuspokus and take advantage of our brilliant opportunities for further extension of naval nuclear power," Rep. Craig Hosmer told a Long Beach Navy Council meeting Friday night.

"So far our nuclear Navy has done more to convince the Soviet Union than any number of conferences, treaties, agreements and ambassadors," the Republican legislator said.

"Time and again, the skippers of these ships have given Congress eloquent testimony on their effectiveness and potentiality."

THE CONGRESSMAN, ranking minority member of the House-Senate Joint Committee on Atomic Energy and captain in the Navy Reserve, spoke to an overflow crowd at a Long Beach Naval Station function honoring the USS Long Beach, and the frigates USS Truxtun and Bainbridge.

"We are on the threshold of new advances in the nuclear propulsion Navy that are almost hard to believe," Hosmer said.

"This includes cores being produced for our surface and undersea fleet that will last 13 years without refueling; advanced and quieter propulsion plants for both submarines and surface ships; and smaller plants for power escorts and auxiliaries so that the petroleum umbilical cord can be severed for the entire fleet."

"IT IS GOOD that this development is underway because today we are just barely ahead of Soviet Union in submarine development."

"Last year alone, they put to sea a new class of ballistic missile nuclear-powered submarine as well as several new types of nuclear attack boats."

"Furthermore, we can expect by 1974 the Soviets will have added about 70 nuclear-powered submarines to their fleet while we will have only added 26," Hosmer said.

Hosmer, on the joint AEC for 12 years, said his committees urges a strong nuclear warship construction program. Right now, he said, a minimum authorization of funds should go for:

- Three high speed attack submarines plus advance funding for five more.
- Completion of a second Nimitz class aircraft carrier, advanced funding for a third carrier of this class and money for spare propulsion plant proponents for the entire class.
- Two more nuclear frigates and advanced funding for three more.

The congressman pointed out it is the constitutional responsibility of Congress — not the executive — to provide and maintain a Navy.

He said he was acutely aware of this responsibility and did not intend to stand by and see the U. S. lose superiority on the seas.

Turning to the Soviet's ballistic missile program, he said they have completed seven Polaris type boats and have the capability of turning out one a month.

"We want to give our Naval commanders and our men the best fighting ships that can be produced — nuclear surface warships free to roam the world's oceans — and nuclear submarines superior to any others in the world."

THE JOINT AEC has recommended authorization for $125 million for development of improved nuclear propulsion plants for surface ships and submarines during 1970, which is $4 million more than the President requested.

"These recommendations

Arrested were Roger Lewis, 22, Gilbert Armstrong, 19, Carol Smith, 26; DeForest Ford, 20; Charles Yancy, 23, and Brenda Lewis, 21. Two youths, aged 16 and 17, were turned over to juvenile authorities.

A spokesman at Black Panther Party headquarters confirmed that all those arrested were members of the militant group.

The two men in the car were questioned and released, officers said.

8 Panthers Held After Attempt to Ambush Police

Eight members of the Black Panther Party including a woman have been arrested on suspicion of conspiring to murder police officers.

Los Angeles police said three members of the group were sighted hiding nearby and pointing a shotgun and handguns at two officers who had stopped a car to question two men concerning a burglary.

Two other officers called to the scene saw the trio in hiding.

Sgt. Eugene Stephens said the trio fled when he pulled his revolver and no shots were fired.

Officers immediately sealed off the area and made the arrests at the South Central Los Angeles home of Charles E. Yancy, 23, after receiving an anonymous telephone tip.

Officers said they found a cache of weapons and explosives in the house, including a pile of pipe, several feet of fuse cord and a quantity of ammunition apparently intended for construction of homemade bombs.

A 20-gauge shotgun was found in the house.

$1 Million LSD in Santa Rosa, Biggest Haul

SANTA ROSA, N.M. — The largest cache of LSD ever found in California was confiscated by law enforcement officers in a raid on a rural home near here Friday, narcotics officials reported.

Thirty-five gallons of the hallucinogen drug and a sophisticated LSD manufacturing plant were discovered, according to Jerry Van Raam, field supervisor for the California Narcotics Bureau.

Van Raam, who led the raid, said the LSD might be worth more than $1 million on the illicit drug market.

He said it has not been determined how many "trips" were in the LSD, because its concentration had not been established.

Health License Deadline Set

Thursday is the deadline for renewing Los Angeles County health licenses without payment of a 10 per cent delinquent penalty.

Harold J. Ostly, county tax and license collector, said licenses are required by operators of boarding and apartment houses of five or more units, food-handling, processing or preparation businesses, and other concerns requiring health inspection.

Court to Hear Sanity Opinions in Killing Case

Two court-appointed psychiatrists Aug. 18 will give a Santa Ana court their de Robert Willard Liberty, opinions on the sanity of who in 1968 told police there was a dead woman in his apartment.

Officers who went to the Westminster flat found the body of 31-year-old Mrs. Marcella Landis stretched out on a sofa, with candles burning at her head and feet and Liberty strumming a guitar.

Liberty, then 19, was tried for murder but found innocent by reason of insanity.

He was sent to Metropolitan State Hospital at Norwalk where he walked away before he could be sent back to court for further psychiatric examination.

Santa Ana Superior Court Judge William C. Speirs, in whose court Liberty had been tried after the woman's death, said hospital reports now in hand on Liberty's mental condition were conflicting.

The two psychiatrists will file their reports with Judge Speirs at an Aug. 18 hearing.

Parents Look for Runaway Harbor Girl

The mother of a 15-year-old Harbor City girl runaway appealed to the public for help late Friday in finding her daughter, who needs special medication to survive the effects of brain tumor surgery.

Mrs. Rosemary Cantos, of 1348 1/2 W. Anaheim St., said Debby Cantos left home Monday afternoon.

The girl, described as an "A" student at Torrance High School, underwent an operation for removal of a malignant brain tumor a year-and-a-half-ago, and must be examined by physicians every three months.

Debby must take phenobarbital and dilantin capsules twice daily to properly maintain her balance, and was to be examined by her doctors next Tuesday.

The girl, dressed in blue-checked Bermuda shorts and a sleeveless, brown sweater, left home without taking any of the vital medication with her, Mrs. Cantos said.

A nurse and doctor summoned by the girl's roommate, called for assistance from security guards after the intruder struck the nurse and fled from the room.

Cats, both large and small, may hate water, but at least one of their cousins likes unfinished showers.

Sheriff's deputies bore this out Friday in announcing their capture of Ossie the Ocelot, who was found living in an under-construction shower at a La Mirada apartment development.

Whether Ossie had intended to turn on the tap was unknown. He was rather close-mouthed after being deposited at the Downey animal shelter.

The Ocelot was discovered by an unidentified construction worker, who told deputies: "Well, you see, I was walking by the shower and saw this mean cat sitting there. So I decided to call you." Deputies responded to the call and found Ossie curled up, though snarling, in the shower at Santa Gertrude Avenue and Imperial Highway.

A nurse and doctor summoned by the girl's roommate, called for assistance from security guards after the intruder struck the nurse and fled from the room.

Deputies said a doctor and a nurse next found Callendar in a room on the fifth floor of the hospital, reportedly fondling the girl patient.

Hosmer Urges Extended Navy A-Power Use

Military Editor

"It is high time to tear away the smothering blanket of cost effective hokuspokus and take advantage of our brilliant opportunities for further extension of naval nuclear power," Rep. Craig Hosmer told a Long Beach Navy Council meeting Friday night.

"So far our nuclear Navy has done more to convince the Soviet Union than any number of conferences, treaties, agreements and ambassadors," the Republican legislator said.

"Time and again, the skippers of these ships have given Congress eloquent testimony on their effectiveness and potentiality."

THE CONGRESSMAN, ranking minority member of the House-Senate Joint Committee on Atomic Energy and captain in the Navy Reserve, spoke to an overflow crowd at a Long Beach Naval Station function honoring the USS Long Beach, and the frigates USS Truxtun and Bainbridge.

"We are on the threshhold of new advances in the nuclear propulsion Navy that are almost hard to believe," Hosmer said.

"This includes cores being produced for our surface and undersea fleet that will last 13 years without refueling; advanced and quieter propulsion plants for both submarines and surface ships; and smaller plants for power escorts and auxiliaries so that the petroleum umbilical cord can sever for the entire fleet.

"IT IS GOOD that this development is underway because today we are just barely ahead of Soviet Union in submarine development.

"Last year alone, they put to sea a new class of ballistic missile nuclear-powered submarine as well as several new types of nuclear attack boats.

"Furthermore, we can expect by 1974 the Soviets will have added about 70 nuclear-powered submarines to their fleet while we will have only added 26," Hosmer said.

Hosmer, on the joint AEC for 12 years, said his committee urges a strong nuclear warship construction program. Right now, he said, a minimum authorization of funds should go for:

— Three high speed attack submarines plus advance funding for five more.

— Completion of a second Nimitz class aircraft carrier, advanced funding for a third carrier of this class and money for spare propulsion plant proponents for the entire class.

— Two more nuclear frigates and advanced funding for three more.

The congressman pointed out it is the constitutional responsibility of Congress — not the executive — to provide and maintain a Navy.

He said he was acutely aware of this responsibility and did not intend to stand by and see the U. S. lose superiority on the seas.

Turning to the Soviet's ballistic missile program, he said they have completed seven Polaris type boats and have the capability of turning out one a month.

"We want to give our Naval commanders and our men the best fighting ships that can be produced — nuclear surface warships free to roam the world's oceans — and nuclear submarines superior to any others in the world."

THE JOINT AEC has recommended authorization for $125 million for development of improved nuclear propulsion plants for surface ships and submarines during 1970, which is $4 million more than the President requested.

"These recommendations

KENNEDY SHARES IT WITH NATION

A Crisis of Conscience

By STEVEN GERSIEL

WASHINGTON (UPI) — In the library of the home where Kennedy's have fasted so many triumphs and grieved over so many tragedies, Ted, the youngest and last son, shared his crisis of conscience with his country.

At the end — when he had finished his slowly-measured words — the political future of the heir to the Kennedy dynasty was as clouded as when he began. The nationally broadcast speech clearly showed the great torment and indecision wracking Sen. Edward M. Kennedy.

His dilemma is whether to end a brilliant political career which seemed inevitably headed for a try at the presidency when his car plunged off a little Martha's Vineyard bridge and killed a 28-year-old woman riding with him. Kennedy said the decision to quit or continue in the Senate must be his in the final analysis. But he asked the people of Massachusetts "to think this through with me" and give him their advice and counsel.

The advice Kennedy sought was not long in coming.

Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield, the 37-year-old senator's friend and mentor, said he wants Kennedy to remain in the Senate "because he has my confidence."

Sen. George D. Aiken of Vermont, the Senate's senior Republican, also said Kennedy should return. "The sooner the better for his sake."

"He'll soon find out whether he can take it," Aiken said. "The pressure comes from within."

The reaction from the Kennedy's rank-and-file constituents was slower in making itself known. But there was reason to believe his emotional speech, with its stark admission of his inexplicable action in leaving the accident scene, would stir warm sympathy in Massachusetts.

The reaction from the country as a whole — if Kennedy takes that into account — may not be so favorable in making his decision. The anti-Kennedy feeling, muted when President John F. Kennedy was assassinated and again when Sen. Robert Kennedy was killed, is certain to be reinforced by events of the past several days.

In any case, there can be no doubt that any ambitions for the presidency held by Kennedy were hurt by the accident. The only question is whether the tragedy was fatal, politically, or merely a temporary setback.

Until the accident, it was generally conceded that the 1972 Democratic nomination was Kennedy's for the asking. There was even speculation the party would have drafted him as the best possible candidate.

A Kennedy candidacy now would have to deal not only with the tragedy itself but with such inevitable questions as:

—Should a man seek the presidency who showed such indecision about staying in the Senate?

—Should a candidate have a past which in his own words included "fear, doubt, panic, confusion and shock?"

Perhaps, Kennedy signaled the end of his presidential ambitions in his final words when he talked about further contributions to his "state and mankind" but did not mention the nation.

REACTION

sentiment of callers was running about 2 to 1 in support of the senator.

"All Hell's breaking loose here," said an editor at The Globe. "I've never seen it like this." He added that the number of calls in favor of Kennedy remaining in office appeared to be "overwhelming."

THE WESTERN UNION office in Boston said it was flooded with outgoing telegrams. "It seems like we've handled about 95,000 calls since Kennedy was on television," a spokesman said. "Most of the people sending telegrams are for him."

Heavy traffic also was reported in the Western Union offices in Worcester and Springfield.

The major television stations in Boston each said the sentiment of callers was heavily in support of Kennedy.

In the first hour after Kennedy had finished his statement, WHDH television, the Columbia Broadcasting System outlet in Boston, said that 102 calls had been in favor of Kennedy and 37 against. One of the station's reporters, taking man-in-the-street comments, said 19 of 20 persons interviewed had been Kennedy supporters.

TELEVISION station WHAC, the American Broadcasting Company outlet, said 62 of 66 callers had expressed support for the senator. "Many of them were highly emotional about it, too," a station spokesman said.

WHAC radio said hundreds of calls had been received by the station in the first two hours after the senator's statement. Most favored Kennedy, a spokesman said.

Boston's National Broadcasting Company television outlet, station WBZ, said the response had been mixed, with a slight edge in favor of the senator.

Radio station WEEI said more than 3,000 calls were taken by switchboard operators, with the response "generally favorable" to Kennedy. The station broadcast a sequence of recorded comments, which included some that denounced the senator in harsh terms.

In radio talk shows, which are enjoying popular appeal in Boston, the sentiment appeared to be running in favor of Kennedy.

IN WORCESTER, a spokesman for the Telegram-Gazette said that unsolicited phone calls were "running about 4 to 1 in favor of his remaining in office."

In Boston, a press aide of Kennedy's, Richard C. Drayne, characterized the public response to the senator's address as "overwhelmingly favorable." Drayne said the response was coming in the form of telephone calls and telegrams at Kennedy's office in the John F. Kennedy at first reluctant to discuss battlefield tactics. He said he had no plans to visit South Vietnam on the current tour but hoped to meet the U.S. ambassador to Saigon, Ellsworth Bunker, and perhaps the American military commander in South Vietnam, Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, in Bangkok next week.

Just before leaving Washington Tuesday, he said, he had heard a firsthand account of the military situation from Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, but he was not yet ready to make his findings public. All these conferences were a prelude to his decision next month about whether to withdraw more American troops from the war zone, he explained.

The withdrawal of the first 25,000 troops will be completed Aug. 31 and Nixon is expected to recall at least that many in the fall and even more if the battlefield situation continues. The South Vietnamese government has taken the withdrawal with good grace and has moved very effectively to take over combat assignments from the Americans, Nixon said.

Senator, Family More Relaxed After Speech

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy appeared more relaxed Friday night following his nationally televised speech, a source close to the family said.

The source said that at least some of the tension seemed to be gone from the senator and from other members of his family.

"He smiled" as he thanked persons close to the family for their expressions of sympathy in the latest of trying times for the Kennedys, the source said.

Federal Building in Boston. Kenneth P. O'Donnell, an aide to the late President Kennedy and a long-time friend of the Kennedy family, said, "I think he ought to stay on. I'd be very disappointed if he did not. I support him. I thought he showed tonight the kind of courage his brothers showed."

EDWARD W. BROOKE, the junior Republican senator from Massachusetts, declined to comment on Kennedy's television statement.

Richard Cardinal Cushing, the Roman Catholic Archbishop of Boston and a long-time friend of the Kennedy family, also refused to comment.

The speaker of the Massachusetts House, David Bartley, a Holyoke Democrat, sent Kennedy a telegram which said in part: "I urge you to continue your work on behalf of all of us. Our prayers are with you."

Gov. John Burns of Hawaii will welcome the spacemen, but he will get no closer than did President Nixon when he talked with the astronauts Thursday through a glass window of the van.

After a brief ceremony, the truck will slowly move the van to nearby Hickam Field.

The van will be loaded into an Air Force C141 transport for a direct flight to Houston, where it is to arrive at 2:35 a.m. Sunday.

Majority Near Say ABM Foes

N.Y. Times Service

WASHINGTON — Opponents of the Safeguard missile system, on the defensive the past week, believe they are about to recapture the initiative by picking up the vote of Sen. Thomas J. McIntyre, one of the uncommitted senators.

McIntyre is scheduled to announce in a Senate speech Monday that he will vote for the opposition amendment prohibiting any deployment of the Safeguard Antiballistic Missile system in the coming year.

WITH THE New Hampshire Democrat, the opposition believes it can count on at least 49 votes — just two short of a bare majority — against the Administration's Safeguard deployment plan.

Administration spokesmen are claiming a minimum of 56 votes in favor of deployment, but included in this claim appear to be some uncommitted or wavering senators who may go with the opposition.

The outcome on the ABM issue, therefore, continues to turn on a few wavering or uncommitted senators, such as Clinton P. Anderson, D-N.M., John J. Williams, R-Del., and Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash.

Magnuson is believed leaning toward the opposition, but he is under heavy pressure from his junior colleague, Sen. Henry M. Jackson, to vote with the Administration.

ANDERSON has been wavering but at this point is believed leaning toward the Administration. The outcome, therefore, could turn on the vote of Williams, one of the more independent members of the Senate who says he has made up his mind but will not divulge his decision until the roll is called.

With McIntyre's shift, the Administration also lost a possible fallback position if it appeared its Safeguard deployment plan was about to be defeated.

"Nor was I driving under the influence of liquor."

Kennedy next told of driving on a narrow, unlighted bridge. He said the car left the bridge, overturned into a deep pond, filled with water.

He did not discuss the route which took him from the main road, leading to a Martha's Vineyard ferry, onto the side road toward the bridge.

Kennedy said he remembers thinking that "I was for certain drowning," recalls struggling to the surface, and repeatedly diving to the car, seeking Miss Kopechne.

"My conduct and conversation during the next several hours, to the extent that I can remember them, make no sense to me at all," Kennedy said.

He said doctors reported he suffered a cerebral concussion and shock. But Kennedy said he wasn't trying to escape responsibility by blaming his conduct on his condition.

"I REGARD AS INDEFENSIBLE the fact that I did not report the accident to the police immediately," he said.

Instead, Kennedy said, he lay exhausted on the grass, then walked back to the party, in a cottage about a mile away.

He said he "requested the help of two friends, my cousin Joseph Gargan and Paul Markham, and directed them to return immediately to the scene with me—this was sometime after midnight—in order to undertake a new effort to dive down and locate Miss Kopechne."

The effort was futile.

"All kinds of scrambled thoughts, all of them confused, some of them irrational, many of them which I cannot recall, and some of which I would not have seriously entertained under normal circumstances, went through my mind during this period," Kennedy said.

He said they were reflected in inexplicable, inconsistent, inconclusive things he said and did.

"I WAS OVERCOME, I am frank to say, by a jumble of emotion—grief, fear, doubt, torture, panic, confusion, exhaustion and shock."

Kennedy said he told Gargan and Markham "not to alarm Mary Jo's friends that night."

His discussion of the role of his friends was the first word that anyone other than the senator knew immediately of the accident.

Kennedy had told police of wandering in a state of shock after the accident, slumping in the rear seat of an automobile outside the party, remaining in this state until the following morning when he reported the accident.

In his broadcast report, he said he had Gargan and Markham take him to the ferry crossing to Martha's Vineyard.

"I suddenly jumped into the water and impulsively swam across, nearly drowning again," he said.

The next day, "somewhat more lucid," he belatedly reported the accident to police.

It was that report which led to the formal court proceedings earlier Friday at Edgartown which Kennedy drew a two-month suspended sentence.

Kennedy put himself at the mercy of the court. He stood stern-faced at the prisoner's dock rail. His wife, Joan, looked at him from across the room as he, the lawyers and Judge James A. Boyle went through the proceedings.

Kennedy said only one word during the 10-minute session.

"Guilty," he replied in a low but firm voice.

KENNEDY SHARES IT WITH NATION

A Crisis of Conscience

By STEVEN GERSIEL

WASHINGTON (UPI) — In the library of the home where Kennedys have tasted so many triumphs and grieved over so many tragedies, Ted, the youngest and last son, shared his crisis of conscience with his country.

At the end — when he had finished his slowly-measured words — the political future of the heir to the Kennedy dynasty was as clouded as when he began. The nationally broadcast speech clearly showed the great torment and indecision wracking Sen. Edward M. Kennedy.

His dilemma is whether to end a brilliant political career which seemed inevitably headed for a try at the presidency when his car plunged off a little Martha's Vineyard bridge and killed a 28-year-old woman riding with him.

Kennedy said the decision to quit or continue in the Senate must be his in the final analysis. But he asked the people of Massachusetts "to think this through with me" and give him their advice and counsel.

The advice Kennedy sought was not long in coming.

Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield, the 37-year-old senator's friend and mentor, said he wants Kennedy to remain in the Senate "because he has my confidence."

Sen. George D. Aiken of Vermont, the Senate's senior Republican, also said Kennedy should return, "the sooner the better for his sake."

"He'll soon find out whether he can take it," Aiken said. "The pressure comes from within."

The reaction from the Kennedy's rank-and-file constituents was slower in making itself known. But there was reason to believe his emotional speech, with its stark admission of his inexplicable action in leaving the accident scene, would stir warm sympathy in Massachusetts.

The reaction from the country as a whole — if Kennedy takes that into account — may not be so favorable. The anti-Kennedy feeling, muted when President John F. Kennedy was assassinated and again when Sen. Robert Kennedy was killed, is certain to be reinforced by events of the past several days.

In any case, there can be no doubt that any ambitions for the presidency held by Kennedy were hurt by the accident. The only question is whether the tragedy was fatal, politically, or merely a temporary setback.

Until the accident, it was generally conceded that the 1972 Democratic nomination was Kennedy's for the asking. There was even speculation the party would have drafted him as the best possible candidate.

A Kennedy candidacy now would have to deal not only with the tragedy itself but with such inevitable questions as:

—Should a man seek the presidency who showed such indecision about staying in the Senate?

—Should a candidate have a past which in his own words included "fear, doubt, panic, confusion and shock?"

Perhaps, Kennedy signaled the end of his presidential ambitions in his final words when he talked about further contributions to his "state and mankind" but did not mention the nation.

Majority Near Say ABM Foes

N.Y. Times Service

WASHINGTON — Opponents of the Safeguard missile system, on the defensive the past week, believe they are about to recapture the initiative by picking up the vote of Sen. Thomas J. McIntyre, one of the uncommitted senators.

McIntyre is scheduled to announce in a Senate speech Monday that he will vote for the opposition amendment prohibiting any deployment of the Safeguard Antiballistic Missile system in the coming year.

WITH THE New Hampshire Democrat, the opposition believes it can count on at least 49 votes — just two short of a bare majority — against the Administration's Safeguard deployment plan.

Administration spokesmen are claiming a minimum of 56 votes in favor of deployment, but included in this claim appear to be some uncommitted or wavering senators who may go with the opposition.

The outcome on the ABM issue, therefore, continues to turn on a few wavering or uncommitted senators, such as Clinton P. Anderson, D-N.M., John J. Williams, R-DeL., and Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash.

Magnuson is believed leaning toward the opposition, but he is under heavy pressure from his junior colleague, Sen. Henry M. Jackson, to vote with the Administration.

ANDERSON has been wavering but at this point is believed leaning toward the Administration. The outcome, therefore, could turn on the vote of Williams, one of the more independent members of the Senate who says he has made up his mind but will not divulge his decision until the roll is called.

With McIntyre's shift, the Administration also lost a possible fallback position if it appeared its Safeguard deployment plan was about to be defeated.

Senators Support Kennedy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield said Friday night after hearing Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's television statement on the Martha's Vineyard drowning incident that he wants his young colleague to remain in the Senate "because he has my confidence."

"He has made his case to the people and now the public is in a better position to make a judgment on the tragedy of last weekend," Mansfield said of Kennedy's dramatic broadcast appearance.

The Montana Democrat said the Massachusetts senator had been the "target of slander, innuendo and sly charges" since the accident which took the life of Miss Mary Jo Kopechne.

"I feel compassion for the Kennedy family and the senator and a deep sorrow for the Kopechne family," Mansfield commented.

"I want Sen. Kennedy to return to the Senate as assistant majority leader. He has my confidence," Mansfield, a personal friend of the 37-year-old Kennedy, declared.

MANSFIELD declined comment on whether Kennedy's political future has been harmed by the incident a week ago Friday night. He cited a Biblical saying, "There but for the grace of God go I."

Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vermont, dean of Senate Republicans, said he believed Kennedy had been damaged politically, particularly on his chances for a future presidential bid.

Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D., said, "I share Sen. Kennedy's hope that he will have the strength to put this tragedy behind him and to continue the brilliant career I believe history has marked for him."

My heart goes out to him and his family as well as the family of the splendid girl who was killed."

Sen. Hiram L. Fong, R-Hawaii, a member of the judiciary committee on which Kennedy serves, said only, "I understand the man's very deep grief."

Sen. Thomas J. McIntyre, D-N.H., said he sent a telegram to Kennedy saying "We trust you. Stay with us." McIntyre added in an interview, "I meant that for the United States Senate."

A joint session of Congress honoring the astronaut Sen. Fred R. Harris of Oklahoma, the Democratic National Chairman, said: "Sen. Kennedy has spoken movingly and candidly about the tragic events of last weekend. I am confident that the people of Massachusetts will overwhelmingly support him."

Sen. Phillip A. Hart, D-Mich., said: "I hope Sen. Kennedy will decide to stay in the Senate and remain in public service as long as he wants."

Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, characterized Kennedy's speech as "a candid and forthright explanation of the events."

widely circulated suspicion of immoral conduct that have been leveled at my behavior and hers regarding that evening," Kennedy said.

"... Nor was I driving under the influence of liquor."

Kennedy next told of driving on a narrow, unlighted bridge. He said the car left the bridge, overturned into a deep pond, filled with water.

He did not discuss the route which took him from the main road, leading to a Martha's Vineyard ferry, onto the side road toward the bridge.

Kennedy said he remembers thinking that "I was for certain drowning," recalls struggling to the surface, and repeatedly diving to the car, seeking Miss Kopechne.

"My conduct and conversation during the next several hours, to the extent that I can remember them, make no sense to me at all," Kennedy said.

He said doctors reported he suffered a cerebral concussion and shock. But Kennedy said he wasn't trying to escape responsibility by blaming his conduct on his condition.

"I REGARD AS INDEFENSIBLE the fact that I did not report the accident to the police immediately," he said.

Instead, Kennedy said, he lay exhausted on the grass, then walked back to the party, in a cottage about a mile away.

He said he "requested the help of two friends, my

sentiment of callers was running about 2 to 1 in support of the senator.

"All Hell's breaking loose here," said an editor at The Globe. "I've never seen it like this." He added that the number of calls in favor of Kennedy remaining in office appeared to be "overwhelming."

THE WESTERN UNION office in Boston said it was flooded with outgoing telegrams. "It seems like we've handled about 95,000 calls since Kennedy was on television," a spokesman said. "Most of the people sending telegrams are for him."

Heavy traffic also was reported in the Western Union offices in Worcester and Springfield.

The major television stations in Boston each said the sentiment of callers was heavily in support of Kennedy.

In the first hour after Kennedy had finished his statement, WHDH television, the Columbia Broadcasting System outlet in Boston, said that 102 calls had been in favor of Kennedy and 37 against. One of the station's reporters, taking man-in-the-street comments, said 19 of 20 persons interviewed had been Kennedy supporters.

TELEVISION station WHAC, the American Broadcasting Company outlet, said 62 of 66 callers had expressed support for the senator. "Many of them were highly emotional about it, too," a station spokesman said.

WHAC radio said hundreds of calls had been received by the station in the first two hours after the senator's statement. Most favored Kennedy, a spokesman said.

Boston's National Broadcasting Company television outlet, station WBZ, said the response had been mixed, with a slight edge in favor of the senator.

Radio station WEEL said more than 3,000 calls were taken by switchboard operators, with the response "generally favorable" to Kennedy. The station broadcast a sequence of recorded comments, which included some that denounced the senator in harsh terms.

In radio talk shows, which are enjoying popular appeal in Boston, the sentiment appeared to be running in favor of Kennedy.

IN WORCESTER, a spokesman for the Telegram-Gazette said that unsolicited phone calls were "running about 4 to 1 in favor of his remaining in office."

In Boston, a press aide of Kennedy's, Richard C. Drayne, characterized the public response to the senator's address as "overwhelmingly favorable." Drayne said the response was coming in the form of telephone calls and telegrams at Kennedy's office in the John F. Kennedy at first reluctant to discuss battlefield tactics. He said he had no plans to visit South Vietnam on the current tour but hoped to meet the U.S. ambassador to Saigon, Ellsworth Bunker, and perhaps the American military commander in South Vietnam, Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, in Bangkok next week.

Just before leaving Washington Tuesday, he said, he had heard a firsthand account of the military situation from Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, but he was not yet ready to make his findings public. All these conferences were a prelude to his decision next month about whether to withdraw more American troops from the war zone, he explained.

The withdrawal of the first 25,000 troops will be completed Aug. 31 and Nixon is expected to recall at least that many in the fall and even more if the battlefield lull continues. The South Vietnamese government has taken the withdrawal with good grace and has moved very effectively to take over combat assignments from the Americans, Nixon said.

Senator, Family More Relaxed After Speech

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy appeared more relaxed Friday night following his nationally televised speech, a source close to the family said.

The source said that at least some of the tension seemed to be gone from the senator and from other members of his family.

"He smiled" as he thanked persons close to the family for their expressions of sympathy in the latest of trying times for the Kennedys, the source said.

Federal Building in Boston. Kenneth P. O'Donnell, an aide to the late President Kennedy and a long-time friend of the Kennedy family said, "I think he ought to stay on. I'd be very disappointed if he did not. I support him. I thought he showed tonight the kind of courage his brothers showed."

EDWARD W. BROOKE, the junior Republican senator from Massachusetts, declined to comment on Kennedy's television statement.

Richard Cardinal Cushing, the Roman Catholic Archbishop of Boston and a long-time friend of the Kennedy family, also refused to comment.

The speaker of the Massachusetts House, David Bartley, a Holyoke Democrat, sent Kennedy a telegram which said in part: "I urge you to continue your work on behalf of all of us. Our prayers are with you."

selves will be inside a quarantined laboratory.

Th elaborate isolation is to prevent escape into the atmosphere of any moon microbes that might have been brought back in the rocks and soil.

Most scientists don't expect to find life of any kind in the lunar samples, but the space agency is taking no chances in exposing Earth life.

The boxes were flown off the recovery ship aboard two small Navy airplanes and transferred to larger aircraft at Johnston Island and then flown to Ellington Air Force Base near the space center.

Dr. Thomas O. Paine, administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, escorted the first box.

ARMSTRONG, Aldrin and Collins will remain inside their isolation chamber when the Hornet arrives in Hawaii. The 35-foot-long van, with the spacemen strapped in chairs inside, will be unloaded from the carrier and placed on a flatbed truck.

Gov. John Burns of Hawaii will welcome the spacemen, but he will get no closer than did President Nixon when he talked with the astronauts Thursday through a glass window of the van.

After a brief ceremony, the truck will slowly move the van to nearby Hickam Field.

The van will be loaded into an Air Force C141 transport for a direct flight to Houston, where it is to arrive at 2:35 a.m. Sunday. Despite the early hour, the space agency expects thousands of persons to gather for a glimpse of the space heroes.

AT ELLINGTON, the van again will be loaded onto a truck.

Then, with roads blocked to other traffic for miles, the truck will move to the receiving laboratory about four miles away.

Through a sealed passage, Armstrong, Aldrin and Collins will walk from the small van into the permanent facility.

There they'll stay, cut off from the Earth that is toasting them, for 17 days.

In his report, the physician sharing the astronauts' isolation said the crew showed less heart and blood vessel deterioration than had other Apollo spacemen.

Dr. Carpentier, a veteran for both Gemini and Apollo post-flight medical examinations, said the moon explorers continued to mount spirits.

He said Armstrong's ear ailment may have been caused by a build up of fluid during the pressures of re-entry.

Tributes for the moon explorers continued to mount.

Final Vote on Divorce Delayed

Author Predicts Measure's Passage; Reagan Will Sign

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Final passage of California's first major overhaul of divorce laws was delayed Friday by hungry senators until Monday.

Sen. Donald Grunsky, R-Watsonville, predicted his far-reaching bill would pass with ease.

"I have between 27 and 30 votes," he said. The measure needs only 21. Gov. Ronald Reagan has assured sponsors he will sign the bill.

GRUNSKY started to take up the Assembly-passed measure for final passage Friday. But Senate leader Howard Way, noting the approaching lunch hour, asked him to delay the matter until Monday. Grunsky agreed.

During his brief opening statement, Grunsky said the purpose of his bill was to "eliminate the acrimony so people won't be at each other's throats as they are now."

The bill, written in final form by a two-house conference committee, passed the Assembly Thursday night, 55-10.

Here are some of the bill's major features: —It eliminates adultery as a ground for divorce. Also eliminated is "mental cruelty." There would be only two grounds for divorce: incurable insanity and "irreconcilable differences."

—Divorce henceforth would be called a "dissolution of marriage."

—A wife's ability to get a job would be considered by a judge in granting alimony.

—Counties could set up conciliation courts if they wished, but wouldn't have to.

—Divorces would be granted within six months, instead of a year as present. The residency requirement also would be cut from a year to six months.

A coauthor, Assemblyman James A. Hayes, R-Long Beach, said "this is not a man's law. It is not a woman's law. It is a children's law."

He explained divorce reform would eliminate bitter courtroom fights over division of community property in which children often are forced to take sides.

Senate Votes

Opposition to School Bussing

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The Senate Friday passed a bill opponents said would prohibit the bussing of school children without parental approval.

The measure by Sen. Richard J. Dolwig (R-Atherton) was sent to the Assembly on a 22-13 vote. He rejected the interpretation of the bill by opponents.

Bill to Reduce Cal Expo Board to Three Fails

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A bill to streamline the California Exposition and Fair Administration down to a three-man board was defeated Friday in the Assembly.

The vote was 30-28, with 41 needed for passage. Opponents said the bill would give too much power to the proposed new board, composed of the state controller, finance director and agriculture director.

Assemblyman Peter Schabarum, R-Covina, the bill's sponsor, said he will ask for another vote on the measure. It would also create a new California Exposition Executive Committee.

The proposal was one of several designed to bail Cal Expo out of a financial hole. But opponents also said private businesses considering buying Cal Expo didn't like the provisions of Schabarum's bill.

Democrats Prod Governor About Tax Reform Plan

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Assembly Democratic Caucus Chairman George N. Zenovich told Gov. Ronald Reagan Friday Democrats do not want the Legislature to adjourn until a "meaningful" tax-reform plan passes the Assembly.

Reagan told Zenovich to work the problem out with Assembly speaker Robert T. Monagan, R-Tracy.

Zenovich also accused Monagan of joining with lobbyists to kill Reagan's stalled tax-revision program. He said there was a split between Monagan and Reagan but an aide to Monagan later denied it.

"SPEAKER MONAGAN AND other Republicans evidently have given up on your tax-shift program," Zenovich said in a letter to Reagan. "Let me advise you that the Assembly Democrats are prepared to remain in session as long as necessary to place on the November 1970 ballot meaningful tax reform."

Actually, the plan calls for approval by the voters on the June, 1970 primary election ballot.

"If it's not your intention to proceed with your own tax program, the Democratic leadership would appreciate hearing from you to this effect so that we can pursue other approaches to tax reform for the people of California," Zenovich told Reagan.

ZENOVICH DISTRIBUTED copies of the letter to newsmen in the corridor outside the governor's office.

Reagan later replied in a statement noting that Democrats had voted against two of his tax plans, once on the Assembly floor and once in the Constitutional Amendments Committee.

"Although every public statement by members of the Democratic leadership has been to the effect that Democrats will support my tax-reform program, performance has been somewhat different," Reagan said.

"If Democratic members have a difference with the Assembly leadership about the adjournment of the 1969 legislative session, I would suggest you express those feelings to the speaker," he added.

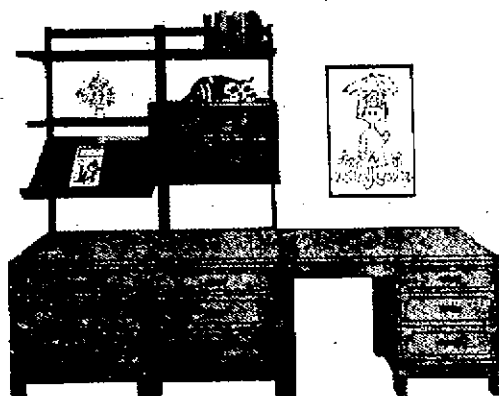

ZENOVICH TOLD NEWSMEN there is a split between Monagan and Reagan over the tax reform program.

He said lobbyists for the California Manufacturers Association, the California Tax Payers Association and the California Retailers Association had met with the GOP speaker and urged him to kill Reagan's plan.

Jerry Simpson, an aide to Monagan, said the speaker had talked with many lobbyists who oppose Reagan's plan, including those named by Zenovich plus representatives of schools, counties and cities. All opposed Reagan's plan during committee hearings. But Simpson denied there was a split between Reagan and Monagan over the program.

LSD ADVOCATE Dr. Timothy Leary, at right with wife Rosemary, is interrupted by an arrest warrant as he tried to hold a news conference Friday. A detective took Leary into custody. The former Harvard professor is charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor following the drowning of a teen-age girl, believed to be under the influence of LSD, on Leary's ranch where she and other young people had been living.

Leary Arrested, Blamed for Dead Girl's Delinquency

Plainclothes policemen arrested Timothy Leary Friday on a Riverside County warrant as the hippie high priest began a news conference in Los Angeles.

"This is all a mistake," Leary said as he was taken from the offices of the Free Press, a newspaper popular among young people.

The warrant charged Leary, 49, with contributing to the delinquency of a minor. It was issued Thursday after an autopsy report showed a 17-year-old girl drowned July 14 while under the influence of LSD at the Mountain Center ranch where Leary lives.

The girl, Charlene Almeida of Laguna Beach, had been at the ranch for about 10 days.

After the arrest Leary's wife Rosemary told newsmen: "This is a ghastly thing. They're trying to make political capital out of a young girl's death. We loved her very much."

SPOKESMEN for Leary released a statement they said he had written before the arrest. It said in part:

"Our government has destroyed 50,000 of our bravest youth in Asia and now they have imprisoned

50,000 of our holiest youth in this country for spiritual-psychedelic crimes. Now I am told I am to be arrested for contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

"Since this is a religious struggle we are engaged in I proudly confess to having contributed to the delinquency of over 300 million people who are in fact rapidly becoming a majority."

Five young men and women were arrested Thursday at the ranch near Idyllwild on suspicion of using marijuana.

RIVERSIDE County Coroner James Burt Jr. said the autopsy used a drug-detection process involving ultra-violet rays in a spectrometer that analyzes blood and tissue. He said tests used previously would not conclusively reveal LSD.

After the coroner's report, Municipal Judge Roland Wilson issued a search warrant and narcotics investigators raided the ranch. Deputies said no LSD was found.

However, arrested for possession of marijuana were Lillian Ester, 28, Candy Padilla, 21, Mark Stanton, 22, Barbara Salk, 21, and Carlton Youngstrom, 22.

Leary, his wife Rosemary, 33, and his son, John, 19, are under grand jury indictment in nearby Orange County on charges of possession of marijuana. Leary recently won a U.S. Supreme Court reversal of a narcotics conviction but failed to get the Orange County charges dismissed.

Employees Hit Reagan Layoff Plan

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The California State Employees' Association assailed Gov. Reagan Friday for what it called his "arbitrary, capricious and politically inspired" order for a reduction of state workers.

In letters to Motor Vehicles Director Verne Orr and Public Works Director James Moe, CSEA General Manager Thomas T. Jordan demanded a "full and public disclosure of layoff plans."

Referring to the governor's July 15 message to department heads and agency chiefs to prevent an increase in the number of state employees, Jordan said:

"THIS MEAT-AXE" approach to state government neglects the staggering growth in the work load shared by state workers."

He noted that since Jan. 1, 1967, the number of licensed drivers in California has risen by nearly 1.2 million and the number of cars has jumped by more than one million.

"Yet we have word that the Department of Motor Vehicles has been ordered to cut its work force by 500 or more persons by the end of the year" and the Public Works Department appears to be planning layoffs as well, Jordan said.

SMUGGLER DRAGS OFFICER 500 YARDS

SAN YSIDRO (UPI) — A U.S. Customs broker inspector was dragged more than 500 yards along Interstate 5 Friday by a car in which police said they found marijuana smuggled from Mexico.

Police and border patrolmen captured a young man in hillside brush 45 minutes after the car was abandoned. They said the marijuana they found totaled 30 pounds.

TIMOTIO S. LEAL, 20, a California Youth Authority parolee from San Diego, was charged with smuggling marijuana and assaulting a police officer.

The officer, Billy Lee, 36, suffered multiple abrasions and lacerations. He was treated at the border public health service and released.

Lee stopped the car on a routine check at the San Ysidro customs station at the border.

AFTER FEELING a suspicious lump under the back seat, Lee started to move out of the car — but it was driven off.

The officer, half in and half out, was dragged along the asphalt pavement until heavy traffic forced the driver to slow down. Lee freed himself and rolled to the ground.

A short distance farther, the motorist abandoned the car and ran into the foothills. Customs agents and a border patrol pilot took part in the capture.

Right-Wing Group Sells Antiriot Rifle Tickets

An official of the American Independent Party in Los Angeles said Friday the right-wing group hopes to prevent riots by raffling off as many as 50 rifles a month.

Mrs. Marylou Cushman, secretary of the Los Angeles County Central Committee, said the AIP was selling $1 chances on Winchester rifles and would give away one rifle for every 250 tickets sold.

With the publicity this will receive, it might ward off a small-scale riot if those type of people knew that people are buying guns and that as many as 50 are being given away right here in L.A. County every month," Mrs. Cushman said.

LSD ADVOCATE Dr. Timothy Leary, at right with wife Rosemary, is interrupted by an arrest warrant as he tried to hold a news conference Friday. A detective took Leary into custody. The former Harvard professor is charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor following the drowning of a teen-age girl, believed to be under the influence of LSD, on Leary's ranch where she and other young people had been living.

Leary Arrested, Blamed for Dead Girl's Delinquency

Plainclothes policemen arrested Timothy Leary Friday on a Riverside County warrant as the hippie high priest began a news conference in Los Angeles.

"This is all a mistake," Leary said as he was taken from the offices of the Free Press, a newspaper popular among young people.

The warrant charged Leary, 49, with contributing to the delinquency of a minor. It was issued Thursday after an autopsy report showed a 17-year-old girl drowned July 14 while under the influence of LSD at the Mountain Center ranch where Leary lives.

The girl, Charlene Almeida, of Laguna Beach, had been at the ranch for about 10 days.

After the arrest Leary's wife Rosemary told newsmen: "This is a ghastly thing. They're trying to make political capital out of a young girl's death. We loved her very much."

SPOKESMEN for Leary released a statement they said he had written before the arrest. It said in part: "Our government has destroyed 50,000 of our bravest youth in Asia and now they have imprisoned

50,000 of our holiest youth in this country for spiritual-psychedelic crimes. Now I am told I am to be arrested for contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

"Since this is a religious struggle we are engaged in I proudly confess to having contributed to the delinquency of over 300 million people who are in fact rapidly becoming a majority."

Five young men and women were arrested Thursday at the ranch near Idyllwild on suspicion of using marijuana.

RIVERSIDE County Coroner James Burt Jr. said the autopsy used a drug-detection process involving ultra-violet rays in a spectrometer that analyzes blood and tissue. He said tests used previously would not conclusively reveal LSD.

After the coroner's report, Municipal Judge Roland Wilson issued a search warrant and narcotics investigators raided the ranch. Deputies said no LSD was found.

However, arrested for possession of marijuana were Lillian Ester, 28, Candy Padilla, 21, Mark Stanton, 22, Barbara Salk, 21, and Carlton Youngstrom, 22.

SMUGGLER DRAGS OFFICER 500 YARDS

SAN YSIDRO — A U.S. Customs broker inspector was dragged more than 500 yards along Interstate 5 Friday by a car in which police said they found marijuana smuggled from Mexico.

Police and border patrolmen captured a young man in hillside brush 45 minutes after the car was abandoned. They said the marijuana they found totaled 30 pounds.

TIMOTIO S. LEAL, 20, a California Youth Authority parolee from San Diego, was charged with smuggling marijuana and assaulting a police officer.

The officer, Billy Lee, 36, suffered multiple abrasions and lacerations. He was treated at the border public health service and released.

Lee stopped the car on a routine check at the San Ysidro customs station at the border.

AFTER FEELING a suspicious lump under the back seat, Lee started to move out of the car — but it was driven off.

The officer, half in and half out, was dragged along the asphalt pavement until heavy traffic forced the driver to slow down. Lee freed himself and rolled to the ground.

A short distance farther, the motorist abandoned the car and ran into the foothills. Customs agents and a border patrol pilot took part in the capture.

Right-Wing Group Sells Antiriot Rifle Tickets

An official of the American Independent Party in Los Angeles said Friday the right-wing group hopes to prevent riots by raffling off as many as 50 rifles a month.

Mrs. Marylou Cushman, secretary of the Los Angeles County Central Committee, said the AIP was selling 51 chances on Winchester rifles and would give away one rifle for every 250 tickets sold.

"With the publicity this will receive, it might ward off a small-scale riot if those type of people knew that people are buying guns and that as many as 50 are being given away right here in L.A. County every month," Mrs. Cushman said.

"I haven't had any trouble selling the tickets I have," she added. "They've been going great guns. Some people don't understand that kind of gun doesn't have to be registered. They ask why unregistered guns and we have to explain you don't have to register all guns."

Final Vote on Divorce Delayed

Author Predicts Measure's Passage; Reagan Will Sign

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Final passage of California's first major overhaul of divorce laws was delayed Friday by hungry senators until Monday.

Sen. Donald Grunsky, R-Watsonville, predicted his far-reaching bill would pass with ease.

"I have between 27 and 30 votes," he said. The measure needs only 21.

Gov. Ronald Reagan has assured sponsors he will sign the bill.

GRUNSKY started to take up the Assembly-passed measure for final passage Friday. But Senate leader Howard Way, noting the approaching lunch hour, asked him to delay the matter until Monday. Grunsky agreed.

During his brief opening statement, Grunsky said the purpose of his bill was to "eliminate the acrimony so people won't be at each other's throats as they are now."

The bill, written in final form by a two-house conference committee, passed the Assembly Thursday night, 55-10.

Here are some of the bill's major features:

- It eliminates adultery as a ground for divorce. Also eliminated is "mental cruelty." There would be only two grounds for divorce: incurable insanity and "irreconcilable differences."
- Divorce henceforth would be called a "dissolution of marriage."
- A wife's ability to get a job would be considered by a judge in granting alimony.
- Counties could set up conciliation courts if they wished, but wouldn't have to.
- Divorces would be granted within six months, instead of a year as present. The residency requirement also would be cut from a year to six months.
- A coauthor, Assemblyman James A. Hayes, R-Long Beach, said "this is not a man's law. It is a children's law."
- He explained divorce reform would eliminate bitter courtroom fights over division of community property in which children often are forced to take sides.

Democrats Prod Governor About Tax Reform Plan

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Assembly Democratic Caucus Chairman George N. Zenovich told Gov. Ronald Reagan Friday Democrats do not want the Legislature to adjourn until a "meaningful" tax-reform plan passes the Assembly.

Reagan told Zenovich to work the problem out with Assembly speaker Robert T. Monagan, R-Tracy.

Zenovich also accused Monagan of joining with lobbyists to kill Reagan's stalled tax-revision program. He said there was a split between Monagan and Reagan but an aide to Monagan later denied it.

"SPEAKER MONAGAN AND other Republicans evidently have given up on your tax-shift program," Zenovich said in a letter to Reagan. "Let me advise you that the Assembly Democrats are prepared to remain in session as long as necessary to place on the November 1970 ballot meaningful tax reform."

Actually, the plan calls for approval by the voters on the June, 1970 primary election ballot.

"If it's not your intention to proceed with your own tax program, the Democratic leadership would appreciate hearing from you to this effect so that we can pursue other approaches to tax reform for the people of California," Zenovich told Reagan.

ZENOVICH DISTRIBUTED copies of the letter to newsmen in the corridor outside the governor's office.

Reagan later replied in a statement noting that Democrats had voted against two of his tax plans, once on the Assembly floor and once in the Constitutional Amendments Committee.

"Although every public statement by members of the Democratic leadership has been to the effect that Democrats will support my tax-reform program, performance has been somewhat different," Reagan said.

"If Democratic members have a difference with the Assembly leadership about the adjournment of the 1969 legislative session, I would suggest you express those feelings to the speaker," he added.

ZENOVICH TOLD NEWSMEN there is a split between Monagan and Reagan over the tax reform program.

He said lobbyists for the California Manufacturers Association, the California Tax Payers Association and the California Retailers Association had met with the GOP speaker and urged him to kill Reagan's plan.

Jerry Simpson, an aide to Monagan, said the speaker had talked with many lobbyists who oppose Reagan's plan, including those named by Zenovich plus representatives of schools, counties and cities. All opposed Reagan's plan during committee hearings. But Simpson denied there was a split between Reagan and Monagan over the program.

Employees Hit Reagan Layoff Plan

SACRAMENTO — The California State Employees' Association assailed Gov. Reagan Friday for what it called his "arbitrary, capricious and politically inspired" order for a reduction of state workers.

In letters to Motor Vehicles Director Verne Orr and Public Works Director James Moe, CSEA General Manager Thomas T. Jordan demanded a "full and public disclosure of layoff plans."

Referring to the governor's July 15 message to department heads and agency chiefs to prevent an increase in the number of state employees, Jordan said:

"THIS MEAT-AXE approach to state government neglects the staggering growth in the work load shared by state workers."

He noted that since Jan. 1, 1967, the number of licensed drivers in California has risen by nearly 1.2 million and the number of cars has jumped by more than one million.

"Yet we have word that the Department of Motor Vehicles has been ordered to cut its work force by 500 or more persons by the end of the year" and the Public Works Department appears to be planning layoffs as well, Jordan said.

Senate Votes Opposition to School Bussing

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The Senate Friday passed a bill opponents said would prohibit the bussing of school children without parental approval.

The measure by Sen. Richard J. Dolwig (R-Atherton) was sent to the Assembly on a 22-13 vote. He rejected the interpretation of the bill by opponents.

Bill to Reduce Cal Expo Board to Three Fails

SACRAMENTO — A bill to streamline the California Exposition and Fair Administration down to a three-man board was defeated Friday in the Assembly.

The vote was 30-28, with 41 needed for passage. Opponents said the bill would give too much power to the proposed new board, composed of the state controller, finance director and agriculture director.

Assemblyman Peter Schabarum, R-Covina, the bill's sponsor, said he will ask for another vote on the measure. It would also create a new California Exposition Executive Committee.

The proposal was one of several designed to bail Cal Expo out of a financial hole. But opponents also said private businesses considering buying Cal Expo didn't like the provisions of Schabarum's bill.

HUMPHREY MUM ON SENATE RACE

BELGRADE (AP)—Former Vice President Hubert Humphrey Friday said he will not comment until he returns to America on Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy's announcement that he will not be a candidate for re-election in 1970.

The announcement by the other Minnesota Democratic leader appeared to leave the road clear for Humphrey to run for the Senate next year with the endorsement of Minnesota's Democratic-Farmer-Labor party.

McCarthy's statement opens "many possibilities," said Humphrey, but he refused to elaborate.

Reached by telephone in Dubrovnik, the Adriatic resort where he is resting from his tour of Europe, Humphrey said he has not seen the full text of McCarthy's statement. He said he wants to talk to McCarthy as soon as he returns to the U.S. He added that he plans to leave Dubrovnik Saturday for Paris and expects to arrive in Washington Sunday night.

Shultz Shows Concern Over Pay Hikes, Union Demands

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Labor Secretary George P. Shultz indicated Friday he was unhappy with some recent wage increases and suggested that business resist unreasonable union demands.

He warned business that it may find itself unable in the near future, because of economic factors, to pass wage increases along to the consumer.

He noted in a news conference that the median wage and benefit package the first half of 1969 increased by 7.1 per cent a year. The average in the construction industry was up 15 per cent, he said.

It was the closest the Nixon Administration has come to former President Lyndon B. Johnson's technique of urging labor to restrict wage demands to a certain percentage and business to similarly control its price increases.

Shultz was especially critical of two- and three-year contracts which he said were, in effect, economic forecasts of future business conditions.

"If they make grossly inaccurate projections, the consequences may be something they won't like," he said.

HE WARNED business that "when our policies to control inflation really take hold, the meaning is that there is enough competition in most markets that will make passing those increases along very difficult."

He suggested to labor that it was in its own best interest to control wage demands. "Just as it is possible to price goods out of the market, it is also possible to price labor out of the market," he said. Despite this week's report showing living costs still climbing at the swift-est pace since the Korean War, Shultz said the slackening rate of real growth in the Gross National Product indicates the Nixon policy of tight money and federal budget cuts is beginning to brake the economy.

McCarthy — May Run Elsewhere

BY AL EISELE
From Our National Bureau

WASHINGTON—Sen. Eugene McCarthy said Friday he has not ruled out the possibility of running for the Senate from a state other than Minnesota in 1970.

McCarthy said his only intention in holding a news conference in Minneapolis Thursday was to reaffirm his October, 1968, statement that he would not seek re-election to the Senate from Minnesota next year.

"I didn't say I wouldn't run for another office in any other state next year," McCarthy commented after returning to his Senate office. "The only thing I said about not running in 1970 was in Minnesota. All I said was that right now I'm not running or thinking about running from any other state, but I didn't say that I wouldn't run in 1970 or never from another state."

"I DIDN'T even say I wouldn't run from Minnesota after 1970—say in 1972 or 1974. I said enough. Man, what do you want me to do, quit forever? Leave the country? Leave the earth and go to the moon?"

McCarthy said he made his latest statement because "it seemed necessary to clear it up again because my original position had been fuzzed up. I shouldn't have had to (do it)."

He added, "I don't know whether I will run in any other state in the future. But I haven't ruled out running for the Senate from another state in 1970."

Asked if he found any evidence during his visit to Minnesota this week that he was politically vulnerable, McCarthy commented "No, I wasn't particularly vulnerable last year when I said I was not going to run so the question of vulnerability had no bearing on what I said (Thursday)."

McCarthy's comments indicate that he is leaving the door slightly ajar to running for the Senate from New York or several other states where his supporters have urged him to run. Nevertheless, that is considered unlikely.

A better guess is that he will serve out his Senate term and spend 1970 campaigning for Democratic candidates around the country, meanwhile testing his appeal as a possible presidential candidate in 1972.

FTC Urges Posting Gas Octane Ratings

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Federal Trade Commission Friday proposed that gasoline service stations be required to show "clearly and conspicuously" the octane rating of the gasoline they sell.

The FTC took the action, it said, because it has reason to believe "gasolines are being marketed by the descriptive grade name of regular which are in fact of a lower octane rating than the average acceptable range of regular brands normally marketed."

The FTC also said there were instances where motorists would unwittingly pay more for a higher octane gas than their car needed.

HUMPHREY MUM ON SENATE RACE

BELGRADE (AP)—Former Vice President Hubert Humphrey Friday said he will not comment until he returns to America on Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy's announcement that he will not be a candidate for re-election in 1970.

The announcement by the other Minnesota Democratic leader appeared to leave the road clear for Humphrey to run for the Senate next year with the endorsement of Minnesota's Democratic-Farmer-Labor party.

McCarthy's statement opens "many possibilities," said Humphrey, but he refused to elaborate.

Reached by telephone in Dubrovnik, the Adriatic resort where he is resting from his tour of Europe, Humphrey said he has not seen the full text of McCarthy's statement. ## BOYCOTT, LOW PRICES BLAMED

Some Grape Growers Face Ruin

By JAMES K. STALEY
Associated Press Writer

Hopes have faded for a quick end to the California table grape dispute and some growers — partly because of a union-sponsored international grape boycott and partly due to depressed prices in the produce industry — say they are in serious economic trouble.

County agriculture officers say some of the smaller growers may go broke before the end of the year.

When 10 growers who produce 12 per cent of the $148 million crop agreed last month to hold bargaining talks with Cesar Chavez' United Farm Workers Organization Committee, both sides talked of a possible settlement within a week. The dispute involves union recognition, wages and other issues.

But now the talks are stalled and when they'll resume — or whether they'll resume at all — is a question.

THE HARVEST has ended in the southern growing area, where settlement sentiment was strongest, and is moving to the central area where antiumion feelings are stronger.

The negotiating growers said, in breaking off the talks: "The union's position is an attempt to bring the table grape growers to their knees."

The growers say they haven't far to go to be on their knees. They've got a bumper crop, but it's selling below cost. Growers in the Coachella Valley where the harvest just ended say they lost more than $1.50 per 22-pound box. Current price is $2.75 a box. Normally the price would be $6 to $7 a box, with a cost to growers of about $1.50.

GROWERS and the union disagree on the role of the boycott on demand for grapes, which affects prices. The growers say prices for all fruits and vegetables are depressed and they would be in a cost-price squeeze even if there were no boycott. The union says the boycott is a big factor.

Eighty-one growers have filed a suit that is pending against the union, saying the boycott has cost them $25 million. Prices were relatively stable until the boycott was launched in 1968. Since then they have dropped sharply. The grower group that held talks with the union said it was the boycott that made the difference.

Lionel Steinberg, a major Coachella Valley grower and a leader in negotiations, says that "between a third and a half of the 85 valley growers will go broke this year." County agricultural officers say this could happen, but only to smaller growers.

Carleton Yonge, assistant Riverside County Agricultural Commissioner, says: "There are just too many grapes." He adds that other crops such as onions, watermelons and cantaloupes are selling at or below cost.

Federal mediators say they have been in touch talks could resume but they don't know when. There was initial progress. The union agreed to stop boycotting growers who signed, marking boxes "union label" and asking consumers to boycott only un-stamped boxes. They agreed, too, not to strike growers at crucial harvest periods.

The growers agreed to hold elections to see whether workers wanted the union, and to consider hiring with both sides and that workers through union hiring halls.

How much support the union has is one of the matters at issue. An aide of Chavez says the UFWOC has a year-round membership of 10,000 and that there were 17,000 members during the peak of the 1968 harvest. But the growers say the membership is much lower, that the union does not have general support of the workers and that many nonunion workers have remained in the fields.

The talks broke off July 3 after two weeks because of an unexpected snag: the issue of pesticides.

THE UNION, which has long said certain pesticide practices endanger both field workers and consumers, asked for a voice in which pesticides should be used and how. The growers would agree only to comply with all laws, saying the government is the best judge of practices.

After the talks ceased, Steinberg held secret talks with the union and agreement was reached on all issues but wages. He offered $1.75 an hour plus 25 cents a box plus 10 cents in fringe benefits to be paid to the union. The union demanded $2 an hour plus 25 cents and 10 cents. Current wages vary, starting at $1.65 an hour, the legal minimum.

STRIKEBREAKING CHARGED

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — An employee organization filed a grievance against the state Friday charging that forest fire fighters were used as "strikebreakers" at Vallejo.

The grievance was brought on behalf of 30

State Division of Forestry Firemen who operated Vallejo fire stations during the recent strike of Vallejo police and firemen. The strike ended Tuesday.

The California State Employees Association told State Forester Francis H.

INDEPENDENT
Long Beach, Calif., Sat., July 26, 1969

Raymond that it considered the use of "state employees as strikebreakers in Vallejo to be a serious breach of the civil service laws and rules, and a gross misuse of authority."

Minimum Wage Ruling; How Much Back Pay?

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Union representatives, employers and state officials tried to determine Friday how much back pay is owed fruit and vegetable packing house workers under a Superior Court ruling.

Judge Joseph Karesh upheld a demand July 18 by the State attorney general and the AFL-CIO that employers meet minimum wage standards set in 1963 for women and minors.

He also ordered the employers to pay the new minimums retroactively and with interest.

Employers, acting through the California Grape and Tree Fruit League, had balked when the minimum wage was raised from 75 cents an hour for minors to $1 and from $1 an hour for women to $1.25.

The league said the State Industrial Welfare Commission did not give employers a proper hearing before putting the new rates into effect. Judge Karesh overruled the league.

IN 1961 THE hourly rate was raised another 5 cents for both women and minors and that, too, must be paid, the judge ruled, setting the interest due at 7 per cent.

Employers have 60 days to appeal the judge's ruling but league attorneys said they had made no decision on whether to do that.

Industrial Welfare Division officials are trying to compile lists of those involved, their employers and the amounts due.

Clark Maser, attorney who represented the league, said that "hundreds of thousands of dollars" are due under the ruling.

The growers agreed to hold elections to see whether workers wanted the union, and to consider hiring with both sides and that workers through union hiring halls.

How much support the union has is one of the matters at issue. An aide of Chavez says the UFWOC has a year-round membership of 10,000 and that there were 17,000 members during the peak of the 1968 harvest. But the growers say the membership is much lower, that the union does not have general support of the workers and that many nonunion workers have remained in the fields.

The talks broke off July 3 after two weeks because of an unexpected snag: the issue of pesticides.

THE UNION, which has long said certain pesticide practices endanger both field workers and consumers, asked for a voice in which pesticides should be used and how. The growers would agree only to comply with all laws, saying the government is the best judge of practices.

After the talks ceased, Steinberg held secret talks with the union and agreement was reached on all issues but wages. He offered $1.75 an hour plus 25 cents a box plus 10 cents in fringe benefits to be paid to the union. The union demanded $2 an hour plus 25 cents and 10 cents. Current wages vary, starting at $1.65 an hour, the legal minimum.

STRIKEBREAKING CHARGED

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — An employe organization filed a grievance against the state Friday charging that forest fire fighters were used as "strikebreakers" at Vallejo.

The grievance was brought on behalf of 30

State Division of Forestry Firemen who operated Vallejo fire stations during the recent strike of Vallejo police and firemen. The strike ended Tuesday.

The California State Employees Association told State Forester Francis H.

INDEPENDENT PRESS-TELEGRAM—A-7
Long Beach, Calif., Sat., July 26, 1969

Raymond that it considered the use of "state employes as strikebreakers in Vallejo to be a serious breach of the civil service laws and rules, and a gross misuse of authority."

Minimum Wage Ruling; How Much Back Pay?

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Union representatives, employers and state officials tried to determine Friday how much back pay is owed fruit and vegetable packing house workers under a Superior Court ruling.

Judge Joseph Karesh upheld a demand July 18 by the State attorney general and the AFL-CIO that employers meet minimum wage standards set in 1963 for women and minors.

He also ordered the employers to pay the new minimums retroactively and with interest.

Employers, acting through the California Grape and Tree Fruit League, had balked when the minimum wage was raised from 75 cents an hour for minors to $1 and from $1 an hour for women to $1.25.

The league said the State Industrial Welfare Commission did not give employers a proper hearing before putting the new rates into effect. Judge Karesh overruled the league.

IN 1964 THE hourly rate was raised another 5 cents for both women and minors and that, too, must be paid, the judge ruled, setting the interest due at 7 per cent.

Employers have 60 days to appeal the judge's ruling but league attorneys said they had made no decision on whether to do that.

Industrial Welfare Division officials are trying to compile lists of those involved, their employers and the amounts due.

Clark Maser, attorney who represented the league, said that "hundreds of thousands of dollars" are due under the ruling.

Apollo Highway

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan proposed Friday that Interstate 5 through California be named the "Apollo Highway" in honor of the three astronauts who made the first manned moon landing.

Forecast for Sunday

Your birthday today. It's the year to recognize a major adventure in your special interest. Dramatic events can be brought off well. Your friends will help you to be more prudent than normal, perhaps because you can see more of its uses now. Today's natives have a knack for intelligent research, usually in the quest for philosophic truth.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Spend this Sunday as a day of worship, rest, and recreation. Where possible, be outdoors. Take congenial friends with you.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): You probably become involved in rising up your home, and the whole day is spent before you notice. The results are worth the effort.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Take your share in the community expression of faith, then try to find the last exhausting path through this busy Sunday. Brevity has something for you in share, mostly activity.

CANCER (June 21-July 21): Now comes a transition period in which new ideas are not firmly enough set and old ties are not firmly lapsed. Meditation is of help, but does not seem enough at the moment.

LEO (July 22-Aug. 22): Clear away any chores in the early hours then take the easiest course through the day. Stay with a healthy, hearty program.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): The outdoors is best today. Watch some sports events, or travel about a bit. Friends may finally bring out some problem of long standing for your first insight into the new in your relations with them.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Do your share of the community expression of faith, then take off visiting, making useful contacts. Make a full day of it.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Move to consolidate your interests and activities. Bring important people together. Put in some time making plans, considering alternatives.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): You are apt to find yourself spending the whole day reorganizing your home and the people about it.

IMPROVEMENTS.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Let your personality shine forth today and discover the reactions you may be surprised that others respond to warmly. The afternoon and evening are favored for serious study, research, and philosophic thought.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): This Sunday is primarily a day of sociability for you. Plan surprises for friends. Do find time, however, to get some rest in the middle of the day.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): The temptation is to let yourself be drawn into a quarrel between some old acquaintances — you cannot win in this situation, so stay out from the start.

MORE THAN $177.5 MILLION

Orange Co. Adopts 'Record' Budget

By BOB GEIVET
Staff Writer

A record budget of more than $177.5 million has been adopted by the Orange County Board of Supervisors for the 1969-70 fiscal year.

In 10 days of hearing, the Board — deleting a few items, adding several more — produced a budget which can be financed with the present tax rate of $1.68 per $100 of assessed valuation.

Major increases in the current budget include more than $4.5 million in salary hikes, $1 million for beach acquisition and $540,000 in a contingency fund for civic center developments.

The exact budget total was unknown to supervisors, because of changes in the preliminary budget submitted June 25.

In addition to the $177.5 million budget, the county's taxpayers will spend about $4 million for the Orange County Harbor District, and another $18 million for flood control. These two items have separate tax rates — the harbor will be about eight cents and flood control will need 33.5 cents.

The overall budget shows an increase of more than 15 per cent over the fiscal year which ended June 1. Most budget items showed greater increases: Flood control is up 61 per cent, the hospital is up about 25 per cent and salaries are up about eight per cent.

The County Public Library outlay will be almost $3.5 million and will be financed by a tax rate of 17 cents, which applies to rural areas only. Structural fire protection, with a $1 million budget, also applies only to rural areas.

Attack on Go-Go Girl Nets Ex-Deputy Year

A former Orange County deputy sheriff, convicted of attempting to attack a go-go dancer, has been sentenced to a year in jail, Thursday to a year in jail, Santa Ana Superior Court.

Judge William C. Spiers ordered Carl P. Kulyk, 28, of Garden Grove, to serve the sentence in the Newport Beach city jail.

Judge Spiers made the unusual stipulation because several inmates now in the Orange County Jail in Santa Ana, were incarcerated by Kulyk while he was an officer. For Kulyk's personal safety, the judge deemed it prudent he serve the sentence in another jail.

Kulyk — in uniform — was arrested Feb. 18 outside the dancer's apartment, where she claimed she was accosted by the former officer. Her screams awakened her daughter, who called police.

Stadium Tax Round Won by Anaheim

The City of Anaheim has won the right to intervene in a suit filed by the California Angels against a possessory interest assessment on which annual taxes of $210,000 will be due.

Anaheim became involved because under its contract leasing Anaheim Stadium to the Angels — the city must pay all such taxes.

County Assessor Andrew J. Hinshaw moved to levy taxes on the stadium because it was built by an authority, then leased to the city.

Unable to make that move, he turned to the possessory interest valuation of office space and furnishings used by the Golden West Baseball Club Inc., which operates the Angels.

INFLATION WILL DELAY HIKING TRAIL

From Our L.A. Bureau

Inflation will delay for months construction of hiking trail underpasses in the Lakeview and Bellflower areas.

Both were to have been built along the San Gabriel River, one at Alondra Boulevard, Bellflower, the other at Carson Street in Lakewood.

County Engineer John Lambie is preparing new plans because the lowest bid was more than twice the official estimate.

"We figured these underpasses would cost about $18,000," Lambie said. "When we opened the bids last May, we found that the lowest was $37,899. The high bid was $42,000."

OFFICIALS said inflation was a major factor in boosting the asking price for the project, but another was the difficult site considerations.

The Board of Supervisors used their legal authority to "reject any and all bids." The question then was whether to advertise for new offers or to take other measures.

Since there were last-minute changes in the plans to make the underpasses compatible with anticipated street improvements, the board instructed Lambie to redesign the project.

The trail eventually will run from Long Beach to the San Gabriel Mountains.

Orange Co. Airport Fee Hikes Eyed

User fees at the Orange County Airport may be hiked, in line with the county's policy of making the facility self-supporting.

The Airport Commission has sent to the Board of Supervisors for study a list of recommendations for increased charges, and said they are in line with charges elsewhere.

Passenger planes would pay landing fees on the basis of 20 cents per thousand pounds of weight, instead of the present 15 cents.

FOR EXAMPLE, Air California's Boeing 727 jets, weighing 95,000 pounds, would pay a landing fee of $190 instead of the present charge of $142.50, said aviation Director Robert J. Bresnahan.

Commercial planes do not pay fuel flowage fees, and the commission recommended the exemption be continued. Flowage fees for private aircraft, however, would be increased from two cents to three cents per gallon. Oil fees would be upped 10 cents per gallon-double the present rate.

TIE DOWN charges for small aircraft, now $20 per month, would remain unchanged, but twin-engine planes would be charged $30 for their space.

Bresnahan estimated the higher rates would yield $940,000 annual revenue. Such charges brought in $898,000 last fiscal year. — By Bob Geivet.

GARDENING

The longer one has Raphiolepis growing in his garden, the more the gardener becomes impressed with them. First, hardly any pests we know of bother them. The foliage being a dark dull green is unobtrusive. Possible alkali soil conditions, underwatering or overwatering doesn't seem to cause the leafage to change that even color, yet a person is conscious of them. They don't require any fussy pruning except a little annual shaping, but happiest of all they burgeon forth in the spring with masses of attractive (mostly) pink or white blossoms.

One of the plantings, an outdoor planter-box unit of a business building is surrounded on three sides by a dark gray marble-like wall in front and sides, with white glazed brick wall back of the plants. They stand all the boiling, broiling (west exposure) afternoon sunshine and reflected heat from the brick wall. They are thriving there!

Some island plantings which are artistically landscaped feature the raphiolepis "Indian Hawthorne." Some of such plantings are surrounded by blacktop driveways or parking sectors, which means they have to take lots of sun and reflected heat.

FINAL COMMENTS about Mexican primroses. Many of our column readers are truly friendly. They wrote us offering to give some of their plants to one of our readers because nurseries didn't have them.

We thought you'd like to share Vynola F. Limerick's interesting comments about her Mexican primroses and her offer. She writes, "tell your Mexican primrose (I have the enormous white Mexican poppy also) reader that I can supply him (or her) with a start of this plant."

"I brought my original plant from Oklahoma — 'the old country' — as my young Navy jet-pilot son facetiously called it before he flew his Panther plane into eternity."

"This tenacious plant grows along railroad tracks and other untended spots in Oklahoma. To me it is symbolic of an untrammeled childhood along with the glorious wild sunflower and the dainty prairie daisies."

"My little pioneer mother slipped a few 'polk' (I think that is the spelling) roots in her suitcase on a trip by air back to Oklahoma, so I also have the popular 'old country' plant."

"It is used as spinach and other green leaf vegetables. Our recipe is, soak it in salty water, lift and drain, fry in bacon grease, serve with a squeeze of lemon juice or a bit of vinegar. Great stuff!"

RAPHIOLEPIS . . . Impressive, Dependable

Garden Clinic

Address all questions to Garden Editor, Independent, Press-Telegram, 604 Pine Ave., Long Beach, Calif. 90801. No stamps or self-addressed envelopes, please. Answers are given only in this column.

By JOE LITTLEFIELD

Q. My camellia plant, growing beautifully in a tub, has a profusion of buds which turn black and drop off. What flowers do manage to bloom are blighted. The foliage seems to be normal. I feed it food and water regularly. Please tell me what is wrong?

A. I'm sure you mean gardenia plant, not a camellia, because camellias don't bloom during the summer season. Camellia buds don't blacken and drop off, gardenia buds do. This is due to the so-and-so very damaging thrips. Spray with an insecticide spray that lists "thrips" among other pests the spray controls. Thoroughly spray-drench all parts of the plant also the premoistened top of the soil.

Q. Please identify the enclosed leaves of a plant or tree. I have taken it to several nurseries, without success. It started to grow along the wall, has no flowers and is about five feet tall. Bigger branches are purplish in color. The trunk looks like it has a form of bark.

A. It is Myoporum, or a seedling form of it! When it flowers the blossoms are white color with purple spots. It grows as a bush or a very small tree up to about 15 feet tall. It is one of fewer shrubs that grow practically at the edge of the ocean and can stand the sea salt spray and winds. It is a fast grower, stands just about any kind of trimming or pruning. Your "laetum" variety is originally from New Zealand.

Q. Does one dry the ginger root of our flowering plants, to cook with it? A friend tells me her dad was advised to rock salt asparagus, to make it grow. I use rock salt to kill grass and weeds in the alley area. So I wonder, I've learned to water deep on the 1st, 10th, and 20th of the hot months with just overhead watering every few days and everything grows well.

Do It Now

Some plants such as gardenia, saxifrage, (bergenia) camellia and some other plants foliage look raggedly edged because of night feeding beetles that nibble circular edges of the foliage. Spray such pest-damaged plants with a stomach-type spray. Be sure to spray the soil and around those plants, too.

Premature leaf fall of trees may be due to lack of sufficient deep watering during the hot weather. It is claimed most deciduous trees have tremendous thirst during the hot growing season, soaking up from three to five barrels of water daily. Requirements of evergreens are much less.

Faded hydrangea blossoms should be cut back to within two nodes (buds) of previous cutback. Long, new current-season growth, branches, faded-flower heads should be cut back to within body shape outline of the bush.

Prune back climbing roses only of Paul Scarlet, Blaze, and Belle of Portugal so they'll develop new flowering wood for next year.

L.B. CLUB NOTES

It will be some years before you might have another opportunity to see the largest, showiest, most important National Dahlia Show in the whole country, yet you can see it August 2nd and 3rd at San Diego World famous Balboa Park, Conference Building, during San Diego's celebration of the 200th anniversary of the colonization of our state.

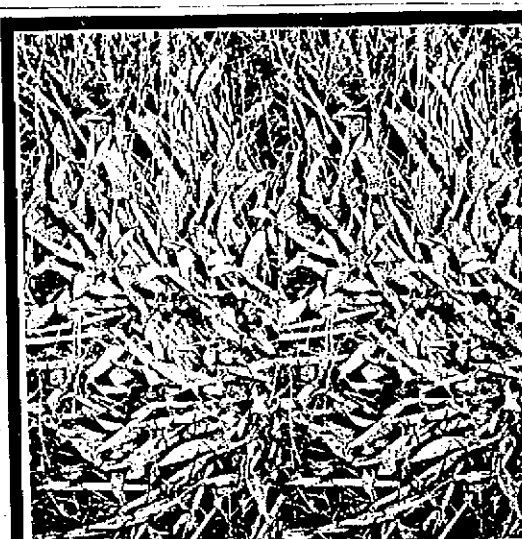

This National Dahlia Show, will be composed of the San Diego Dahlia Society which conducts annual shows the first week end of August; the American Dahlia Society; and the Pacific Southwest Dahlia Conference consisting of 11 Dahlia Societies.

Be sure to see this fabulous show, because you'll enjoy the beautiful dahlias of many colors, types, and forms. You'll have an opportunity to ask dahlia experts about their culture; then grow some of your own gorgeous dahlias.

Take along your pad and pencil because you'll want to jot down variety names of some of the showy flowers. Don't forget the flash attachment for your camera too! We'll see you at this National Dahlia Show! — Joe Littlefield.

Hate CRABGRASS? YOU'LL LOVE SCOTT'S CLOUT!

Just spread CLOUT on your lawn (grass or dichondra) and it's good-bye crabgrass. The ugly stuff starts to curl up and disappear within days. One or two follow-up applications at weekly intervals will polish it off completely. Yet CLOUT is kind to good grass and dichondra — lets it grow merrily on to fill in where the crabgrass was. Result? A thicker, handsomer lawn — without ugly crabgrass.

A father writes about his newspaperboy-son

Mr. Kirschner and Kevin

Mr. Daniel Kirschner, of La Mirada, Calif., happens to be a Deputy Probation Officer. He also is the father of a 13-year-old. If you are a parent you will want to read what he had to say.

Mr. Kirschner works with children and adults and should know whereof he speaks. Of his son's newspaper route he wrote: "This has assisted in Kevin's developing responsibility and maturity and will aid immeasurably in his future in the world of business."

He also said: "You may be interested in knowing that my son has used monies earned through newspaper delivery and collection to totally pay for Scouting program, including equipment, monthly dues, monthly campouts, and two-week-long term campout."

Isn't it remarkable that so many people who work with boys recommend a newspaper route as a wonderful business training for a boy. Which it is.

If your son is inclined to take on a route, it would be good to encourage him. Call our Circulation Department today. They will be glad to give you all the facts.

Orange Co. Adopts 'Record' Budget

By BOB GEIVET
Staff Writer

A record budget of more than $177.5 million has been adopted by the Orange County Board of Supervisors for the 1969-70 fiscal year.

In 10 days of hearing, the Board — deleting a few items, adding several more — produced a budget which can be financed with the present tax rate of $1.68 per $100 of assessed valuation.

Major increases in the current budget include more than $4.5 million in salary hikes, $1 million for beach acquisition and $540,000 in a contingency fund for civic center developments.

The exact budget total was unknown to supervisors, because of changes in the preliminary budget submitted June 25.

In addition to the $177.5 million budget, the county's taxpayers will spend about $4 million for the Orange County Harbor District, and another $13 million for flood control. These two items have separate tax rates — the harbor will be about eight cents and flood control will need 33.5 cents.

The overall budget shows an increase of more than 15 per cent over the fiscal year which ended June 1.

Most budget items showed greater increases: Flood control is up 61 per cent, the hospital is up about 25 per cent and salaries are up about eight per cent.

The County Public Library outlay will be almost $3.5 million and will be financed by a tax rate of 17 cents, which applies to rural areas only. Structural fire protection, with a $1 million budget, also applies only to rural areas.

Attack on Go-Go Girl Nets Ex-Deputy Year

A former Orange County deputy sheriff, convicted of attempting to attack a go-go dancer, has been sentenced to a year in jail, Thursday to a year in jail, Santa Ana Superior Court.

Stadium Tax Round Won by Anaheim

The City of Anaheim has won the right to intervene in a suit filed by the California Angels against a possessory interest assessment on which annual taxes of $210,000 will be due.

Anaheim became involved because under its contract leasing Anaheim Stadium to the Angels — the city must pay all such taxes.

County Assessor Andrew J. Hinshaw moved to levy taxes on the stadium because it was built by an authority, then leased to the city.

Unable to make that move, he turned to the possessory interest valuation of office space and furnishings used by the Golden West Baseball Club Inc., which operates the Angels.

INFLATION WILL DELAY HIKING TRAIL

From Our L.A. Bureau

Inflation will delay for months construction of hiking trail underpasses in the Lakewood and Bellflower areas.

Both were to have been built along the San Gabriel River, one at Alondra Boulevard, Bellflower, the other at Carson Street in Lakewood.

County Engineer John Lambie is preparing new plans because the lowest bid was more than twice the official estimate.

"We figured these underpasses would cost about $18,000," Lambie said. "When we opened the bids last May we found that the lowest was $37,800. The high bid was $42,000."

OFFICIALS said inflation was a major factor in boosting the asking price for the project, but another was the difficult site considerations.

The Board of Supervisors used their legal authority to "reject any and all bids." The question then was whether to advertise for new offers or to take other measures.

Since there were last-minute changes in the plans to make the underpasses compatible with anticipated street improvements, the board instructed Lambie to redesign the project.

The trail eventually will run from Long Beach to the San Gabriel Mountains.

Judge William C. Spiers ordered Carl P. Kulyk, 28, of Garden Grove, to serve the sentence in the Newport Beach city jail.

Judge Spiers made the unusual stipulation because several inmates now in the Orange County Jail in Santa Ana, were incarcerated by Kulyk while he was an officer. For Kulyk's personal safety, the judge deemed it prudent he serve the sentence in another jail.

Kulyk — in uniform — was arrested Feb. 13 outside the dancer's apartment, where she claimed she was accosted by the former officer. Her screams awakened her daughter, who called police.

Orange Co. Airport Fee Hikes Eyed

User fees at the Orange County Airport may be hiked, in line with the county's policy of making the facility self-supporting.

The Airport Commission has sent to the Board of Supervisors for study a list of recommendations for increased charges, and said they are in line with charges elsewhere.

Passenger planes would pay landing fees on the basis of 20 cents per thousand pounds of weight, instead of the present 15 cents.

FOR EXAMPLE, Air California's Boeing 727 jets, weighing 95,000 pounds, would pay a landing fee of $190 instead of the present charge of $142.50, said aviation Director Robert J. Bresnahan.

Commercial planes do not pay fuel flowage fees, and the commission recommended the exemption be continued. Flowage fees for private aircraft, however, would be increased from two cents to three cents per gallon. Oil fees would be upped 10 cents per gallon-double the present rate.

TIE DOWN charges for small aircraft, now $20 per month, would remain unchanged, but twin-engine planes would be charged $30 for their space.

GARDENING

The longer one has Raphiolepis growing in his garden, the more the gardener becomes impressed with them. First, hardly any pests we know of bother them. The foliage being a dark dull green is unobtrusive. Possible alkali soil conditions, underwatering or overwatering doesn't seem to cause the leafage to change that even color, yet a person is conscious of them. They don't require any fussy pruning except a little annual shaping, but happiest of all they burgeon forth in the spring with masses of attractive (mostly) pink or white blossoms.

One of the plantings, an outdoor planter-box unit of a business building is surrounded on three sides by a dark gray marble-like wall in front and sides, with white glazed brick wall back of the plants. They stand all the boiling, broiling (west exposure) afternoon sunshine and reflected heat from the brick wall. They are thriving there!

Some island plantings which are artistically landscaped feature the raphiolepis "Indian Hawthorne." Some of such plantings are surrounded by blacktop driveways or parking sectors, which means they have to take lots of sun and reflected heat.

FINAL COMMENTS about Mexican primroses. Many of our column readers are truly friendly. They wrote us offering to give some of their plants to one of our readers because nurseries didn't have them.

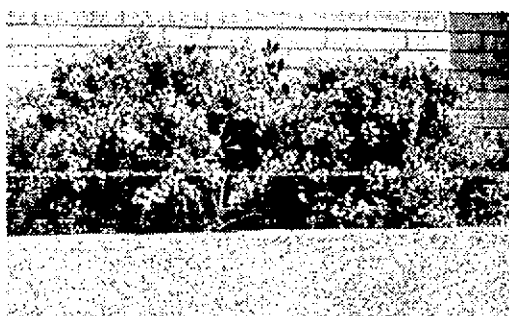

We thought you'd like to share Vynola F. Limerick's interesting comments about her Mexican primrose and her offer. She writes: "tell your Mexican primrose (I have the enormous white Mexican poppy also) reader that I can supply him (or her) with a start of this plant."

"I brought my original plant from Oklahoma — 'the old country' — as my young Navy jet-pilot son facetiously called it before he flew his Panther plane into eternity.

"This tenacious plant grows along railroad tracks and other untended spots in Oklahoma. To me it is symbolic of an untrammeled childhood along with the glorious wild sunflower and the dainty prairie daisies.

"My little pioneer mother slipped a few 'polk' (I think that is the spelling) roots in her suitcase on a trip by air back to Oklahoma, so I also have the popular 'old country' plant.

"It is used as spinach and other green leaf vegetables. Our recipe is, soak it in salty water, lift and drain, fry in bacon grease, serve with a squeeze of lemon juice or a bit of vinegar. Great stuff!

By JOE LITTLEFIELD

Q. My camellia plant, growing beautifully in a tub, has a profusion of buds which turn black and drop off. What flowers do manage to bloom are blighted. The foliage seems to be normal. I feed it food and water regularly. Please tell me what is wrong?

A. I'm sure you mean gardenia plant, not a camellia, because camellias don't bloom during the summer season. Camellia buds don't blacken and drop off, gardenia buds do. This is due to the so-and-so very damaging thrips. Spray with an insecticide spray that lists "thrips" among other pests the spray controls. Thoroughly spray-drench all parts of the plant also the premoistened top of the soil.

Q. Please identify the enclosed leaves of a plant or tree. I have taken it to several nurseries without success. It started to grow along the wall, has no flowers and is about five feet tall. Bigger branches are purplish in color. The trunk looks like it has a form of bark.

A. It is Myoporum, or a seedling form of it! When it flowers the blossoms are white color with purple spots. It grows as a bush or a very small tree up to about 15 feet tall. It is one of fewer shrubs that grow practically at the edge of the ocean and can stand the sea salt spray and winds. It is a fast grower, stands just about any kind of trimming or pruning. Your "laetum" variety is originally from New Zealand.

Do It Now

Some plants such as gardenia, saxifrage, (bergenia) cannellia and some other plants foliage look raggedy edged because of night feeding beetles that nibble circular edges of the foliage. Spray such pest-damaged plants with a stomach-type spray. Be sure to spray the soil and around those plants, too.

Premature leaf fall of trees may be due to lack of sufficient deep watering during the hot weather. It is claimed most deciduous trees have tremendous thirst during the hot growing season, soaking up from three to five barrels of water daily. Requirements of evergreens are much less.

Faded hydrangea blossoms should be cut back to within two nodes (buds) of previous cutback. Long, new current-season growth, branches, faded-flower heads should be cut back to within bud shape outline of the bush.

L.B. CLUB NOTES

It will be some years before you might have another opportunity to see the largest, showiest, most important National Dahlia Show in the whole country, yet you can see it August 2nd and 3rd at San Diego World famous Balboa Park, Conference Building, during San Diego's celebration of the 200th anniversary of the colonization of our state.

This National Dahlia Show, will be composed of the San Diego Dahlia Society which conducts annual shows the first week end of August; the American Dahlia Society; and the Pacific Southwest Dahlia Conference consisting of 11 Dahlia Societies.

Be sure to see this fabulous show, because you'll enjoy the beautiful dahlias of many colors, types, and forms. You'll have an opportunity to ask dahlia experts about their culture, then grow some of your own gorgeous dahlias.

Take along your pad and pencil because you'll want to jot down variety names of some of the showy flowers. Don't forget the flash attachment for your camera too! We'll see you at this National Dahlia Show! —Joe Littlefield.

DON'T FRIGHTEN THE HORSES

Stage Nudity Regarded as Jolly Good Fun in London

By TOM CULLEN
LONDON — (NEA) — The British attitude towards nudity in the theater can be summed up: "We don't care what you do as long as you don't frighten the horses."

British horses, it should be added, have very strong nerves, and don't frighten easily.

Stage nudity, in fact, is regarded here as strictly an American importation, and as such comes under the heading of "Strange Customs of Our Transatlantic Cousins."

Take "Hair," the American tribal rock musical, during which members of the cast strip under a huge canvas covering, then stand up stark naked in front of the audience. When this romp first opened here, it was freely predicted that police would intervene, presumably to stop the orgies if not the riots. Far from being shocked, London audiences thought "Hair" jolly good fun. It was even considered suitable entertainment for Princess Anne.

With "Hair" safely swallowed, London theatergoers next braced themselves for something called the Living Theater, another American import whose cast has the disconcerting habit of stripping to the buff at the drop of a G-string.

In this case, when members of the audience began to imitate the actors, and to pull off their shirts and trousers, the police did intervene, but not to stop the strip-teasing. No, the police were there to enforce fire regulations. It seems that, under British law, you are not allowed to take your clothes off standing up, for feared that you might block a fire exit.

The audience solved this problem neatly by ripping up the theater seats and piling them onto the stage.

Altogether Director Julian Beck, whose message is nonviolent anarchist revolution, is more than satisfied with the reception, which "The Living Theater" has met with in London. In Boston and Los Angeles they were closed down by police; in France they were booed onto the sidewalk by the mayor of Avignon; but in London the authorities have more or less turned a blind eye.

"The police haven't harassed us," Beck explains. "They've merely martineted us."

Actually Britain has its own tradition of stage nudity in the burlesque houses, which flourished here before the war. The rule then was that female nudes could be featured in artistic poses so long as they didn't move a muscle while the spotlight played upon them. If there was so much as a single wiggle the tripper could be arrested for indecent exposure.

After a run of several centuries, stage censorship was abolished here last year as a gesture to Britain's brave, new permissive society.

Horenstein, Szeryng Provide Treasurable Moments at Bowl

By DANIEL CARIAGA
Music Critic

Jack Horenstein concluded his two-event debut visit to Hollywood Bowl with a Brahms concert Thursday night. It was a happy occasion marred only by the smallness of the audience.

The First Symphony, which closed the program, served as a sunning-up of Horenstein's week in front of the Los Angeles Philharmonic; it was given a reading alternately spacious and sluggish.

THE INNER movements, for example, were allowed

all their lyric expression (and were accorded some lush playing from the Philharmonic's upper strings) and natural balances. In the projection of these subtleties, the conductor had superior cooperation both from the orchestra and from the Bowl's revitalized sound department. Recognizing a good thing, Horenstein left well enough alone. The result was treasurable.

Unfortunately, he left things alone in the outer portions of the symphony, also, with less happy results. Both movements tended to sound amorphous and sprawling rather than directional and compelling. The playing was more than respectable, but we went away a little disappointed nonetheless.

Before the intermission, there was similar respectability in the orchestra's playing of the Academic Festival Overture, and the bonus of Henryk Szeryng's elegant and definitive reading of the Violin Concerto.

Horenstein is hardly the most sympathetic collaborator a soloist can ask, but he did see eye-to-eye (ear-to-ear?) with Szeryng considerably more often than he had with John Browning two nights earlier.

Consequently, we missed none of the built-in spaciousness of the work, nor any of its architectural features. And, at the same time, we were hearing every note of its solo part perfectly, neatly, inexorably in place.

Szeryng is Clark Kent with a fiddle: perhaps the greatest violinist of this generation, disguised as a modest, mild-mannered, unpretentious touring soloist. Hollywood Bowl should have been packed for his appearance.

MOVIE GUIDE

As a guide to moviegoers, this newspaper on Wednesdays and Saturdays lists capsule contents of major motion pictures playing the Long Beach area. Most classifications represent the judgment of the Film Board of National Organizations.

THE MALTESE BIPPY — Rowan and Martin make their motion picture debut in an amusing comedy romp with a family of werewolves. (G)

GOODBYE, COLUMBUS — An early Philip Roth novella was the base for this sometimes compassionate, sometimes ruthless story of librarian Richard Benjamin's romance with wealthy college girl Ali MacGraw. (R)

WINNING — Sports car racer Paul Newman spends more time on the speedway than at his home, so his wife, Joanne Woodward, seeks solace elsewhere. (M)

PETER PAN — Walt Disney's re-issued animated version of James Barrie's eternal tale of a little boy with magical powers battling pirate Captain Hook in Never-Never Land. (G)

OLIVER — Fagin's gang of young hooligans star in this lavish musical that has won six academy awards, including best picture of the year. (G)

RATINGS:
G — Recommended for general audiences of all ages.

M — Suggested for mature audiences, adults and young people.

Stage Nudity Regarded as Jolly Good Fun in London

By TOM CULLEN

LONDON — (NEA) — The British attitude towards nudity in the theater can be summed up: "We don't care what you do as long as you don't frighten the horses."

British horses, it should be added, have very strong nerves, and don't frighten easily.

Stage nudity, in fact, is regarded here as strictly an American importation, and as such comes under the heading of "Strange Customs of Our Transatlantic Cousins."

Take "Hair," the American tribal rock musical, during which members of the cast strip under a huge canvas covering, then stand up stark naked in front of the audience. When this romp first opened here, it was freely predicted that police would intervene, presumably to stop the orgies if not the riots. Far from being shocked, London audiences thought "Hair" jolly good fun. It was even considered suitable entertainment for Princess Anne.

With "Hair" safely swallowed, London theatergoers next braced themselves for something called the Living Theater, another American import whose cast has the disconcerting habit of stripping to the buff at the drop of a G-string.

In this case, when members of the audience began to imitate the actors, and to pull off their shirts and trousers, the police did intervene, but not to stop the strip-teasing. No, the police were there to enforce fire regulations. It seems that, under British law, you are not allowed to take your clothes off standing up, for fear that you might block a fire exit.

The audience solved this problem neatly by ripping up the theater seats and piling them onto the stage.

Altogether Director Julian Beck, whose message is nonviolent anarchist revolution, is more than satisfied with the reception which The Living Theater has met with in London. In Boston and Los Angeles they were closed down by police; in France they were booted onto the sidewalk by the mayor of Avignon; but in London the authorities have more or less turned a blind eye.

"The police haven't harassed us," Beck explains. "They've merely martineted us."

Actually Britain has its own tradition of stage nudity in the burlesque houses, which flourished here before the war. The rule then was that female nudes could be featured in artistic poses so long as they didn't move a muscle while the spotlight played upon them. If there was so much as a single wiggle the tripper could be arrested for indecent exposure.

After a run of several centuries, stage censorship was abolished here last year as a gesture to Britain's brave, new permissive society.

Horenstein, Szeryng Provide Treasurable Moments at Bowl

By DANIEL CARIAGA Music Critic

Jacha Horenstein concluded his two-event debut visit to Hollywood Bowl with a Brahms concert Thursday night. It was a happy occasion marred only by the smallness of the audience.

The First Symphony, which closed the program, served as a summing-up of Horenstein's week in front of the Los Angeles Philharmonic; it was given a reading alternately spacious and sluggish.

THE INNER movements, for example, were allowed

all their lyric expression (and were accorded some lush playing from the Philharmonic's upper strings) and natural balances. In the projection of these subtleties, the conductor had superior cooperation both from the orchestra and from the Bowl's revitalized sound department. Recognizing a good thing, Horenstein left well enough alone. The result was treasurable.

Unfortunately, he left things alone in the outer portions of the symphony, also, with less happy results. Both movements tended to sound amorphous and sprawling rather than directional and compelling. The playing was more than respectable, but we went away a little disappointed nonetheless.

Before the intermission, there was similar respectability in the orchestra's playing of the Academic Festival Overture, and the bonus of Henryk Szeryng's elegant and definitive reading of the Violin Concerto.

Horenstein is hardly the most sympathetic collaborator a soloist can ask, but he did see eye-to-eye (ear-to-ear?) with Szeryng considerably more often than he had with John Browning two nights earlier.

Consequently, we missed none of the built-in spaciousness of the work, nor any of its architectural features. And, at the same time, we were hearing

MOVIE GUIDE

As a guide to moviegoers, this newspaper on Wednesdays and Saturdays lists capsule contents of major motion pictures playing the Long Beach area. Most classifications represent the judgment of the Film Board of National Organizations.

THE MALTESE BIPPY — Rowan and Martin make their motion picture debut in an amusing comedy romp with a family of werewolves. (G)

GOODBYE, COLUMBUS — An early Philip Roth novella was the base for this sometimes compassionate, sometimes at times of librarian Richard Benjamin's romance with wealthy college girl Ali MacGraw. (R)

WINNING — Sports car racer Paul Newman spends more time on the speedway than at his home, so his wife, Joanne Woodward, seeks solace elsewhere. (M)

PETER PAN — Walt Disney's re-issued animated version of James Barrie's eternal tale of a little boy with magical powers battling pirate Captain Hook in Never-Never Land. (G)

OLIVER — Fagin's gang of young hooligans star in this lavish musical that has won six academy awards, including best picture of the year. (G)

ROMEO AND JULIET — Inspired performances by two youngsters as the lovers of Verona, spirited direction by Franco Zeffirelli and Oscar-winning cinematography of the original "West Side Story." (G)

RATINGS: G — Recommended for general audiences of all ages. M — Suggested for mature audiences, adults and young people. R — Restricted, persons under 16 not admitted unless accompanied by parent or adult guardian. X — Persons under 16 not admitted.

LADY IS AN UMPIRE

NEW YORK (AP)—A Long Island housewife won a three-year fight with organized baseball Friday and got a job as an umpire.

Bernice Gera, 37, of Jackson Heights, N.Y., said she had received notice to report for work in the Class A New York-Pennsylvania League.

"I am thrilled to death," Bernice said. "Now I must go out and prove myself. I see no reason why women shouldn't be able to umpire baseball as well as men."

Thwarted at every turn in efforts to break into a profession which had been restricted to men, Mrs. Gera filed a suit against the N.Y.-Penn League, charging discrimination.

The league capitulated before the matter could be determined legally.

"I am sure some day we will have women umpires in the big leagues — and I hope to be the first," Bernice said.

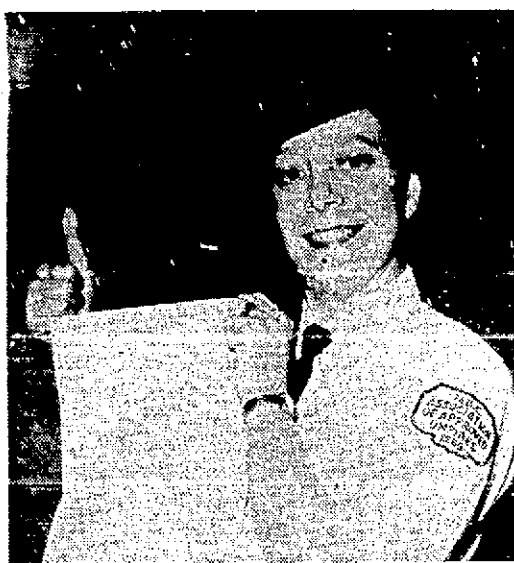

Mrs. Gera first got a diploma from an umpiring school in West Palm Beach, Fla. — the first woman ever to do so — and then did some umpiring in the National Baseball Congress while applying for a chance in organized ball.

She wrote every league in the minors. Bernice tried out in Florida and ran into minor difficulties.

"I had a little trouble adjusting the breast protector," she said. "It wasn't exactly made to fit me. And someone said I talked too much with the players. I was too friendly."

The president of the N.Y.-Penn League tried to discourage her, telling her that dressing quarters were not fit for a lady, and neither was the language of the players.

"I've umpired a lot of games; I don't think I could hear anything new," said Bernice.

It's Nifty 2-Hitter for Messersmith

By DAVE LEWIS Staff Writer

Just by looking at Andy Messersmith's 9-7 record in the cold statistics column, one wouldn't suspect that the Angel righthander has been one of the most effective pitchers in the major leagues for the past two months.

After losing his first five starts of the season, Messersmith has come back to win nine of his last 11.

The ninth victory came Friday night at the Big A when he hurled a masterful two-hit, 6-0 shutout against the New York Yankees before 11,220 fans.

ANDY MESSERSMITH tossed two-hitter in 6-0 victory over Yankees.

It was a tight pitching duel for seven innings between Messersmith and the Yanks' Fritz Peterson, who has been a nemesis for the Angels.

Peterson, who has beaten the Angels more times than any other club he has faced, pitched as well as he ever has against his California "cousins," but Messersmith messed him up but good.

The Yankee left-hander beat the Angels twice in May on three and five-hit performances to boost his career record against them to 8-1. His only loss, incidentally came three years ago.

He limited the Angels to five hits through seven innings before giving way for a pinch-hitter in the seventh. Then he watched the Angels break things wide open in the eighth when they bombed veteran reliever Lindy McDaniel for six hits and five runs.

It was the most hits the Angels have recorded in one inning this season.

The explosion was just icing on the cake, though. All Messersmith needed was the run he helped produce in the third inning.

With one out, first baseman Jim Spencer doubled off the right field fence, Messersmith moved him to third with a sharp single to left and he scored on a fielder's choice when Peterson fielded Alomar's bouncer to the left of the mound and went to second to force Andy.

Yankee base runners were scarce. In fact, there were only six all night. After Messersmith gave up a double and two walks in the first two innings, he faced the minimum number of 15 batters in the next five innings before giving up the only other hit a double by Jake Gibbs in the eighth. Andy yielded walks to the leadoff batters in both the sixth and seventh innings, but they were quickly wiped out by double plays.

It wasn't until June 3 that Messersmith finally snapped his losing streak and registered his first victory at the expense of the Tigers.

In the 89 innings he has pitched from that date, he's recorded an impressive ERA of 1.61. He has given up just 16 earned runs in this stretch.

"Messersmith is one great athlete, declared manager Lefty Phillips after the game. "He can field, run the bases like a regular and can handle the bat. I'm very proud of him."

"He's a good student and has learned to be a pitcher this season. He mixes up his pitches now and when he's behind, he isn't afraid to rely on his breaking stuff."

"But he ought to save some of those runs for his roommate," Lefty laughed as he referred to the ninth-inning rally. Andy's roommate is Tom Murphy, who dropped a 3-1 decision to the Yanks Thursday night.

With Peterson out of their hair in the bottom of the eighth, the Angel hitters had a field day.

They loaded the bases with none out on singles by Spencer and Alomar and a walk to Messersmith. Jay Johnstone then drove in two runs with a single, while Alomar scored the

Osteen Thwarts Jinx, Cubs Fall to Dodgers

By GORDON VERRELL Staff Writer

CHICAGO — Claude Osteen and consistency go hand in hand. Now the Dodger left-hander would like to be inconsistent and win 20 games.

Since coming to the Dodgers in the celebrated Frank Howard swap, Claude's earned run figures vary only a smidgen, and his win total has been consistently good.

But he's never won 20

DODGER OF DAY
BILL SUDAKIS homered and singled twice in Dodgers' 4-2 win over Chicago.

games, a target he's set for himself once again in 1969.

Osteen took a huge stride toward his first 20-victory season Friday with a 4-2 nod over Chicago, his 13th win of the year.

"That 13th win has never come easy for me," the Tennessee-born lefty was saying while soaking his pitching arm in ice after the game.

No. 13 was a struggle again this season. The Cubs lashed out 13 hits and had runners in every inning except one.

But when it was over Osteen had his 13th win and the Dodgers had clipped their mild losing streak at three, thanks to Bill Sudakis' first home run in nearly two months, his two singles and Andy Kosco's pinch double that chased home two runs.

"I'm not at all superstitious about that 13th win," Osteen continued. "I'm really not aware of it. But every time I've won that many (this is the fifth time) it's always so tough to get."

"The thing that bothered me this time was the three-day All-Star break. Those three days off really killed me. I ran some Thursday and thought I was going to pass out. I guess when you get used to doing something every day and then stop for a day or two it's hard to get going again."

Osteen managed to get into some kind of difficulty just about every inning but he also managed to work his way free.

Sudakis enjoyed his biggest day in weeks and he also paid the price. He was plunked in the middle of the back his final time to the plate by former Dodger Phil Regan.

Sudsy wasn't happy about it. He went down in a heap, but bounded up and glared at Regan while walking slowly to first base.

Sudakis last hit a home run May 31 but he nailed this one, a shot off Hank Aguirre that cleared the Cubs' famed Bleacher Bums in left-centerfield. Sudsy, who lives in nearby Joliet, Ill., also pelted two singles, one of them good for a run, and walked.

"He tried to brush me back," Sudakis said when asked about the pitch. He was hardly convincing, but he refused to get into a debate on whether or not Regan was zeroing in on him.

The Cubs picked up a run in the first inning but the Dodgers jumped Ferguson Jenkins and Aguirre for two in the third and led the rest of the way. Jenkins left in the third when he was struck on the right thumb by a liner off Willie Crawford's bat.

Kosco, who lost a fly ball in the sun Thursday that led to a Cub victory, quickly redeemed himself with a two-run double. Sudakis homered to lead off the fourth and then singled in the fourth run in the fifth inning.

The Cubs kicked up a stir in the eighth and Walt Alston summoned relief whiz Jim Brewer to bail Osteen out of the tight spot and post his 16th save of the season.

"Brewer has been fantastic relieving me," Osteen praised. "I know if I can go out and pitch six or seven strong innings he's going to go out there and save it. It's a great feeling."

Last year, his first sub-.500 season since arriving in L.A., Osteen was 12-18 and in the 18 losses the Dodgers scored the grand total of 22 runs.

"I've had that opportunity to win 20 games several times now," he smiled. "Doggone it, maybe this is the year."

DODGER DINGS: Precautionary X-rays were ordered for Ferguson Jenkins after he was removed from the game. He was struck on the right thumb by a Willie Crawford line drive in the third inning. There appeared to be no break and the injury was not believed serious, but the Cubs weren't taking any chances. Bill Sinner (13-7) is billed to start today for the Dodgers, opposing Chicago's Dick Salts (10-4). Sinner's probable opponent is Don Drysdale (4-3), either Bill Hands (11-8) or Dick Nye (0-4) for the Cubs. It's a Drysdale's first start since July 3. He says his ailing shoulder feels fine and he's anxious to give it a test. Hands stayed home from the park Friday, a victim of strep throat.

Tommy Hutton arrived from Spokane late Thursday night and was in the starting lineup with the Dodgers Friday. He replaces Wes Parker on the active roster. Wes is in a Chicago hospital recovering from his appendicitis operation Thursday morning. He'll stay here until Thursday when he'll fly home to L.A. Several players visited him Friday night. Billy Grabarkewitz is also here, taking Jim Lefebvre's spot on the roster while Frenchy attends two weeks of military camp.

Billy Williams ran his hitting streak to 14 games. Don Kessinger hit safely in his fourth game in a row and his 22nd in his last 25 games.

Namath Tosses Scrimmage TD

HEMPSTEAD, N.Y. (AP) — Joe Namath returned to pro football combat Friday night in a full-scale scrimmage at the New York Jets training camp.

Namath played only the first quarter before 10,000 fans and completed four of 10 passes for 73 yards, including a 22-yarder to Don Maynard for a touchdown.

Realign Leagues — Finley

Game Too 'Stupid' to Accept Change

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — Charles O. Finley proposed Thursday that the major leagues realign along more geographical lines to save money and intensify rivalries, but said baseball probably would be too "stupid" to go along.

The flamboyant owner of the Oakland Athletics, in a telephone interview with the Milwaukee Sentinel, said he would like to see his team in a division with the five other West Coast teams — the Padres, Dodgers, Angels, Giants and Pilots.

Then you could take the Eastern clubs and put them in another division," Finley said. "There would be two other divisions — the Midwest and the other you could call anything."

"Look at one of the rivalries you could create — the Mets against the Yankees, White Sox and Cubs, Oakland and San Francisco. You'd have all kinds of combinations."

"But baseball is stupid. That sort of realignment sounds too logical for it to be accepted."

Finley's proposal would involve mixing some teams now in the American League with some in the National, but said the savings in transportation costs would be tremendous. He said he saved $97,000 in transportation last year when he moved his Athletics to Oakland from Kansas City.

He also would like to see rescheduling of the World Series so that more fans could see it on television.

His idea is for the first two games to be played on Saturday and Sunday afternoons. Monday would be an off day and the third and fourth games would be played Tuesday and Wednesday nights in prime time.

FEAST YOUR EYES ON THIS LITTLE SNACK

NEW YORK (AP) — In honor of national sandwich month, the New York Mets will try to sandwich a twilight doubleheader with the Houston Astros, Tuesday at Shea Stadium.

Bud Harrelson, Ed Kranepool and two Met pitchers will accept a six-foot sandwich that might come in handy before the night is over.

The event has been arranged by the U.S. Department of Agriculture as part of its Plentiful Foods Program. They didn't say what kind of sandwich it would be.

Jackson Handles Houston

HOUSTON (UPI) — Southpaw Grant Jackson, who had never beaten the Houston Astros, pitched a seven-hitter Friday night to lead the Philadelphia Phillies to a 7-3 triumph over the Astros.

Jackson, having the best season of his career, evened his record at 10-10 while striking out eight and walking only two. The Astros' runs were on Doug Rader's two-run homer in the sixth.

The Phillies took a 2-0 lead on a pair of unearned runs in the fourth and light-hitting Don Money singled across what proved to be the deciding run in the sixth.

Reggie Blasts 38th Tallies No. 15

OAKLAND (AP) — Reggie Jackson blasted his 38th homer of the season with a runner on base in the seventh inning, giving the Oakland A's a 4-3 victory over the Washington Senators Friday night.

Jackson's homer came off All-Star reliever Darold Knowles, who had replaced starter Barry Moore after Joe Rudi reached first on an error with two outs.

Knowles had a 2-1 count on Jackson when he whacked a 400-foot drive into the right field bleachers.

Chuck Dobson, who left the game for a pinch-hitter in the seventh, picked up his 12th victory against seven losses. He gave up six hits before giving way to Rottio Fingers in the eighth.

The victory was the ninth in 10 games for Oakland and Washington's seventh defeat in eight outings.

Carew Double Decider

CLEVELAND (AP) — Rod Carew popped a two-out, two-run bloop double to left field in the 16th inning, lifting the Minnesota Twins to a 4-2 victory over the Cleveland Indians Friday night.

Carew's double followed a leadoff walk to Harmon Killebrew and a one out double by Leo Cardenas. Horacio Pina relieved loser Mike Paul (2-8), who had blanked the Twins since the ninth, and got the next batter on a grounder before Carew delivered.

third run on Bobby Murcer's throwing error from right field.

As the Yankees tried to round up the loose ball, Johnson tried to make it to third but was out on a close play. A single by Rick Reichardt, a triple by Jim Fregosi and an error by Horace Clarke produced the final two runs.

ANGEL NOTES: Jim McCallister (5-9) draws the rugged assignment tonight of trying to keep Yankee ace Mel Stottlemyre (14-7) in the game. Hoyt Wilhelm will spend his second consecutive birthday in the bullpen at the 6th hour, but in a different uniform. Last year he was the Chicago White Sox. Wilhelm will be 46 today. BOB GIBSON Scores Winning Run

Expos Nip Braves on 3 Homers

ATLANTA (AP) — Montreal's Bob Bailey slammed a three-run homer in the first inning and Coco Laboy followed with a solo shot, pointing the Expos to an 8-7 victory over Atlanta despite Hank Aaron's 536th career home run Friday night.

Aaron's 26th homer run of the season tied him for third place on the all-time list with Mickey Mantle behind Babe Ruth and Willie Mays.

Montreal opened with singles by Adolpho Phillips and Mack Jones and the two home runs for a 4-0 lead in the first inning against Atlanta ace Phil Niekro.

Gibson Gains 12th Win

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Bob Gibson pitched a six-hitter, striking out 11 then singled and came around to score St. Louis' winning run as the Cardinals edged San Francisco 2-1 in 13 innings Friday night for his 12th win.

Gibson opened the 13th with his second hit of the night and moved to second on a wild pitch by Frank Linzy, who took over for Gaylord Perry at the start of the inning.

Phil Gagliano then beat out an infield hit, moving Gibson to third and the St. Louis ace trotted home with the winning run on Curt Flood's single.

Vada Pinson, who extended his hitting streak to 16 games, drove in the first Cardinal run in the first inning after Lou Brock opened with a walk and then stole his 35th base of the season.

The Giants scored in the top of the first on two hits off Gibson. Dave Marshall singled and went to third on Ron Hunt's single to right. Marshall scored on a fielder's choice.

McLain Tallies No. 15

DETROIT (AP) — Denny McLain became the first pitcher in the American League to win 15 games this season, hurling the Detroit Tigers by the Kansas City Royals 3-0 Friday night with a six-hitter.

McLain, who upped his record to 15-5, duelled Royals' starter and loser Roger Nelson for four innings before Detroit pushed across a run in the fifth on Al Kaline's sacrifice fly.

McLain received scattered boos when he took the field at the start of the game, apparently because of his recent publicized dispute with fellow Tiger pitcher Mickey Lolich over a plane ride home which McLain didn't give Lolich after Wednesday's All-Star game. The tiff has since been patched up by the two pitchers.

Detroit's first run came on a single by Tom Tresh, a single by Jim Northrup, who had four hits, and Kaline's fly.

The Tigers picked up two runs off reliever Dick Drago in the seventh. Ike Brown opened with a single and took second on McLain's bunt. Mickey Stanley singled him home and took second on the throw to the infield. He stole third and scored when third baseman Paul Schaal missed catcher Buck Martinez's attempted pickoff throw.

John F. Kennedy Jr. spent recent afternoon at Robert F. Kennedy Stadium in Washington, D.C., and like any young man, he was as interested in gift balloons as in the Senators. Below, it's back to the ball game, the balloon has headed for the moon.

Nicklaus Fashions 66, Leads by Stroke

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Big Jack Nicklaus, his awesome game once again in harness, blasted out his second consecutive 66 Friday and stormed into the 36-hole lead in the $125,000 American Golf Classic.

Ambitious Bobby Mitchell, who shared the first-round lead, broke the course record for 36 holes, shooting a two-under-par 63 in a morning round for 133, seven under par on the gigantic 7,130-yard par 70 south course at the Firestone County Club.

That mark stood for only three hours before falling again in the face of Nicklaus' overwhelming display. Big Jack finished at 132.

The Golden Bear, trailing Mitchell by three strokes as he started play, birdied the first hole by sinking a 214-foot putt. He then registered an eagle three on No. 2 with a drive, four iron, and a 20-foot putt.

Nicklaus slipped to eight-under-par with a 25-foot putt on the fifth hole, but bogeyed No. 9 to finish three-under 32 at the turn.

Nicklaus had eight pars and just one birdie on the backside, that coming on the 11th hole. He had several more chances at birdies, but left his putts short of the cup.

Mitchell, who has failed to make the cut in his last two tourney starts, begun Thursday with four persons following his play, including two members of his family. However, when he teed off Friday the crowd had swelled to several hundred.

Still it was nowhere the number of people that paced behind Nicklaus. Jack's pack was out in full force.

Mitchell's round included six birdies against four bogeys. This is his first look at Firestone and despite the record round, he was still impressed with the course.

"I didn't expect to really play this well. The course is just as difficult as I thought it would be," he said.

Arnold Palmer rallied from an opening round 75 for a two-under 68 and survived the cutoff. However, not so fortunate were former Masters champion Bob Goalby, Bruce Crampton, Charlie Sifford, Bunky Henry and Lee Elder, who lost the championship to Nicklaus in last year's sudden-death playoff.

Snead Holds Canada Lead

Combined News Services

Unbelievable Sam Snead gave par another trouncing Friday in the Canadian Open Golf Championship, and at the half-way mark of the 72-hole tournament still held a one-stroke lead.

The easy-going, 57-year-old West Virginian fired a four-under-par 68, one stroke higher than he produced Thursday, for a 133, nine under.

Snead was in trouble only once, on the 16th hole, when his drive went into the woods and he had to pitch out safe.

"Actually, I thought I played better today than yesterday," he said.

He came close to equaling his first-round putting excellence, as he one-putted five greens and had only one three-putt green.

"I've done real well on the long putts," he said. "I've managed to get them up real close."

Back of Snead at 136 came Roberto deVicenzo, 46-year-old senior from Argentina. DeVicenzo came up with a spectacular 67 to go with his first round 69.

Les Peterson of Riverside, 28-year-old newcomer to the tour, came in with a 68 for 133 and sole occupancy of third place.

DeVicenzo had a hot putter of his own. He rolled in putts from all over, including two from 20 feet and one from 15.

Morton Vacates Bench to Become Coach on Field

By Associated Press

"The goal of any professional quarterback is to be a coach on the field," says Craig Morton.

"That's my goal, too."

Morton was a bench warmer for the Dallas Cowboys from his rookie season in 1965 through last year. Now he's suddenly the No. 1 man on a team with receivers galore. But Morton was prepared for the task at hand a long time ago.

"After last season I told myself that this summer I was going to earn the No. 1 spot by myself. Coach Tom Landry told me it would take four years to learn how to be a pro quarterback and I felt then I had learned enough," said the 6-foot-4, 215-pound passer.

Morton was expected to face Don Meredith, the No. 1 man, in a battle for the starting quarterback spot, but Meredith announced his retirement last month.

"Don and I were very good friends," Morton said. "and he knew after last season that I was out for his job."

Morton, a graduate of the University of California, feels he's approaching his goal—being a coach on the field.

"A few years ago, Norm Van Brocklin led Philadelphia to a championship with nothing but a passing attack.

"I don't think a passing attack can ever win a little again like that. Defenses are too sophisticated today. The game is changing all the time.

"But if anyone ever has a shot at it, it's a man who's a coach on the field."

LIONS—Defensive end Larry Hand ended 38-day free-agent holdout by signing his contract.

BROWNS—Signed veteran Walt Johnson, leaving only Milt Morin, Jim Houston, Mottie Clark and Dick Schafrath as holdouts.

NLRB URGED TO RULE ON SPORTS DISPUTES

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The AFL-CIO Friday urged the National Labor Relations Board (NLRB) to assume jurisdiction over disputes involving player associations in professional sports.

"The increasing economic importance of professional sports makes it important that the board exercise its statutory jurisdiction, both to safeguard industrial peace . . . and to protect the rights of employees to form unions and bargain collectively," the labor federation said.

The AFL-CIO filed a friend-of-the-court brief with the NLRB urging it to intervene in a dispute between the American League and two baseball umpires who were fired last year.

But J. Albert Well, the federation's chief counsel, extended his argument to urge the board to take control over all professional sports, treating them the same as industrial plants.

Well-Travelled Badger Absolved of 'Villains' Role

By AL LARSON
Staff Writer

If George Allen is trying to reconstruct the 1962 University of Wisconsin football team, he is doing a superb job.

The Rams' head coach has collected three starters off the Big Ten champions which bowed to USC, 42-37, in the 1963 Rose Bowl game.

"That's the most exciting game I've ever been in," says Jim Purnell, the newest Ram linebacker, who became something less than a hero in the Coliseum last December when he put Roman Gabriel out of commission with a blind side tackle in the second quarter of the Bears' game.

Was Purnell really a villain last year?

"Nobody on the Rams ever said anything about the play," said Purnell at the Rams' training camp at Cal State Fullerton Friday.

"But some friends sent me some clippings from the L.A. newspapers that weren't complimentary.

"If it was a late hit, I never was aware of it. Also, the referee didn't call anything. I had my head down and was going for his waist. There's no way I could have stopped unless I'd had a sky hook. I've never made an intentional dirty play."

Purnell, along with defensive back Ron Smith and Jim Nettles, were among 11 Badgers who went into the pro ranks following their collegiate careers at Wisconsin.

Of course, he who blind-sides can also be blind-sided. Purnell will testify to that.

"In 1965 I got a chance to start against the Rams in the second game when Larry Morris reported to the club late. But I didn't last long.

"On one play I was chasing the quarterback — I forget whether it was Gabriel or Bill Munson — when Tommy McDonald came out of nowhere and cut me down. I never saw him, but I sure felt him."

Purnell, 26, says he's still in a daze over the recent trades which saw him go from the Bears to Atlanta to Philadelphia and to the Rams within a period of eight days.

The Rams will scrimmage the San Diego Chargers today in a four-day session starting at 2:30 at Cal State Fullerton. The Rams offensive backs will scrimmage the Chargers defensive lines and vice versa, while the Rams passing game will be pitted against San Diego's deep backs and vice versa. Tommy Mason, who figures to play the last three pre-season games, was running like a deer Friday, as was Dick Bass.

Tackle Charlie Cowan reported to camp Friday after missing five days in order to attend a family funeral. Defensive end Lamar Lundy was held out of practice again while Bob Brown missed his first workout because of a cortisone shot in his knee.

Compromise Anchovy Dispute

By DONNELL CULPEPPER

The proposal of the California Department of Fish and Game to consolidate the five zones where commercial fishermen may take anchovies into one zone was refused Friday by the Fish and Game Commission, meeting at San Diego.

Instead, the Commissioners compromised the argument between sportfishermen and commercials by establishing three zones off Southern California.

The commissioners also refused to raise the state quota of 75,000 tons which the commercials are now allowed to take annually for reduction into fertilizer and fish meal.

Sportfishing interest, led by the Ocean Fish Protective Society with president Robert Vile as the spokesman, had contended that if the commercials were allowed to take 75,000 tons of anchovies indiscriminately it would imperil the bait supply upon which sportfishermen depend.

The action which consumed most of the commission's full day hearing was a compromise.

Here is the way zone one would be set up. A line drawn from Point Dume to the west end of Catalina Island and a line drawn from the east end of that same island to Dana Point. Inside that area the commercials would be allowed to take 25,000 tons, but they must observe the three-mile limit from all land, and that embraces Catalina Island. The three mile limit also would be off the San Pedro and Long Beach breakwaters.

Zones two and three would be set up this way: A line drawn from the east end of Catalina Island to Dana Point and south to the Mexican border would be closed to all commercials seeking anchovies inside the 12-mile limit. This area is considered the most critical of all.

Outside that 12-mile limit a commercial would be allowed to take 40,000 tons, which would make a total of 45,000 tons for the southern part of the state.

The northern zone would remain the same, roughly from Point Dume to Point Conception, where the three-mile limit would be in effect. North of Conception there would be no three-mile limit and the commercials would be allowed 10,000 tons in the entire northern area.

The commissioners, for the first time, allowed questions from the audience before the testimony was started. The public bath sides admitted laid the groundwork for a fair decision.

Orbit's Drought Broken

Tab Modern Spirit
in Oceanside 'Cap

Combined News Services

Orbit Tracer, winless in a dozen starts this year, ended the victory drought Friday with a wire-to-wire triumph in the featured $5,000 Hope Guild Purse at Del Mar.

Cleverly rated by star apprentice Rudy Rosales, Orbit Tracer repulsed the strong stretch challenge of Canal Street to tally by two lengths in a swift 1.03 flat for the six furlongs. Restless Song was third, a length behind Canal Street.

Orbit Tracer rewarded his supporters in a crowd of 6,726 with an across-the-board payoff of $12.40, $5.20 and $4.40. Canal Street paid $3.80 and Restless Song returned $4.60.

Coincidentally, in light of the recent Apollo 11 accomplishments in space, the seventh race was won by Orbit Ruler, who scored under Bill Mahorney for a $16.80 return.

CHARLIE'S ROUND won the second to complete a $78 daily double from Tudor Peace, victor in the opener. Consolation payoffs were $8 from Tudor Peace to Song And Dance Boy and $10 from the first winner to Mr. Prevaricator.

Modern Spirit, a contender with the best three-year-olds in the West in 1969 but still without a stakes triumph to his credit, will attempt to correct that situation today when he faces seven rivals in the $15,000-added Oceanside Handicap.

The six-furlong dash features the initial weekend racing program of the 1969 Del Mar season. Post-time for the first race is 2 with gates opening at noon.

Modern Spirit, a Donut King colt, will shoulder top-weight of 122 pounds as he faces such highly-regarded runners as Stalking Neke, Little Scrib and Juliet's Dream.

Other challengers are Imaginative, Torch O'Blue, Copper Jay and Derby Day Boy.

This 23rd running of the Oceanside Handicap offers a gross purse of $16,225, the victor to be rewarded with $8,226.

GALLANT BLOOM and Shavee will take their first shot at each other today in the $50,000 - added Delaware Oaks at Delaware Park.

Other national features include the $100,000-added Sorority for 2-year-old fillies at Monmouth Park and three other $50,000-added events — the Susquehanna Handicap at Liberty Bell Park, the Assault Handicap at Arlington Park and the Tidal Handicap at Aqueduct.

FANFARE

One-Handed Catch Brings Happiness to This Flyhawk

SPARTA, Wis. (UPI)—When Lee Izard, 21-year-old manager of the Sparta baseball team makes a catch in centerfield, it's always a one-handed grab. A showboat?

Nothing of the sort. Lee has only one arm, but he hasn't let his handicap dampen his deep love for baseball that began as a little leaguer.

Lee lost his throwing arm, or right arm, in an industrial accident last December. It was amputated at the elbow.

With practice and patience he learned how to play with one arm. In fact, he now plays both softball and baseball.

Catching the ball has been the toughest to master. He had to develop two techniques, one for softball and one for baseball.

In softball, as he catches or fields a ball, he drops his glove and bounces the ball at the same time. This gives him time to get in position to catch the ball on the bounce and wheel it into the infield.

In baseball, he can't bounce the ball, but instead tosses it in the air as he drops the glove.

"My fielding has been pretty good," he said. As for batting, he has gotten one hit in baseball and one in softball, but he has gotten on base several times on errors and walks. He says he's dangerous on base, "because there's nothing wrong with my legs, and I've stolen several bases."

Getting in and out of uniform is tough. Teammates sometimes want to help him when they see him struggling with a shoestring between his teeth, but he refuses their help.

He asks for no quarter. They treat him as if he had both arms, and that's the way he wants it.

Only Four Horses Challenge Kaweah Bar in Princess Purse

By DAVE DANIEL

Making a good decision often is attributed to "horse sense."

Some of the horses at Los Alamitos are getting "people sense."

They are learning the same thing that quarter horse fans have known for two years — when Kaweah Bar is in a race, it looks better for the record if you don't race against him.

That's what faces the 1968 horse of the year tonight in the $8,000 Miss Princess Purse at the Orange County track, and the season's biggest crowd is expected to be on hand to watch the expected rout.

Only four horses are entered in the 400-yard event against Kaweah Bar, which captured the $85,000 Los Alamitos Derby two weeks ago and which owns a lifetime record of 14 wins in 17 starts.

Owned by George Chittick of Long Beach, Kaweah Bar, the only three-year-old in the field with the others a year older, is out to avenge his only loss of the year to Double Dibs. The latter raced to a narrow win in 17.8 seconds over the gelded palomino son of Alamitos Bar in the Double Bid Purse to account for the only blemish on a brilliant record this season.

Besides Double Dibs, Go Derussa Go and Barleo Rocket, both also being feature race winners at the meeting this year, are entered along with Robin Ann Donlan, the only horse that hasn't won at the track in four tries this season.

Kaweah Bar gets the services of leading rider Robert Adair and the high impost of 124 pounds, sharing that weight with Go Derussa Go.

Jaguar Rocket was an easy winner in the featured $7,000 Monita Friday night at Los Alamitos, upsetting the 3-2 favored Rebel Charlie by one and a half lengths.

A crowd of 11,698 saw the roan son of Rocket Bar lead every step of the way in the 350-yard race run in 17.9 seconds.

Harley Crosby was in the saddle for his 16th winner of the meeting as Jaguar Rocket paid $6.40, $3.20 and $2.40. Rebel Charlie returned $2.80 and $2.40, while the show price on Go Lamb, the third horse, was $3.20.

By ERNIE MASON
"I see where Kaweah Bar won the $100,000 quarter horse derby at Los Alamitos. Does that make him good enough to beat older horses and also to have a good chance to win the all-age championship of the Los Alamitos meeting? C. R. Knight must be quite a trainer to win races at Hollywood Park and Los Alamitos when they are conducting race meetings at the same time," Jack Snyder.

Chay Knight is quite a trainer. He was responsible for a string of thoroughbreds at Hollywood Park as well as several quarter horses at Los Alamitos. In my opinion, Knight has developed Kaweah Bar into the outstanding quarter horse of all-time regardless of age. Barring unforeseen accident or bad racing luck, I look for Kaweah Bar to beat the top local older horses in the Los Alamitos quarter horse championship event. In his recent Derby Trial victory on July 5, Kaweah Bar won by two lengths in a spectacular 21:09 clocking which is less than a fifth of a second from the world record held by Jet Deck.

On July 5, Chay Knight made it a consecutive double by saddling the two-year-old filly Kaweah Bar Top for an easy 18-1 victory in the race following Kaweah Bar's Derby Trial event.

"I DON'T KNOW if this is fact or fiction, but I recently read where the owner of Fignero ran him in the Hollywood Gold Cup over the violent objections of the trainer. I would think that under no circumstance would an owner disagree with a trainer. What are your views on this?" Mrs. Arlene Johnson.

NO HORSEING AROUND NOW; IT'S SERIOUS

LONDON (UPI)—The Australian Olympic equestrian team will have to sell half its horses to get home from Britain unless it can raise $12,000 quickly, it was revealed Friday by team manager Eric Rundle.

"I can't see us getting it," said Rundle, a Melbourne lawyer. "We have very good friends, but you can impose too much on your friends."

"The pity is that the horses we shall have to sell will be mostly six-year-olds which would have formed the nucleus for our Olympic team in Munich in 1972," he said.

Olympic Divers Meet in So-Cal Championships

Lieutenant Micki King, winner of the Santa Clara Invitational 10-meter diving championship, will lead a stellar field in the 11th Southern California International Diving Invitational today and Sunday at Los Coyotes Country Club in Buena Park.

The pert, blonde Miss King was a heavy favorite at the Mexico City Olympics, but sustained a fractured forearm.

Today's action consists of women's 3-meter prelims and semifinals at 10:30 a.m., and men's platform and women's 3-meter finals at 2:30 p.m.

L.B. Swimmers Place in Rough Water Meet

Lori Swatek, representing Phillips 66 Long Beach Aquatic Club, won the women's division of the Will Rogers State Beach Rough Water Swim Friday with a time of 29 minutes, 42 seconds.

Kelly Kemp, of Phillips won the boys 17 and under title, clocking 27:02.

Top-Seeded Richey, Ashe Near Net Finals

INDIANAPOLIS (U) — The top-seeded singles players in the National Clay Court tennis championships, Arthur Ashe and Nancy Richey, dropped their first sets Friday before coming back strong for victories at the Woodstock Club.

Ashe, the reigning U.S. Open champ from Richmond, Va., defeated Canadian Mike Belkin, 2-6, 7-5, 6-2, in the men's quarterfinals, and Miss Richey advanced to the women's semifinals with a 2-6, 6-0, 6-2 victory over Kerry Harris of Australia.

Charlie Pasarell of Puerto Rico, No. 7 ranked U.S. player, upset third-ranked Stan Smith in another three-set match, 2-6, 7-5, 6-2.

Joining Miss Richey in the women's semifinals with wins Friday were Gail Chaffrean of France, Lesley Bowrey of Australia and Linda Tuero of Metairie, La. Miss Richey has won the clay court singles crown six straight years.

In men's doubles, a unique default sent Bill Bowrey of Australia and Clark Graebner of New York into the semifinals.

The team of Turner Howard, Knoxville, Tenn., and Terre Mozur, Sweetwater, Tenn., defaulted after Mozur received his military draft notice. He doesn't have to report until Aug. 24 but decided to go home immediately.

'HAIR' COMES THE SERVE
Hair-raising was an apt term for third-ranked Stan Smith's upset loss to seventh-ranked Charlie Pasarell in the National Clay Court tennis tournament at Indianapolis Friday.

Legion Nines Launch Long Beach Playoffs

American Legion baseball begins its area playoffs today with four league champions competing in a week-long tournament at Blair Field.

Teams in competition for the Southern California slot in next month's state playoffs are Lynwood, Gardena, South Torrance and Lakewood.

Lynwood, titlist in the Rio Hondo League, plays today at 11 a.m. against Gardena, Pacific League champion. Lakewood, winner of the Long Beach-area league, plays at 2 p.m. against the Bay League's South Torrance, tournament champion two years ago and runnerup last year.

Tickets for today, Sunday, Wednesday night and next weekend are 50 cents each day.

Connie Mack Tournament Under Way at Blair Field

Connie Mack district tournament play begins today at 5:30 p.m. with a doubleheader at Blair Field.

Mel Burns Mustangs will meet El Monte in the opener, with San Pedro and Pomona playing at 7:30 p.m.

Belmont Savings, winner of the Coast League, drew a first-round bye and will meet the winner of the Burns-El Monte game Sunday. Today's losers meet Sunday at 7:30 p.m. in the double-elimination tournament.

Top-Seeded Richey, Ashe Near Net Finals

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The top-seeded singles players in the National Clay Court tennis championships, Arthur Ashe and Nancy Richey, dropped their first sets Friday before coming back strong for victories at the Woodstock Club.

Ashe, the reigning U.S. Open champ from Richmond, Va., defeated Canadian Mike Belkin, 2-6, 7-5, 6-2, in the men's quarterfinals, and Miss Richey advanced to the women's semifinals with a 2-6, 6-0, 6-2 victory over Kerry Harris of Australia.

Charlie Pasarell of Puerto Rico, No. 7 ranked U.S. player, upset third-ranked Stan Smith in another three-set match, 2-6, 7-5, 6-2.

Joining Miss Richey in the women's semifinals with wins Friday were Gail Chaffreau of France, Lesley Bowrey of Australia and Linda Tuero of Metairie, La. Miss Richey has won the clay court singles crown six straight years.

In men's doubles, a unique default sent Bill Bowrey of Australia and Clark Graebner of New York into the semifinals.

The team of Turner Howard, Knoxville, Tenn., and Terre Moriz, Sweetwater, Tenn., defaulted after Moriz received his military draft notice. He doesn't have to report until Aug. 24 but decided to go home immediately.

'HAIR' COMES THE SERVE

Hair-raising was an apt term for third-ranked Stan Smith's upset loss to seventh-ranked Charlie Pasarell in the National Clay Court tennis tournament at Indianapolis Friday.

Legion Nines Launch Long Beach Playoffs

American Legion baseball begins its area playoffs today with four league champions competing in a week-long tournament at Blair Field.

Teams in competition for the Southern California slot in next month's state playoffs are Lynwood, Gardena, South Torrance and Lakewood.

Lynwood, titlist in the Rio Hondo League, plays today at 11 a.m. against Gardena, Pacific League champion. Lakewood, winner of the Long Beach-area league, plays at 2 p.m. against the Bay League's South Torrance, tournament champion two years ago and runnerup last year.

Tickets for today, Sunday, Wednesday night and next weekend are 50 cents each day.

Connie Mack Tournament Under Way at Blair Field

Connie Mack district tournament play begins today at 5:30 p.m. with a doubleheader at Blair Field.

Mel Burns Mustangs will meet El Monte in the opener, with San Pedro and Pomona playing at 7:30 p.m.

Belmont Savings, winner of the Coast League, drew a first-round bye and will meet the winner of the Burns-El Monte game Sunday. Today's losers meet Sunday at 7:30 p.m. in the double-elimination tournament.

Action continues Monday and Tuesday with a single game.

The tournament moves to Gonzales Park in Compton Thursday.

The Compton winner travels to Riverside for regional play, and then to Farmington, New Mexico for the Connie Mack World's Series beginning Aug. 15.

On Belief and Non-Belief in Space; Poll's Religious Profile of Lakewood

By LES RODNEY

"The theologian is one of the most necessary elements in the future of space exploration," says Rev. Clifford Stevens, a former Air Force chaplain, now editor of Catholic publications at Fort Wayne, Ind.

"If you go into the universe (thinking that you are just a piece of protoplasm lost by some ancient in a small corner of time and space, you are apt to become disoriented," he says. "But if you go in knowing that you are greater than the physical universe because of your spiritual dimension, then the universe becomes very small."

A surprising number of scientists, engineers and technicians associated with the space program do indeed "have a deep and vital faith," writes Dr. Rodney W. Johnson, a top NASA authority on lunar bases, in the weekly

"Christianity Today." More, proportionately, than in many other fields and professions, he believes.

He adds: "Another surprise — most who have a faith in God, hold this faith strongly, as if their association with the space program had acted to reinforce their belief. I think it has mine, as a matter of fact."

MELODYLAND in Anaheim will be extensively remodeled in time for its projected December 1 opening as the new Christian Center church. The youth-oriented church, which purchased the theater this spring, has in the meanwhile sold its present facility at 1340 N. Candlewood for a reported $500,000 to Anaheim First Church of the Nazarene.

THE PRESBYTERIAN Economic Development Corp. has announced a $200,000 loan to the San Antonio based Mexican American Unity Council. Funds will go to construct low-income housing in West San Antonio, with firms giving priority to training and hiring of barrio residents. Using local artisans and laborers, the group also plans to become involved in the rehabilitation of existing structures.

Formed a year ago, the Presbyterian agency has invested more than $4 million in such enterprises.

Frogs, Lizards Find Freedom in Post Office

NEW YORK (AP) — A package marked "Live frogs and lizards" accidentally ripped open in the central Post Office Friday and 50 snakes wriggled onto the floor.

Several postmen gathered up the snakes, measuring from six inches to four feet, and stuffed them in a postal bag.

"We got them now," said a spokesman for the ASP-CA. "We're waiting for the health department to give a permit to the person to whom they were sent."

The shipment, from an unidentified dealer in Pompano Beach, Fla., was meant for Alfred Ojeda of the Bronx who sells the reptiles to retail dealers.

THE ANGELS of Anaheim Stadium may be laughing in last place, but the "saints" are making the place hum in preparation for the 10-day Billy Graham Crusade starting Sept. 26.

Already over a thousand Southland ministers have formed a ministerial council to help, with some 5,000 congregations participating to some extent. Christian Life and Witness classes have prepared 8,000 persons to give spiritual assistance to those who come forward during the crusade. Youth lying squads in large numbers are fanning out with invitations.

How did the famed evangelist know that there wouldn't be a World Series at the "big A" during the schedules period? He's a baseball fan.

RESULTS OF a religious poll of the Lakewood area in May undertaken by 346 persons from 13 participating churches have been compiled.

The pollsters visited 13,533 homes (the goal was 20,000), and actually completed 8,954 calls. Families declining information numbered 1,376, those stating no religious preference were 743. Total number of Bible-less homes was only 148.

The actual church affiliations of those in the families interviewed showed Roman Catholics a strong first with 5,582, followed by Baptists of all groups with 2,680, Methodists 2,274, Lutherans 2,248, United Presbyterians 1,258, Mormons a perhaps surprise sixth at 875, followed by Christian Church 480, Episcopalians 404, Reformed Church in America (mostly of Dutch background) 417, Jews and Churches of Christ tied at 379, Community Church 339, United Church of Christ 242, Assembly of God 238, Christian Reformed (also of Dutch ethnic background) 229, Nazarenes 129, Christian Science 106, Jehovah's Witness 103.

Rounding out the sampling were 87 Adventists, a like number of Foursquare church adherents, 62 Pentecostals, 50 Unitarians, 30 Greek Orthodox and a host of miscellaneous, down to one Mennonite.

Very interesting, and undoubtedly of some factual merit, but it should be remembered that this was not a professionally conducted survey, even though the sponsoring American Bible Society is a careful and competent group.

THINK YOU'RE too old for new things? At the age of 79, Eddie Doherty, once called "the world's highest paid reporter" when he worked for the Chicago Tribune, Chicago Sun, New York American and New York Daily Mirror, will be ordained Aug. 15 as a Roman Catholic priest. He has devoted much of his writing efforts in recent years to religious subjects, and says his ordination will be "the fulfillment of a boyhood dream." His wife will attend the ceremony of the Melkite Rite order, which permits ordination of married men, though it forbids marriage after ordination.

CONTROVERSIAL Episcopal priest Malcolm Boyd started the recent Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod convention in Denver by presenting himself, along with a group of young people both Lutherans and non-Lutherans, for communion at the service preceding the business sessions.

Traditionally, the synod's sacramental rites are restricted to its own members or those of churches in fellowship with it, though practices vary from locality to locality. No objections were raised, however, when Father Boyd and his followers presented themselves and received the elements of bread and wine along with nearly 1,000 others.

The appearance was in behalf of Clergy and Laymen Concerned About Vietnam, and the Lutheran Action Committee. In a statement explaining the rationale for his act, Boyd said that "to a growing number of us the church as a denominational preserve as well as a privatized spiritual experience is both sterile and blasphemous, for the church that commands our loyalty and our commitment is nothing less than the body of Christ.

"We feel betrayed by official ecumenism," the radical priest continued, "when it exists comfortably with separate or closed communications — symbols of the religious status quo, and with human injustices representing the socio-political status quo. We are determined to cross together all the lines that verbally separate us — political, racial, national, and also religious."

Prior to Boyd's arrival, Dr. Roland P. Wideraenders, first vice president of the LC-MS, was asked at a news telecast what he would do if the Episcopal priest presented himself for communion.

"If a stranger approaches the altar," was the response. "I commune him and later talk with him to be sure he understands our position. However, if I knew him to be doing this blasphemously or in mockery, I would not commune him, on the basis of 1 Cor. 11:29."

Asked if he would therefore refuse to commune Boyd, the Lutheran leader said "I don't know Father Boyd, so I would commune him and then talk with him."

That's what happened. Sorry we have no record of the undoubtedly interesting conversation. If we get it, we'll certainly let you know.

DESPITE NEW PRESIDENT Conservation Synod Aids Lutheran Unity

The Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod gave major impetus to the cause of Lutheran unity when its 43rd general convention in Denver adopted a declaration of fellowship with the American Lutheran Church.

By a majority vote of 522 to 438, delegates approved a recommendation which resolved that "with joy and praise the synod herewith formally declare itself to be in altar and pulpit fellowship with the American Lutheran Church."

When the result was announced, spontaneous applause broke out with brisk hand clapping, mingled with loud cheers. Then delegates and visitors sang "O God, Our Help in Ages Past."

Many observers had predicted rejection of closer ties with the ALC after the election of Dr. Jacob A. O. Preus, a conservative theologian and avowed opponent of fellowship, as president of the 2,900,000-member synod.

CONSERVATIVE opposition to fellowship centered on charges that the 2,575,000-member ALC no longer insists on the doctrine of the inerrancy of the Bible, allows its theologians to deny basic doctrines of the Christian faith, permits laymen to belong to anti-Christian lodges, and supports the ecumenical movement.

Although he said he favored "a delay in declaring fellowship at this time," Dr. Preus urged each delegate to vote his "conscience" and then added:

"As your president, I will abide by the decision of the convention and will endeavor to procure consensus and fellowship with all Lutherans in America with all vigor and sincerity."

The two Lutheran bodies together represent about 60 per cent of Lutherans in America and each has about 200 congregations in Southern California.

The delegates were confronted in a public presentation by black members of

UNITARIAN, NOT SWEDENBORGIAN

Sir:

Carolyn Ruz's informative story on Swedenborgian pastor Robert Loring Young, of the Wayfarers' Chapel, demonstrates once again the number of fundamental verities that tie together religious bodies.

Little that the Rev. Mr. Young is reported as saying about his own church's liberal beliefs would elicit disagreement from Unitarians.

Mr. Young lists America's foremost Man of Letters, Ralph Waldo Emerson, as a "noted Swedenborgian." Although Swedenborg and Emerson held views in common, the latter drew his inspiration from a different line of thinkers that included Origen, Arius, Servetus and Joseph Priestley. These were the forerunners of modern Unitarianism. Indeed, Dr. Priestley, the father of chemistry and discoverer tees, and commissions to assign priorities to these demands and to do everything in their power to see that the needs expressed are met, in consultation with the association of Black Lutheran clergymen."

IN OTHER actions, in a complete reversal of its prior stand on selective conscientious objection, the Synod gave its support to those who refuse to serve in the Armed Forces because of conscience in a specific war. It asked the government to give equal status to them under law as to opponents of all wars. The ALC voted down a similar proposal last year. The Lutheran Church in America has approved selective conscientious objection.

Membership in the Lutheran World Federation, under study for 17 years, was rejected again by an overwhelming majority despite recommendation of favorable action by the Commission on Theology and Church Relations. New president Dr. Preus said he favored postponement.

AMERICAN BAPTIST ASSN. LETTER ON I.P.T. COVERAGE

The following note was received from the headquarters of the American Baptist Association in Texarkana, Ark. Tex., concerning the coverage by the Independent, Press-Telegram of the denomination's June convention in Long Beach.

"Thank you for your splendid cooperation and sincere efforts to present to the public fairly what news we made while in Long Beach. There was much comment on the part of our constituency about the honesty and accuracy of your articles. We feel, and our constituency felt, that you did an above-the-average job of conveying to the public who we are and what we were doing in Long Beach, and for this we are most grateful."

LEAVE OUR BLIND FAITH FOR GOD

Religion Editor:

After listening to my pastor last Sunday evening I felt I had to write someone to tell them how I feel. I note that many times others' opinions are stated on your pages. I am sure that my view are too "objectionable" for printing, but I just wanted to get some things off my chest. Thank you, in advance, for reading this.

At a time when the "generation gap" is the most widely talked about subject, but is at the same time the most unwidely acted upon subject, we seem to be mixing our faith in God with our love of country. I, for one, have complete faith in God that He is doing His will. I am not one who questions if this or that should be changed, it is God's divine will, not my human reasoning. I also love my country, even with its many faults. I feel it is the best form of government on the face of this earth, although that is really not saying much.

At this point is where I start differing from the "establishment" or the "older generation" or whatever label you want to choose. I have a blind faith in God. I am not to question what He does. Yet at the same time I have a guarded faith in my country, realizing that this gov-

ARTICLE HELPED CHRISTIAN FILM

Editor:

Thanks a million for the article (July 12) entitled "Film Venture May Flop; No Support" about the film "Childish Things." It helped a lot in our hope of it being given broader distribution.

ED SCHULTZ, Long Beach

ernment was set up by men, just as men are taking advantage of some of its weaknesses today. I can not just "love it or leave it" as some would have me do. What if our forefathers had adopted the "love it or leave it" concept to their daily lives? They didn't profess blind love for this country, they choose to fight out against the British (their establishment in that time) and create a free government that we would, in turn, love. Had it not been for man's inhumanity to man, it could have lasted forever.

I am sickened by people telling me that if you deface something like a flag, or your draft card, you are committing a cardinal sin against your country. Holding such MATERIAL objects in such high reverence is surely a form of paganistic idolatry. Others argue that a draft card is government property, a symbol of public freedom. However, it is just a piece of paper, too. God, I am sure, does not hold this draft card in higher esteem than a bubble-gum wrapper. Should we do more than God? The same thing goes when talking of the flag. The flag of this country has a deserved place in our present time and past history. I am sure that it has spurred us on to victories in many battles that were needed to save our nation. That would mean that it was a symbol of our country. The men didn't fight to save the actual flag, the piece of cloth. They fought for the country. In God's eyes, again, in my opinion it is just another piece of cloth that was made from the same cotton bolls and looms that my socks were made from. Respect is one thing, but worship of material things is quite another.

Here is something else I cannot understand. When I try to defend one of these people who has burned their draft card (or any of the awful social sins) I am immediately pegged as an enemy of the country by a great number of people. How can people be so blind as to not see that I am not attacking the ENTIRE country, but only one separate practice that is performed by that country that I feel is unjust and immoral?

I pray to God that we can begin to start seeing our government for what it really is: a system of behavior, created by people just like ourselves; a system that has its weaknesses that can be overcome. Let's leave our "blind love-it-or-leave-it" to the one who truly deserves it: God, the faultless one.

FROM THE PULPIT

Dr. Porter Barrington, noted Bible scholar, pastor, and leader will be at Calvary July 27-August 3. The purpose of this meeting will simply be that of teaching Christians how to use the Word to witness to others.

Every Christian should avail himself of this great opportunity to learn to witness. There will be very little singing and no interludes. This is not a revival or evangelistic meeting. This is a week of Bible teaching as how to be an effective Christian. Everyone is invited to come. Services on Sunday are as usual, but week night services are at 7:30 P.M. A Christian who is not witnessing is your opportunity to learn God's work. Come and bring all of your friends. You ask to know this, even if you never plan to be an active church worker.

Calvary invites you and provides this service that will be of untold benefit to you. Please respond. Come to Calvary! Calvary is for you!

MAILBAG: Wayfarer PS, That Generation Gap & 'Blind Faith'

UNITARIAN, NOT SWEDENBORGIAN

Sir: Carolyn Ruz's informative story on Swedenborgian pastor Robert Loring Young, of the Wayfarers' Chapel, demonstrates once again the number of fundamental verities that tie together religious bodies.

Little that the Rev. Mr. Young is reported as saying about his own church's liberal beliefs would elicit disagreement from Unitarians.

Mr. Yount lists America's foremost Man of Letters, Ralph Waldo Emerson, as a "noted Swedenborgian." Although Swedenborg and Emerson held views in common, the latter drew his inspiration from a different line of thinkers that included Origen, Arius, Servetus and Joseph Priestley. These were the forerunners of modern Unitarianism. Indeed, Dr. Priestley, the father of chemistry and discoverer of oxygen, was not only a Unitarian clergyman but founded the first church of this faith in North America in 1794 near Philadelphia.

Ralph Waldo Emerson, himself an ordained Unitarian minister, served the historic Second Church in Boston (Unitarian) from March 11, 1823 to October 28, 1832. He was the ninth pastor. Although he gave up the full-time ministry to write and lecture, he continued to supply Unitarian pulpits for a long time afterward. The writer of this letter was the twenty-first minister of that 320 year old church, coming directly to Long Beach from its pulpit.

Although Emerson and Swedenborg had much in common, it is more accurate to call the distinguished American philosopher and essayist a "noted Unitarian" rather than a noted Swedenborgian. But... may both their memories always remain warm in our hearts!

AMERICAN BAPTIST ASSN. LETTER ON I.P.T. COVERAGE

The following note was received from the headquarters of the American Baptist Association in Texarkana, Ark.-Tex., concerning the coverage by the Independent, Press-Telegram of the denomination's June convention in Long Beach.

"Thank you for your splendid cooperation and sincere efforts to present to the public fairly what news we made while in Long Beach. There was much comment on the part of our constituency about the honesty and accuracy of your articles. We feel, and our constituency felt, that you did an above-the-average job of conveying to the public who we are and what we were doing in Long Beach, and for this we are most grateful."

LEAVE OUR BLIND FAITH FOR GOD

Religion Editor: After listening to my pastor last Sunday evening I felt I had to write someone to tell them how I feel. I note that many times others' opinions are stated on your pages. I am sure that my view are too "objectionable" for printing, but I just wanted to get some things off my chest. Thank you, in advance, for reading this.

At a time when the "generation gap" is the most widely talked about subject, but is at the same time the most unwidely acted upon subject, we seem to be mixing our faith in God with our love of country. I, for one, have complete faith in God that He is doing His will. I am not one who questions if this or that should be changed, it is God's divine will, not my human reasoning. I also love my country, even with its many faults. I feel it is the best form of government on the face of this earth, although that is really not saying much.

At this point is where I start differing from the "establishment" or the "older generation" or whatever label you want to choose. I have a blind faith in God. I am not to question what He does. Yet at the same time I have a guarded faith in my country, realizing that this government was set up by men, just as men are taking advantage of some of its weaknesses today. I can not just "love it or leave it" as some would have me do. What if our forefathers had adopted the "love it or leave it" concept to their daily lives? They didn't profess blind love for this country, they choose to fight out against the British (their establishment in that time) and create a free government that we would, in turn, love. Had it not been for man's inhumanity to man, it could have lasted forever.

I am sickened by people telling me that if you deface something like a flag, or your draft card, you are committing a cardinal sin against your country. Holding such MATERIAL objects in such high reverence is surely a form of paganistic idolatry. Others argue that a draft card is government property, a symbol of public freedom. However, it is just a piece of paper, too. God, I am sure, does not hold this draft card in higher esteem than a bubble-gum wrapper. Should we do more than God? The same thing goes when talking of the flag. The flag of this country has a deserved place in our present time and past history. I am sure that it has spurred us on to victories in many battles that were needed to save our nation. That would mean that it was a symbol of our country. The men didn't fight to save the actual flag, the piece of cloth. They fought for the country. In God's eyes, again, in my opinion it is just another piece of cloth that was made from the same cotton bolls and looms that my socks were made from. Respect is one thing, but worship of material things is quite another.

Here is something else I cannot understand. When I try to defend one of these people who has burned their draft card (or any of the awful social sins) I am immediately pegged as an enemy of the country by a great number of people. How can people be so blind as to not see that I am not attacking the ENTIRE country, but only one separate practice that is performed by that country that I feel is unjust and immoral?

I pray to God that we can begin to start seeing our government for what it really is: a system of behavior, created by people just like ourselves; a system that has its weaknesses that can be overcome. Let's leave our "blind love-it-or-leave-it" to the one who truly deserves it: God, the faultless one.

BOURNEMOUTH, England (AP) — A Bournemouth court was trying to decide the rightful owner of five homing pigeons claimed by Eric Drayton and another pigeon fancier. The prosecutor released the birds and they flew to Drayton's loft, settling the dispute.

FROM THE PULPIT

Dr. Porter Harrington, noted Bible scholar, preacher, and teacher will be at Calvary July 21 - August 3, the purpose of this meeting will be that of teaching Christians how to use the Word to witness to others. Every Christian should avail himself of this great opportunity to learn to witness. There will be very little singing and no invitations. This is not a revival or evangelistic meeting. This is a week of Bible teaching on how to be an effective Christian. Everyone is invited to come. Services on Sunday are as usual, but week night services are at 7:30 P.M. A Christian who is not witnessing is your opportunity to learn God's work, come and bring all of your friends. You need to know this, even if you never plan to be an active church worker.

Calvary invites you and provides this service that will be of untold benefit to you. Please respond. Come to Calvary! Calvary is for you!

CHAPLAIN BECOMES A CAPTAIN

Capt. Edward F. Leonard, commanding officer at Long Beach Naval Station, pins captain's shoulder boards on Navy Reserve Chaplain James A. Powell. The new captain was assigned as senior chaplain to Long Beach in June, 1967 upon his return from Vietnam, where he received the Bronze Star award for his services as chaplain of the 4th Marine Division and hospital chaplain with the 3rd Marine Division.

DESPITE NEW PRESIDENT

Conservation Synod Aids Lutheran Unity

The Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod gave major impetus to the cause of Lutheran unity when its 48th general convention in Denver adopted a declaration of fellowship with the American Lutheran Church.

By a majority vote of 522 to 438, delegates approved a recommendation which resolved that "with joy and praise the synod herewith formally declare itself to be in altar and pulpit fellowship with the American Lutheran Church."

When the result was announced, spontaneous applause broke out with brisk hand clapping, mingled with loud cheers. Then delegates and visitors sang "O God, Our Help in Ages Past."

Many observers had predicted rejection of closer ties with the ALC after the election of Dr. Jacob A. O. Preus, a conservative theologian and avowed opponent of fellowship, as president of the 2,900,000-member synod.

CONSERVATIVE opposition to fellowship centered on charges that the 2-575,000-member ALC no longer insists on the doctrine of the inerrancy of the Bible, allows its theologians to deny basic doctrines of the Christian faith, permits laymen to belong to anti-Christian lodges, and supports the ecumenical movement.

Although he said he favored "a delay in declaring fellowship at this time," Dr. Preus urged each delegate to vote his "conscience" and then added:

"As your president, I will abide by the decision of the convention and will endeavor to procure consensus and fellowship with all Lutherans in America with all vigor and sincerity."

The two Lutheran bodies together represent about 60 per cent of Lutherans in America and each has about 200 congregations in Southern California.

The delegates were confronted in a public presentation by black members of the Synod. It was thought first that James Forman might present a "black manifesto," but he did not appear. Instead, 55 black clergy of the Synod and black lay leaders presented their wishes to the assembly.

WHEN THE presentation was completed many persons in the auditorium joined the group for a 15-minute interval in front of the convention hall for prayer, singing and sharing. Dr. Oliver R. Harms, presiding at the sessions, said:

"The convention was deeply moved by an experience in which black members of our fellowship appeared before the convention... We heard the demands, we understood the emergency, we appreciate the love and restraint with which they were presented. I herewith charge the respective boards, committees, and, commissions to assign priorities to these demands and to do everything in their power to see that the needs expressed are met, in consultation with the association of Black Lutheran clergymen."

IN OTHER actions, in a complete reversal of its prior stand on selective conscientious objection, the Synod gave its support to those who refuse to serve in the Armed Forces because of conscience in a specific war. It asked the government to give equal status to them under law as to opponents of all wars. The ALC voted down a similar proposal last year. The Lutheran Church in America has approved selective conscientious objection.

Membership in the Lutheran World Federation, under study for 17 years, was rejected again by an overwhelming majority despite recommendation of favorable action by the Commission on Theology and Church Relations. New president Dr. Preus said he favored postponement.

Cancellation of 'Ghost' Delights Star, Then...

By JERRY BUCK

NEW YORK (AP) — Hope Lange's reaction was not typical of actors and actresses who have had television series canceled. She says she was delighted. She and her husband, movie producer-director Alan Pakula, went off and celebrated after NBC axed "The Ghost and Mrs. Muir."

"I said, wonderful, I can join the human race again. I'll have time for gardening, swimming."

"I got so in the habit of not working," she said. "There are so many other things to do. When you're away it's like starting all over again."

"One reason I decided to do this show, besides liking the project, which was the real reason, was that many people were beginning to think I had retired," she said.

Miss Lange's elation over the cancellation was short-lived. "We were on a ship heading for the Caribbean when I heard ABC had picked us up. I went into a funk. But now I'm delighted."

Even so, she said she hopes the series doesn't last more than three or four years. Besides switching networks, the series is moving to a new time period. It will be seen at 7:30 p.m. Thursdays, matched against CBS' top-rated "Family Affair" and NBC's "Daniel Boone."

Miss Lange, whose performance in the series brought her an Emmy, said, "I like comedy. It's more difficult. I'd always been a dramatic actress and I liked the idea of trying it."

"This series," she confessed, "has been my summer stock. It has allowed me to explore a situation, to explore a character, sometimes making it, sometimes not." She laughed and added, "You also get paid better than summer stock."

Playing opposite a ghost presents a ticklish problem. "You've got to be careful with the ghost and myself," she said. "We can't develop the relationship because there's no-

HARBOR CHEVROLET

Not only are more and more people trying their hand at "do-it-yourself" projects, but a great number are turning their talents to oil painting and sculpture with remarkable results in many cases. One day a tiny elderly lady was watching intently as a sculptor was changing a block of granite into a beautifully formed elephant. Each time he hit the chisel a resounding rap with the mallet, the elephant took shape with more and more precise detail. Getting the curve of the trunk just right involved many highly skillful maneuvers with chisel and mallet.

Overcome with awe and admiration, the "lil-old-lady" finally blurted out, "Sir — just exactly how do you know what pieces of granite to chip away when you're doing this marvelous piece of work?" "Waal" — drawled the sculptor, (putting down the tools), you just place the chisel against any part of the granite that doesn't look like an elephant — then hit it with the mallet!!!

Folks, come in and see me and we'll chisel away anything that looks like profit!!! See MEder at HARBOR CHEVROLET, 3770 Cherry Ave., GA 6-3341.

Ex-Heroin Addicts Learn How to 'Link'

By BEN ZINSER, Medical-Science Editor

Harry W., a federal prisoner who has whipped his own heroin addiction problem, is about to have his status boosted at the Federal Correctional Institution on Terminal Island.

He's working hard to achieve a new place in the yard. It's taking him 14 hours a day for 16 weeks to achieve his new standing.

Excused from all other prison duties, Harry — that's not his real name — is studying to become a "linker." Specifically, he's getting a crash course in psychiatric therapeutic techniques.

Right now at the Terminal Island facility there are 14 linkers or linker-trainees — all former narcotics addicts and all members of the prison population.

Psychiatrist Louis M. Lesser, who directs the narcotics-addict rehabilitation unit at Terminal Island, said linkers have certain status among the 150 addicts in the prison.

Dr. Lesser, a U. S. Public Health Service officer, explains that a linker is a type of therapist who attempts to eliminate the gap between inmate and prison staff.

"A LINKER IS A PERSON WITH one foot in each world," explains Dr. Lesser. "He can smooth out problems in communication."

Dr. Lesser supervises an addict-rehabilitation program still less than a year old, currently striving to help 115 male and 20 female heroin addicts to cope with their problems.

Assisting him are a psychologist, three social workers and six correctional counselors. The latter are former prison guards.

And, of course, there's major assistance from the linkers.

The program is set up along the lines of what psychiatrists call the "therapeutic community." Addict inmates are housed in two dormitories, isolated from the "yard con."

Major tool of the program is group therapy. A conventional group session may consist of one professional worker, a correctional counselor, one linker and eight to 10 addict inmates.

Emphasis is placed on honesty in relationships, maturity, responsibility for one's behavior and consideration of others.

Treatment is aimed at two concepts:

- Constructive criticism in attempts to provide in-
- sights into the addict's self-defeating and antisocial behavior.

Creation of a sense of involvement, to provide an introduction into meaningful relationships.

Dr. Lesser says an addict is viewed as an emotional infant — "someone at an arrested state of development who like a child, wants what he wants when he wants it — who wants his pleasures fulfilled instantly with no consideration for others."

Also stressed is this concept of hierarchy because these "these people have to come to grips with problems of authority."

The inmates get personal experience in the handling of authority.

It works this way: All addicts entering the program are classified in Stage I and progress through Stages II and III as they demonstrate increasing responsibility and maturity. And the inmates themselves help to decide when one is ready to move up to another stage. Significance of all this is that upon reaching the final stage, No. IV, the inmate is eligible for parole.

So far, 11 addicts have been released.

The program features a special group session known as the primer group, tailored specifically for Mexican-Americans from the southwest United States.

DR. LESSER SAYS THESE PERSONS are exceedingly shy and "non-verbal." The thought is that they may develop more self-confidence if their sessions are limited to their own group. It seems to work. Some of the discussions are conducted in Spanish, Dr. Lesser explained.

Another approach is the "marathon" session each Saturday, generally lasting eight to 12 hours. Once, in an experiment, a "marathon" session was permitted to run two and one-half days.

Rationale for the lengthy meetings is that "defenses melt away as time goes by," Dr. Lesser says. "Discussions get more frank and honest. Participants get to the nitty-gritty. Unremitting confrontation hour after hour serves to break down addicts' resistances and foster the therapeutic end."

Recently added to the program was the use of videotape equipment to photograph therapeutic sessions. Playback sessions help to give the addicts additional insights.

Dr. Lesser says the rehabilitation program has been under way too short a time to make any evaluation. As of now, however, the doctor is enthusiastic and encouraged.

Parking Fee Hike Urged at Terrace

By DON BRACKENBURY
Staff Writer

Parking fees at Pacific Terrace Center should be raised and the beach parking lot immediately east of Linden Avenue should be made a pay lot, City Auditor Murray T. Courson said Friday.

The profit and loss situation at the center "discloses the necessity of generating additional revenues," Courson said in his annual audit.

Figures for fiscal 1967-68 show total revenue for the auditorium, arena and Veterans Memorial Stadium were up nearly $75,000 over the prior year.

Auditorium revenue actually fell $14,750, or 11.6 per cent, but the other two facilities showed increased business.

The arena was up $58,814, or 19.3 per cent, while the stadium showed an increase in revenue of $29,945, or 42 per cent.

Total revenues in fiscal 1967-68 were $363,895 for the arena, $111,765 for the auditorium, and $101,116 for the stadium, the audit revealed.

Courson pointed out the present event parking fee of 50 cents at Pacific Terrace Center was established in 1961, and the city lots offer "more desirable event parking at a rate equal to or substantially less than" nearby private lots.

The auditor's office commended management of the city's Pacific Terrace and stadium department for their "concern and diligence" relative to parking revenues.

Courson noted the beach parking lot east of Linden Avenue does not charge any fee, and said this has "an adverse effect" on Pacific Terrace parking revenues because patrons park there instead of on the center's lots.

Establishment of a fee on the beach lot, the audit said, would be "an appropriate and necessary step."

SHIPWRECKED JOEY TALKS Old Skiff on Beach

By DICK EMERY
Staff Writer

Where Figueroa Street dead-ends against "B" Street on the Wilmington waterfront, the dead-end is livened up a lot by light-hearted activities at Shipwrecked Joey's.

It's a handy place for the truckers and seafarers, who jam the little cafe and the big bar — then at night the place has dancing, and tourists peek into see what's going on.

"SHIPWRECKED JOEY'S," the sign reads.

But only Friday, with characteristic simplicity and directness, Joey himself admitted the whole shipwreck idea is a fraud.

"I have a very bad hangover this morning," Joey said, sipping coffee. "Today I favor clean living as the only way to go. It is a good day to straighten up this shipwreck story."

"The way it got started, a couple of friends from a Seattle tugboat outfit dropped in one night. They asked about the wrecked skiff out front.

"You see, this place has always fallen

'Sky Knight' Pact Up for Renewal

From Our L.A. Bureau.

A three-year contract renewal between six Long Beach area cities and the Sheriff's Department for continuation of Sky Knight helicopter patrol is slated for consideration Tuesday by the Board of Supervisors.

Sky Knight, the nation's pioneer helicopter police patrol service, patrols Lakewood, Artesia, Bellflower, Cerritos, Hawaiian Gardens, Paramount and section of unincorporated county territory in the area.

Lakewood owns the three patrol 'copters and contracts with the county for deputies to man the craft as pilots and observers.

The other five cities help defray the cost of operating and maintaining the helicopters.

Sky Knight's county contract expired July 1, but the airborne patrol has been operating on a week-to-week basis pending action by the supervisors.

A REQUEST to place the measure on the Tuesday agenda came from the Lakewood City Council.

Lindon S. Hollinger, chief administrative officer, has recommended approval and the supervisors are expected to vote in favor of renewal.

Sky Knight began patrolling area skies June 6, 1966, as part of an experiment funded largely by the federal government. It proved successful and has been expanded in scope.

Last year the successful aerial patrol was credited with reducing the area's crime rate eight per cent despite a rising national crime rate.

Although the experimental program ended, the program was continued, with the six cities sharing costs on a pro rata basis, Hollinger said.

Lakewood's new contract request calls for deputies to man the helicopters two shifts a day, seven days a week, with the costs borne entirely by the six cities.

SINCE Sky Knight was born, Sheriff's Department has increased helicopter patrol services in other areas.

In addition, Long Beach uses patrol helicopters, as do Los Angeles and other area cities.

False MD Suit Hits Clinic

One of the 103 patients treated by a 33-year-old impostor who posed as a heart specialist at the Fullerton Internal Medical Clinic filed a $200,000 damage claim Friday.

Jess Allen sued the clinic and its owners and managers, charging they should have known Robert Ervin Brown was masquerading as heart specialist Dr. Glenn J. Foster.

Brown was convicted on two felony counts and 11 misdemeanor charges of practicing medicine without a license May 17 in Santa Ana Superior Court.

HE WAS SENT to prison June 5.

Four of Brown's 103 patients died, but authorities did not seek murder complaints against the suspect.

Deputy Dist. Atty. James Enright said the state would have to prove Brown's intent to kill or harm the patients to support a murder indictment. That, he said, would be difficult, if not impossible.

The real Dr. Glenn Foster is on the faculty at the University of Alabama medical school, where Brown had unofficially studied medical journals and talked with doctors outside the classroom.

The real Dr. Foster was the key witness against Brown in the grand jury hearings.

Brown worked at the clinic from Jan. 13 to Feb. 21, when a nurse became suspicious of his actions.

'Innocent' Pleaded to Cow Theft

Dero B. Forslund, 52, of Princeton, Ore., charged with grand theft and conspiracy, was ordered to trial Oct. 13.

The same date has already been fixed as the hearing date for John S. Saver, 50, of 776 Havana Ave., Long Beach; Joseph B. Witzerman, 48, of 2031 Daladier St., San Pedro, and William S. Elcheberger, 44, of 12100 Montecito Road, Los Alamitos.

Aug. 13 Set for Boundary Hearings

The Los Angeles County Local Agency Formation Commission will hold hearings Aug. 13 on a move by Long Beach to annex a county "island" and on three proposed boundary adjustments between Bellflower and Downey.

The 10-acre "island" at Paramount Boulevard and 63rd Street contains three dwellings occupied by 11 residents.

The area is surrounded by the city of Long Beach.

The boundary adjustments are being requested on center lines of three streets that divide Bellflower and Downey.

They are Foster Road, Gardendale Street and Lakewood Boulevard.

The panel also claimed the ranch was in debt and that Sarver and Witzerman, who had a public relations and advertising business in Long Beach, continued to sell contracts in defiance of a "cease and desist" order by the California Securities Commission issued Feb. 16, 1966.

Family Next Door Will Buy Surplus Flood Control Land

From Our L.A. Bureau

Stanley and Elinor Macknick, who own property next door, will buy a 3,000-square-foot lot acquired by the county for work in Coyote Creek.

County flood control officials said the land, just east of the channel, and south of 226th St., turned out to be surplus.

The Macknicks are considered the only potential buyers. They live at 3485 Halbritte Ave.

Clinic Sees First Day's Medical Care

But the nonprofit clinic, at 2060 Atlantic Ave., still needs medical volunteers and donations for medical supplies, according to administrator Ron Lofstrom.

On Friday, more than 40 patients received free medical aid or counseling in the second such facility to be licensed in the county.

"People were treated or counseled for cases ranging from cuts and bruises to birth control within hours after we got the license," Lofstrom said.

He explained that before the clinic was licensed it could offer only counseling and had been referring about 90 patients per week to other community agencies.

"But we still need doctors," he said. "The first night the scheduled doctor didn't show up, but somehow four others found out about the clinic and came."

That will be more the exception than the rule, Lofstrom feels, and more doctors are seriously needed.

"We're about the poorest free clinic in the world," he said.

"The Open Door Clinic in Alhambra has more than $26,000, including several thousand dollars allocated to them by the city council."

Right now at the Terminal Island facility there are 14 linkers or linker-trainees — all former narcotics addicts and all members of the prison population.

Psychiatrist Louis M. Lesser, who directs the narcotics-addict rehabilitation unit at Terminal Island, said linkers have certain status among the 150 addicts in the prison.

Dr. Lesser, a U. S. Public Health Service officer, explains that a linker is a type of therapist who attempts to eliminate the gulf between inmate and prison staff.

"A LINKER IS A PERSON WITH one foot in each

world," explains Dr. Lesser. "He can smooth out problems in communication."

Dr. Lesser supervises an addict-rehabilitation program still less than a year old, currently striving to help 115 male and 20 female heroin addicts to cope with their problems.

Assisting him are a psychologist, three social workers and six correctional counselors. The latter are former prison guards.

And, of course, there's major assistance from the linkers.

The program is set up along the lines of what psychiatrists call the "therapeutic community." Addict inmates are housed in two dormitories, isolated from the "yard con."

Major tool of the program is group therapy. A conventional group session may consist of one professional worker, a correctional counselor, one linker and eight to 10 addict inmates.

Emphasis is placed on honesty in relationships, maturity, responsibility for one's behavior and consideration of others.

Treatment is aimed at two concepts:

— Constructive criticism in attempts to provide insights into the addict's self-defeating and antisocial behavior.

Creation of a sense of involvement, to provide an introduction into meaningful relationships.

Dr. Lesser says an addict is viewed as an emotional infant — "someone at an arrested state of development who like a child, wants what he wants when he wants it — who wants his pleasures fulfilled instantly with no consideration for others."

Also stressed is this concept of hierarchy because these "these people have to come to grips with problems of authority."

The inmates get personal experience in the handling of authority.

It works this way: All addicts entering the program are classified in Stage I and progress through Stages II and III as they demonstrate increasing responsibility and maturity. And the inmates themselves help to decide when one is ready to move up to another stage. Significance of all this is that upon reaching the final stage, No. IV, the inmate is eligible for parole.

So far, 11 addicts have been released.

The program features a special group session known as the primer group, tailored specifically for Mexican-Americans from the southwest United States.

DR. LESSER SAYS THESE PERSONS are exceedingly shy and "non-verbal." The thought is that they may develop more self-confidence if their sessions are limited to their own group. It seems to work. Some of the discussions are conducted in Spanish, Dr. Lesser explained.

Another approach is the "marathon" session each Saturday, generally lasting eight to 12 hours. Once, in an experiment, a "marathon" session was permitted to run two and one-half days.

Rationale for the lengthy meetings is that "defenses melt away as time goes by," Dr. Lesser says. "Discussions get more frank and honest. Participants get to the nitty-gritty. Unremitting confrontation hour after hour serves to break down addicts' resistances and foster the therapeutic end."

Recently added to the program was the use of videotape equipment to photograph therapeutic sessions. Playback sessions help to give the addicts additional insights.

Dr. Lesser says the rehabilitation program has been under way too short a time to make any evaluation. As of now, however, the doctor is enthusiastic and encouraged.

Parking Fee Hike Urged at Terrace

By DON BRACKENBURY
Staff Writer

Parking fees at Pacific Terrace Center should be raised and the beach parking lot immediately east of Linden Avenue should be made a pay lot, City Auditor Murray T. Courson said Friday.

The profit and loss situation at the center "discloses the necessity of generating additional revenues," Courson said in his annual audit.

Figures for fiscal 1967-68 show total revenue for the auditorium, arena and Veterans Memorial Stadium were up nearly $75,000 over the prior year.

Auditorium revenue actually fell $14,750, or 11.6 per cent, but the other two facilities showed increased business.

The arena was up $58,814, or 19.3 per cent, while the stadium showed an increase in revenue of $29,945, or 42 per cent.

Total revenues in fiscal 1967-68 were $363,895 for the arena, $111,765 for the auditorium, and $101,116 for the stadium, the audit revealed.

Courson pointed out the present event parking fee of 50 cents at Pacific Terrace Center was established in 1961, and the city lots offer "more desirable event parking at a rate equal to or substantially less than" nearby private lots.

The auditor's office commended management of the city's Pacific Terrace and stadium department for their "concern and diligence" relative to parking revenues.

Courson noted the beach parking lot east of Linden Avenue does not charge any fee, and said this has "an adverse effect" on Pacific Terrace parking revenues because patrons park there instead of on the center's lots.

Establishment of a fee on the beach lot, the audit said, would be "an appropriate and necessary step."

'Innocent' Pleaded to Cow Theft

The last of four men accused of bilking Southland investors in an Oregon cattle-breeding scheme pleaded innocent Friday in Santa Ana Superior Court.

Dero B. Forslund, 52, of Princeton, Ore., charged with grand theft and conspiracy, was ordered to trial Oct. 13.

The same date has already been fixed as the hearing date for John S. Saver, 50, of 776 Havana Ave., Long Beach; Joseph B. Witzerman, 48, of 2031 Daladier St., San Pedro, and William S. Eichelberger, 44, of 12100 Montecito Road, Los Alamitos.

ALL FOUR WERE indicted on the same charges Feb. 14 by the Orange County Grand Jury.

The jury claimed investors would pay $600 to send a pregnant cow to a ranch outside Crane, Ore., where it would give birth and was supposed to produce a "herd" of 10 breeding animals in six years.

But after four years there were few animals on the ranch and they didn't multiply as promised, the Grand Jury charged.

The panel also claimed the ranch was in debt and that Saver and Witzerman, who had a public relations and advertising business in Long Beach, continued to sell contracts in defiance of a "cease and desist" order by the California Securities Commission issued Feb. 16, 1966.

Aug. 13 Set for Boundary Hearings

The Los Angeles County Local Agency Formation Commission will hold hearings Aug. 13 on a move by Long Beach to annex a county "island" and on three proposed boundary adjustments between Bellflower and Downey.

The 10-acre "island" at Paramount Boulevard and 63rd Street contains three dwellings occupied by 11 residents.

The area is surrounded by the city of Long Beach.

The boundary adjustments are being requested on center lines of three streets that divide Bellflower and Downey.

Motel Burglarized

Household items valued at $447 were stolen from the Royal Lancer Motel, 129 Magnolia Ave., by burglars who forced open a front door to gain entry, Long Beach police reported Friday.

Family Next Door Will Buy Surplus Flood Control Land

From Our L.A. Bureau Stanley and Elinor Macknick, who own property next door, will buy a 3,000-square-foot lot acquired by the county for work in Coyote Creek.

SHIPWRECKED JOEY TALKS

Old Skiff on Beach

By DICK EMERY
Staff Writer

Where Figueroa Street dead-ends against "B" Street on the Wilmington waterfront, the dead-end is livened up a lot by light-hearted activities at Shipwrecked Joey's.

It's a handy place for the truckers and seafarers, who jam the little cafe and the big bar — then at night the place has dancing, and tourists peek into see what's going on.

Out front, a wrecked 20-foot skiff points dusty ribs at the sky. On a wall of the cafe building, a hand-lettered sign clears up any doubt on what might be the name of this place:

"SHIPWRECKED JOEY'S," the sign reads.

But only Friday, with characteristic simplicity and directness, Joey himself admitted the whole shipwreck idea is a fraud.

"I have a very bad hangover this morning," Joey said, sipping coffee. "Today I favor clean living as the only way to go. It is a good day to straighten up this shipwreck story."

"The way it got started, a couple of friends from a Seattle tugboat outfit dropped in one night. They asked about the wrecked skiff out front."

"You see, this place has always fallen heir to souvenirs from all over the world — hula skirts, stuffed swordfish, harpoons, life preservers, uranium ore, tiger teeth — decorations which give this place some real class.

"What the seamen don't bring, the truckers do."

"Then a guy gave me the wrecked boat for out front."

"It's an old abalone boat, 50 years old. Two men were using it at San Clemente Island. One man was diving, the other running the air pump."

"They got to drinking wine. The air-pump man went to sleep. That took care of the diver. No air. He died. It was a jinx boat after that. Nobody wanted it. I put it out front to attract business."

"MY TUGBOAT FRIENDS painted that sign at 3 o'clock one morning and nailed it on the building. They thought it was a big joke on me. The place here has been called Shipwrecked Joey's ever since."

"Shipwrecked? Me?" Joey Jacobs, 54, co-owner and tender of the bar at Shipwrecked Joey's, shook his head cautiously.

"Oh, I've done a bit of diving, and fishing, and flying, years back, but I'm a nightclub man for 25 years here, and Long Beach, and South Gate and around."

"Shipwrecked? No, not ever. Not me!"

Clinic Sees First Day's Medical Care

The infant Long Beach Free Clinic opened its doors to give medical treatment Friday after receiving its first state license.

But the nonprofit clinic, at 2060 Atlantic Ave., still needs medical volunteers and donations for medical supplies, according to administrator Ron Lofstrom.

On Friday, more than 40 patients received free medical aid or counseling in the second such facility to be licensed in the county.

"People were treated or counseled for cases ranging from cuts and bruises to birth control within hours after we got the license," Lofstrom said.

He explained that before the clinic was licensed it could offer only counseling and had been referring about 90 patients per week to other community agencies.

"But we still need doctors," he said. "The first night the scheduled doctor didn't show up, but somehow four others found out about the clinic and came."

That will be more the exception than the rule, Lofstrom feels, and more doctors are seriously needed.

"We're about the poorest free clinic in the world," he said.

"The Open Door Clinic in Alhambra has more than $26,000, including several thousand dollars allocated to them by the city council."

'Sky Knight' Pact Up for Renewal

From Our L.A. Bureau

A three-year contract renewal between six Long Beach area cities and the Sheriff's Department for continuation of Sky Knight helicopter patrol is slated for consideration Tuesday by the Board of Supervisors.

Sky Knight, the nation's pioneer helicopter police patrol service, patrols Lakewood, Artesia, Bellflower, Cerritos, Hawaiian Gardens, Paramount and section of unincorporated county territory in the area.

False MD Suit Hits Clinic

One of the 103 patients treated by a 33-year-old imposter who posed as a heart specialist at the Fullerton Internal Medical Clinic filed a $200,000 damage claim Friday.

Jess Allen sued the clinic and its owners and managers, charging they should have known Robert Ervin Brown was masquerading as heart specialist Dr. Glenn L. Foster.

Brown was convicted on two felony counts and 11 misdemeanor charges of practicing medicine without a license May 17 in Santa Ana Superior Court.

HE WAS SENT to prison June 5.

Four of Brown's 103 patients died, but authorities did not seek murder complaints against the suspect.

Deputy Dist. Atty. James Enright said the state would have to prove Brown's intent to kill or harm the patients to support a murder indictment. That, he said, would be difficult, if not impossible.

The real Dr. Glenn Foster is on the faculty at the University of Alabama medical school, where Brown had unofficially studied medical journals and talked with doctors outside the classroom.

The real Dr. Foster was the key witness against Brown in the grand jury hearings.

Brown worked at the clinic from Jan. 13 to Feb. 21, when a nurse became suspicious of his actions.

Lakewood owns the three patrol 'copters and contracts with the county for deputies to man the craft as pilots and observers.

The other five cities help defray the cost of operating and maintaining the helicopters.

Sky Knight's county contract expired July 1, but the airborne patrol has been operating on a week-to-week basis pending action by the supervisors.

A REQUEST to place the measure on the Tuesday agenda came from the Lakewood City Council.

Lindon S. Hollinger, chief administrative officer, has recommended approval and the supervisors are expected to vote in favor of renewal.

Sky Knight began patrolling area skies June 6, 1966, as part of an experiment funded largely by the federal government. It proved successful and has been expanded in scope.

Last year the successful aerial patrol was credited with reducing the area's crime rate eight per cent despite a rising national crime rate.

Although the experimental program ended, the program was continued, with the six cities sharing costs on a pro rated basis, Hollinger said.

Lakewood's new contract request calls for deputies to man the helicopters two shifts a day, seven days a week, with the costs borne entirely by the six cities.

SINCE Sky Knight was born, Sheriff's Department has increased helicopter patrol services in other areas.

$150 Cash Stolen

Hazel Thompson, of 32 Fifth Place, told Long Beach police Friday burglars forced open a bedroom window in her home and stole $150 in cash.

Ask Bids to Raze Houses for Park

Councilmen will be asked Tuesday to authorize bids advertising for demolition of buildings on 26 parcels of land being acquired for expansion of Drake Park.

Assistant City Manager Robert C. Creighton emphasized, however, the action in no way indicates any final decision has been made on the future of the Bembridge house at 953 Park Circle.

The old Victorian-style home, built in 1904, sits on property included as part of the park expansion program. Some residents of the city have appealed to the city to preserve the house as an example of Victorian architecture.

THE RECREATION COMMISSION has opposed retention of the Bembridge house at its present site, but has suggested it might be moved, possibly to El Dorado Park.

The City Council has asked the city manager's office to investigate and report on the feasibility of maintaining the house for historical purposes.

Creighton said the city has now signed purchase agreements for 20 of the 26 parcels.

Bids for the demolition contract would be submitted on an individual parcel basis, Creighton explained, and the city retains the right to withdraw any parcel from demolition.

Estimated cost of the demolition is $35,500.

Provision will be made in the demolition contract for the fire department to use certain of the buildings for training personnel in fire-fighting techniques prior to demolition.

ANSWER TO ACTION-LINE

A customer signed a purchase agreement and took delivery with only a deposit on car. The car was left abandoned 70 miles north of Santa Barbara. We incurred a $90 towing charge plus cost of repairs to the car, for a total of several hundred dollars. The customer was back in 1 or 2 days later demanding deposit back. No problem, deposit was returned approximately 2 weeks prior to the article in Action-Line on July 17th. Our policy has been and will continue to be fair and honest merchandising to the public.
